WORST IS OVER SAYS JOHN D.

Money King Has No Fault to Find With Roosevelt.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Today John D. Rockefeller said: "The worst is over. There is really no need of the word 'worst,' but we will feel the effects of this money scare for some time."

"The panic was the result of many causes, which combined into a head at one time. I have no criticism to make of Pres. Roosevelt. He was actuated by the best of motives."

TO PROVE WOMAN INSANE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The battle of the experts is on in the Bradley case. The defense fired its ponderous hypothetical question of 15,000 words at the first witness, Dr. W. H. Barton, this morning at 9 o'clock. It will take over two hours to read the question which covers the entire life of Mrs. Bradley. Great stress was put upon the septic poisoning that Mrs. Bradley had suffered as it particularly affects the mental condition of the victim. Attorneys for the state fought introduction of Dr. Barton's statements, but were overruled. Dr. Barton stated that the operation in question frequently caused insanity. "We will assume the case of a woman, now 35 years old," read Judge Powers, "who at the age of 5 years was struck a severe blow on the head, confining her to bed for three weeks, and who suffered from severe headaches until 17 years of age. Her grandfather on the maternal side was insane and two on the maternal side were insane." Then followed the question concerning defendant's coming under influence of her victim, their relations and Brown performing a criminal operation upon the defendant. Prior to reading the questions, scraps of letters written by Mrs. Bradley at her hotel were read to the jury. The defendant hung her head and turned scarlet when parts of the hypothetical question revealed the sordid details of her life. Experts Evans and Hill took notes on the question for the state while it was being read. The question was only two thirds finished when court adjourned at 12:30 p. m.

DRANK DRUGGED WATER

BUTTE MAN SINKS TO FLOOR
AFTER PAVING THE WAY FOR GLASS OF SPOKANE WHISKY.

What is believed to have been a case of doping a man in a saloon was brought to the notice of the police today by Dr. B. H. Mark, who was called to attend William Murphy, a recent arrival from Butte.

Murphy, according to Tony Caputo, proprietor of the Novarac saloon, 213 Stevens st., had called for a drink and sipped the water "chaser" first. Before he drank the whisky he sank to the floor. Dr. Mark administered restoratives and caused vomiting. There was no evidence of any intoxicant having been drunk but there was indication that the man had been drugged. He will live but will be weak for some time. Every care possible is being given him at the police station.

Chief Rice is investigating the alleged drugging.

GRAY AGAINST N. P. SCHEME

Councilman Gray this morning stated that he will never consent to the Northern Pacific grade separation plan if Browne st. is to be closed. He said that the city had fought two years to open the street and since then expensive business buildings have been erected south of the tracks because there was an outlet by Browne st. to the north.

Regarding the proposition that the railroad company could buy up that property Mr. Gray stated that he did not believe the company could do so, for the reason that it would too expensive an undertaking. The grade separation plans will be submitted to the body of councilmen Tuesday night, at which time it is said N. P. counsel, Edward J. Cannon, will offer what compromise, if any, the railroad company is willing to make.

WIFE DEMANDS OVER $22,000

Forty-five thousand dollars worth of property is involved in a suit for divorce filed this morning by Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll. Her husband is an illiterate rancher of Creston. The complaint alleges that last July, after the birth of their second child, she came to Spokane and was operated on at the Deaconess hospital. A second and third operation was necessary before she was well enough to return to the ranch.

Last September she went back and when she met her husband she threw her arms around his neck. Instead of welcoming her with kind words he cursed her and said he would throw her outdoors and trample upon her neck. The pair were married Jan. 13, 1904. She asks that in lieu of a division of the property she be paid $22,000. In his reply to the suit Carroll, who signed an affidavit with "his mark," said that owing to the doctor bills run by his wife and the expenses of harvest he cannot pay any temporary alimony or attorney fees. He denies all of his wife's charges.

