

LABORS' REALM

Among other delegates seated in the Central Labor Union last night were delegates from the Woman's Label league. At a previous meeting of the central body the label league was granted seats without having to pay a per capita tax. The league is represented in the Central Labor Union by three delegates.

An attempt was made last night to reconsider the placing of the Washington Water Power company on the unfair list. The object of the motion was to amend the previous motion so that the line to Minnehaha Park would not be included. It was pointed out that all the help employed at the park is union throughout and a plea was made to avoid anything that would hurt friends of the unions. However, the motion to reconsider was lost by an almost unanimous vote.

Some time ago it was stated that the Olympia Brewing company was sending out beer that did not have the union label. This was the report received by the Central Labor Union and the secretary was instructed to write to the company and find out if this was really the case.

The brewing company's reply was received last night, and stated in positive terms that every consignment of beer shipped by the company carried the union label. The company also asked the Central body to correspond with them at any time rumors of this nature were circulated as it gave them the privilege of explaining matters and making the position of the company clear.

The committee appointed to investigate the reason the grocers were holding their picnic at a point reached by the cars of the Washington Water Power company, reported that the arrangements had been made and the contracts signed with the local monopoly prior to the linemen's strike. As nothing could be done in the matter the union men and their families were instructed to keep away from the picnic or take the Northern Pacific trains.

The long drawn out fight between the local unions and the Tefft & Schaffner company has been settled and that firm again placed on the fair list by the Central Labor Union. The unions remitted the fines that had been placed against the company and the firm agrees to employ only union help in the future.

GILL AND PRATT IN RED HOT SPAT

OLD FIGHT ON METHOD OF DOING CITY WORK HAS BEEN CARRIED TO LABOR UNIONS AND GENERAL UPHEAVAL IS ABOUT DUE.

According to Consulting Engineer Gill, the action of the city council in saddling upon the construction department $9000 of engineering costs and $9000 of increased wages has rendered it impossible for the improvements of the water system to be constructed within the $400,000 appropriated for that purpose.

Consulting Engineer Gill, accompanied by Engineer McIntyre, appeared before the Central Labor Union last night and explained to the delegates present the light in which he sees the amendment put through the city council by Councilman Pratt of the ordinance appropriating funds for the maintenance of the engineer's office. In an interview today Mr. GILL said:

Says It's Pratt Scheme.

"It is all a deep scheme on the part of Councilman Pratt. The charter reads that the maintenance of city offices shall be paid out of a general fund and the head of each office is obliged to file with the comptroller a report of the amount of money necessary to run his department, when a tax levy is made accordingly.

"Instead of paying the deficit in our department out of this general fund, the Pratt amendment saddles it onto the construction fund, having in view a carrying out of his statements made publicly and in the city council that the water-works system will not be constructed by day labor without going beyond the appropriation. The fact is, Pratt wants the work done by contract, as he is in the lumber business and sells lumber to city contractors, while the engineer's office in overseeing the construction by day labor, cannot buy its lumber from him for the reason that he is a city official."

In an address to the laboring men last night Mr. Gill said that union labor was on trial in this city work. Unions Worked Overtime.

The unions have worked Sundays and overtime for the same wages on this new work in an effort to show that it can be done by day labor and to keep the amount within the $400,000 appropriation.

Mr. Gill stated further: "The engineering costs of the reservoir, pipe line and pumping station have amounted to $7000. They will cost $2000 more before the work is completed. It was never intended that this should be charged against the $400,000 appropriation.

When we were about half through the work the city council raised the wages of laborers from $2.25 to $2.50 a day, and of teamsters from $4.50 to $5 a day. Now, when we made the estimate of the cost of the work we figured on the old wages. The raise in wages will amount to $9000.

"There has been $18,000 added to the cost of construction of the works. While we could have finished up the work within the appropriation we cannot do so with this additional $18,000 added to the cost of it."

Councilman Pratt, who has been responsible for much of the flurry over the deficit in the engineer's office, has been opposed to the city making the improvements to the water system by day labor. He strenuously fought for the letting of contracts on the work.

Appeal to Working Men.

Engineers Gill and McIntyre will visit every union in the city and will explain their position to the working men of the community with the result that the Democratic party will be torn wide open unless some compromise is agreed upon at an early date. Local Democrats are disturbed on account of the open rupture, coming as it does on the eve of the state and county election and especially so as both Gill and Pratt are able and aggressive fighters.

Finally on a point of order that the indorsement of any candidate for office by the Central Labor Union was unconstitutional. The board of business agents will, it is reported, ask the individual unions to indorse Mr. Miller's candidacy.

PRESBYTERIAN BROTHERHOOD

(Scripps News Association.)

DETROIT, Mich., June 19.—The committee of 10, recently appointed at the Presbyterian conference in Des Moines, Ia., to formulate plans for the establishment of a "Presbyterian Brotherhood," met here today for the purpose of considering the plan and discuss suggestions which might be submitted to facilitate the carrying out of the project.

OFFICERS MAY NAME POSTS

(Scripps News Association.)

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Artillery officers who want special duty may be able to get it hereafter by virtue of a system which the acting chief of the corps, Col. G. F. E. Harrison, has recommended. He believes that it would be advantageous to allow artillery officers to express their preference for detached duty or for stations. These expressions are to be kept on file in the office of the chief of artillery and are to be consulted whenever it is necessary to transfer an officer. It is expected that this plan will be adopted and, perhaps, extended to other branches of the army service.