ALAMOSA, Col., Nov. 25.—The running amuck of a madman this morning resulted in the death of two men and wounding of three others. Without apparent cause R. Rodriguez, a forest reserve inspector, entered the room of C. B. Anderson at the Palmer hotel and stabbed him to death while he slept. Rodriguez then stabbed three other guests of the hotel in the same room. The wounded are not expected to recover. One of them crawled to the office and gave the alarm. # HOW TO INVEST IN TREASURY NOTES

NEW YORK RELEASING CASH LOANS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—Have you any hoarded money? And do you want to empty the old stocking and buy some of those $50,000,000 of Panama bonds and $100,000,000 of treasury notes that Uncle Sam is going to issue soon especially for popular subscription? You know the idea is to exchange these notes, bearing 3 per cent interest, for the good old "long green" which has been mysteriously missing for several weeks. If you, Mr. Reader, want to invest in some of these new "certificates of indebtedness," as they are called, this is what you must do:

1. Write an ordinary letter, addressed to the assistant United States treasurer at the nearest of the following points: San Francisco, New Orleans, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia or New York. These are cities where the government has branch treasuries.
2. State in that letter the amount for which you wish to subscribe. The certificates of indebtedness are in denominations of $50. Tell how many of these $50 interest-bearing certificates you want, and are prepared to pay for.
3. Do not send money nor anything else in the letter. Just send the letter and then wait. It is the government's next move. You may not get any of the certificates, even after you have offered to buy some. The government reserves the right to allot them to whatever purchasers the secretary of the treasury may choose. The idea of Sec. Cortelyou is to get the new certificates widely circulated. The issue will be allotted to widely-separated parts of the country, so that it will do the most good.
4. After you have received notice from the assistant treasurer to whom you wrote, telling how much has been allotted you, then dig up your money. It must be all money. Nothing else will do. Checks will not be received. Neither will post office orders, drafts, postage stamps, express orders, stock securities, clearing house certificates, mining stock, fish hooks or anything else but real money.
5. The subscriber or would-be purchaser must then choose his own method of getting his real money to the subtreasurer. It may be any legal tender money—gold, silver, bank notes, gold certificates, silver certificates—anything a strange grocery man would take for lemons. The subscriber may send the money by express, registered mail, by a friend who happens to be going, or by some agent in the city where the treasury is located. It is up to the subscriber. The owner of the money living in a small town, away from the subtreasurer cities, must solve this difficulty for himself. Choose some safe way and get the real cash to the subtreasurer.
6. The new certificates of indebtedness will be payable to bearer, and therefore ought to pass very much like other paper money from hand to hand. But they will have a value greater than their face value, because they will be bearing interest at the rate of 3 per cent a year from Nov. 20, 1907.
7. When the subscriber pays for his certificates he will be called on to pay the face value of the amount of his subscription, plus the interest, calculated from Nov. 20 to the date when the treasury department makes the allotment. This latter amount, of course, comes back to him when the interest on his bonds is paid, as it is figured from Nov. 20.

STOLE HIS DIAMONDS

A false friend has caused W. W. Wilson, of the Pacific hotel, much trouble. He reported to the police this morning that this friend who had been rooming with him arose last night, stealthily took a $200 diamond ring from his finger, unscrewed a $250 diamond stud from his cravat and rifled his pockets for $75. The police have been placed in possession of the false friend's name and description.

THIRTEEN LIVES LOST IN TENEMENT HORROR

WOMEN AND CHILDREN ARE TRAMPLED TO DEATH IN
MAD RUSH FOR FIRE ESCAPE ON TOP FLOOR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Thirteen persons, mostly women and children, were hurled to their deaths, and seven injured, in a fire early this morning in a tenement house. The building was a five story affair and the bodies were all found on the top floor in an indescribable heap. They died in an attempt to reach a fire escape. The panic stricken tenants fought and trampled over each other in the halls. The fire started in a saloon on the first floor and worked up the air shaft trapping the people on the top floors.

CATCHES EX-CONVICT LADEN WITH JEWELRY

BRILEY NABS STRANGER WHO CAME TO TOWN TO PEDdle
$2,500 WORTH OF HIGH CLASS
GOODS.

An important capture was made by Detective Briley last night at the North Pole saloon when he arrested Elmer Brott, a middle aged man, who had been trying to sell a silver toilet set. After taking the man to the police station the detective went to his room over the saloon and secured a box which contained 75 pounds of jewelry of all descriptions, considerable of it with the cost and retail marks on it. Chief Rice today estimated its value at $2,500.

Among the prisoner's effect was a shipping receipt for a box of goods sent from Denver to this city via the Northern Pacific. This box was traced to the Spokane Storage Co. and when opened at police headquarters was found to contain linen, household goods and carpeting tools marked "R. Vail." These also are believed to have been stolen.

Brott struggled to keep from being "mugged" by Photographer Lewis. Once the camera clicked, however, he seemed to lose his nerve and became docile. When stripped for measurements and marks of identification, a scar on his right arm excited interest. It looked like that left by a bullet wound. After a severe sweating he admitted it was a bullet wound secured in a gun fight with the police of Denver. He was caught in a room hiding under the bed, he said, and while trying to escape was shot and captured. He says he served in the Colorado penitentiary from Canyon City from 1903 to 1906.

He will report in favor of the plans as drawn by McIntyre. With the completion of this bridge a large business district will be opened near it and the farmer trade which now makes a detour of more than a mile to reach E. Sprague av. from the Trent road will come into town over the new bridge. The present one is a dilapidated structure upon which two wagons cannot pass abreast. The Traction Co. has offered to pay $10,000 as its share of the expense and the county will pay $20,000, which will leave the city a very small balance to pay.

MUST DEFEAT SEATTLE MAN

"Our one ambition now," stated Cisco Bullivant of the Spokane Amateur Athletic club this morning, "is to defeat the Seattle team of athletes next Wednesday night in the inter-club meet." Patrolmen Casey and Donohue chased a man of Brott's description yesterday morning after being informed he was trying to sell a lady's watch and chain. Brott stolidly maintains he is innocent of the thefts which the police accuse him of. It is generally believed he has not operated in Spokane, but, as he says, only just arrived from Denver. Authorities of that city, as well as of the Canyon City penitentiary, have been communicated with.

The new cars have extra large platform and passengers pay the conductor as they pass through the rear door into the car.

FEDERAL UNIONS SATISFIED

Alex McCallum, who went from this city to Norfolk, Va., to attend the convention of the American Federation of Labor and the representatives of Federal union No. 11,624, has returned. Mr. McCallum had little to add to what has already been published. He reports that the differences existing between the local federal unions was given an airing before the grievance committee and that after both sides had been heard it was decided to send an organizer here to try and amalgamate the local unions. It is probable that State Organizer C. O. Young will be given the task of settling the differences now existing between the local unions. Mr. McCallum and other members of Federal union No. 11,624, stated that they were satisfied with the action taken by the federation and were a unit as regards their further action in the matter. George Dennam, business agent of Federal union No. 12,222, said today that he was well pleased with the action of the federation and that he hoped that both charters would be revoked and a new one issued for both unions. He said he regarded this as the only solution of the matter.

ADAMS BAIL IS $20,000

GRAFTED HIM TO GRAFT ANOTHER

A. B. Curryer, in an amended complaint against Dr. C. P. Thomas, this morning alleges that on Nov. 24 he was operated upon, presumably for varicose veins in the right leg, and that while he was still under the influence of a strong anesthetic the physician cut flesh from his leg and, he understands, grafted it upon another patient at St. Luke's hospital. Curryer alleges that by reason of the mutilation of his leg he is disgraced for life and asked for $5,000 damages.

RATHDRUM, Nov. 25.—Steve Adams was today admitted to $20,000 bail. It will be several days before the amount is raised and forwarded. It is expected that an attempt will be made to take Adams to Colorado on another murder charge as soon as he is released.

At 5:45 yesterday afternoon the jury in the Steve Adams case reported absolute disagreement and was discharged after being out since Saturday at 8:30 p. m. The jury stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. The jury took five ballots. Those who voted for acquittal were Capt. Waters, M. Piper, M. Barto, R. A. MacArthur, J. C. Carton, R. A. MacArthur, J. C. Carton, George Price. The four for conviction were J. F. House, Chas. Dittmore, D. W. Garwood, S. A. Varnum.

This is the second trial of the case and the total cost to Shoshone county will amount to $6,000. While the jury was out yesterday, Detective James McFarland, evidently anticipating an acquittal, lay in wait at the Halliday hotel in this city preparatory to taking Adams, should he have been turned loose, to Colorado. A deputy sheriff of Idaho, armed with a warrant, lay in wait at the Rathdrum courthouse, ready to again place Adams under arrest on an indictment of the Colorado grand jury.

But others, who also had lain in wait in anticipation of acquittal, dogged McFarland's steps. Attorney Fred Miller, one of the Adams attorneys, had habeas corpus papers all ready to serve when Adams arrived here.