GREAT AMERICAN SHOOT HANDICAP

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 19.—The Grand American Shooting Handicap, which opened today on the range of the Indianapolis Gun club will this year divide interest with two other championship contests. One will be for amateurs exclusively, the other for professionals. The conditions call for 150 targets each, 18 yards rise, $5 entrance fee, open to the world. The winners of these two events should be hailed as champions in their respective classes, as every amateur and professional of any account in the United States will take part in the tournament.

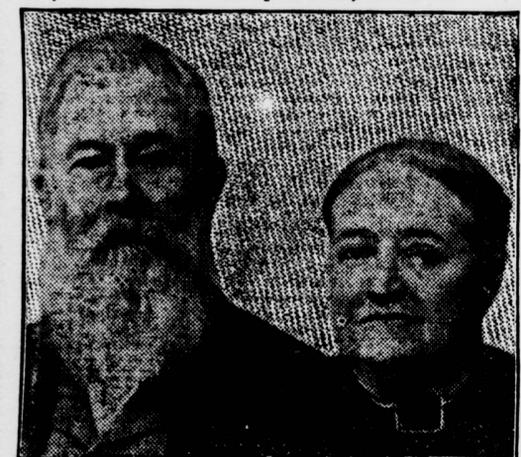

CENTRAL UNION WILL NOT ENDORSE MILLER

The action of the board of business agents in indorsing George W. Miller for the position of a member of the board of public works has created quite a stir among local union men. All agree as to the capabilities of Mr. Miller to fill the position with credit, but there are, it appears, a large number of union men who object to the business agents mixing in politics.

These claim that a business agent is the servant of the union who employs him and that it is their duty to look after the business of the unions. This at least is the attitude some of the delegates to the central Labor Union took last night when the request of the business agents for indorsement came up for consideration. The matter was disposed of

LITTLE BOY AND GIRL TOILERS GROW PALLID AT WORK BENCHES

A FURTHER STORY OF THE SERVITUDE OF THE CHILDREN IN THE FACTORIES, SWEATSHOPS AND STREETS OF NEW YORK—THE CANDY FACTORY "MARCHIONESS" AND THE CIGARET ROLLING "OLIVER TWIST."

NEW YORK, June 19.—When your children are swinging in the hammock, playing in the park, or hunting eggs down by grandpa's barn, stop and give a thought to the pale-faced factory boys and girls of the metropolis.

From Harlem tenement shops to the sweatshops of the lower East-side, the hot canning factories of the West-side, the box and jute factories of Brooklyn, the foundries of nearby Jersey cities, you will find them by the hundreds of thousands toiling on for their pittance.

Summer vacations they dare not dream of. Sunday to them is a day for sleep after the long, hard week. In the candy factories of New York work begins at 7:30 a. m. and ends at 7 p. m. The wage for six days is $2.50. A glance at one little girl will picture many.

She is a short child for the 14 years which she vehemently protests she is. She has weak, red eyes, which give an added pallor to her unhealthy skin. Her hands are thin and bony, with here and there a big, ugly water blister where the hot chocolate has splattered. She stands all day before a long wooden table dipping creams into hot chocolate coating. Long ago her stomach revolted at the constant sweet smell. Candy to her is just bitter, miserable toil.

CHILD CIGARET MAKERS.

With his twitching, nervous hands rolling cigarettes all day long one Russian Jewish boy is typical of hundreds. He declared that he was of the legal working age. So did his mother, who works in the same factory. As she is a widow with five younger children, it is scarcely to be wondered why she swore falsely.

The boy sits at his bench 10 hours. But sitting does not mean that he is comfortable. His thin, emaciated legs do not touch the floor by five inches.

The bench on which he rolls his endless pile of cigarettes is as much too high for his body. He is pale, stoop-shouldered, and even his hair emits the cigarette odor. It is two years since he began to work, and he makes something like $3 each week.

GIRL LIFTS TONS.

It is not easy to conceive of a 15-year-old girl lifting and packing more than 129 tons of material every six days, month in and month out. The place is a huge Brooklyn coffee factory. Nine weary hours every day of the six the girl stands in front of a machine. She is a stunted creature, with long arms. If they missed in their duty it would throw a dozen or more people behind in their work, so the girl is alert every minute to catch the 80 packages that her machine spits forth. Just try grabbing at the empty air 80 times in 60 brief seconds. But she does more than clutch the empty air. With each motion she lifts a pound weight.

As this girl stands there, does she try to estimate the work she does? Does she know at Saturday night, when she receives her $5.50, she has lifted from that machine and quickly stowed away 259,200 pounds? She perhaps would not dare to count! If she did she would stop her work forever and starve to death.

The children of the street (street children) who peddle various articles from house to house, or beseech the passerby to purchase, do not come under the 14-year-limit. These may go out and vend their wares at the age of 10. A great host do. The newsboys come under this class and there are over 5000 of them in New York city alone.

FACTS

The Anheuser-Busch Budweiser cost more money at the brewery than any other bottled beer brewed in America. It's world renowned for quality. Never bottled under six months old. There is less profit to the dealer when he sells it; but he sells more of it. It's the beer that gets the reorders and that's what builds up a business.
