

FEWER POSTS IN SUBWAYS

One more change was made in the grade separation plans of the Northern Pacific by the council committee last night. The railroad had adopted City Engineer Ralston's suggestion for three tiers of posts, in the center and along the sidewalk lines, but the council did not approve of this after deliberation last night and voted to adopt a system of stronger girders and only one line of posts, down the center, of the Washington, Wall Howard and Division st. subways.

Mr. Ralston's advice on the problem was asked and he informed the council the scheme was all right if the railroad would be compelled to use larger girders. Councilmen Estep and Lambert will take up the matter of closing Third av. privately with interested property holders and report at the next council meeting.

Albert Held again demanded reconsideration of the opening of Bernard st., and he and several other property holders voiced their desires but without securing a pledge from the council. It was decided, however, to allow further consideration at the next meeting. Attorney Cannon said he desired that the plans be filed with the city clerk and understood that they were. He was told, however, that they had not been regularly filed. The later plans have been in Engineer Ralston's office when not in the keeping of the Spokesman-Review, which borrowed them for campaign purposes.

The council will meet in regular session Tuesday night, but just when the next grade separation meeting will be held was not known last night. It probably will be set at the regular session.

CLUB IS STUDYING MENTAL TREATMENT

The following invitation has been issued for the City Temple Men's club meeting Monday evening:

"The influence of mind over body, keeping well, physical culture and long life will be discussed by specialists at the City Temple Men's club meeting at the City temple, corner Second av. and Lincoln st., Monday, April 13, 6:15 p. m. Dinner will be served, for which plates must be reserved in advance."

From action already taken the club will probably establish in the near future a "clinic" under the advice of a board of physicians for the treatment of ailments originating from mental and moral causes. A class in physical exercises will also be conducted.

HORSETHIEVES BUSY IN SPOKANE AGAIN

A horse and buggy belonging to E. B. Nelson was stolen about noon yesterday from Howard st. south of Riverside av. The animal weighs about 900, has a white face and white hind legs.

OREGON CONVENTIONS

PORTLAND, April 11.—The state central committee called three republican conventions yesterday to meet in Portland May 14. They are the first and second congressional district conventions and the state convention to choose delegates at large for the Chicago convention.

FUNSTON REMOVED

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Confirmation was made today of the president's intention of detaching Gen. Funston, now in command of the department of California with headquarters at San Francisco, as president of the general service school at Fort Leavenworth. Funston will probably remain here until after the fleet reception.

TROUBLE OVER TIME CHECKS

As usual the workingman gets the worst of it in a Spokesman-Review report of trouble with the B. R. Lewis Co. at Coeur d'Alene. According to the Review report a mob of 200 foreign employees suddenly descended from the woods and demanded their pay without notice or reason. They got so bad over it when the company refused to pay that it was necessary to call on the sheriff's office. Lewis was East and the merchants of the town are represented as coming to the company's rescue by taking up the checks.

Several of the employees of the company came to The Press office this morning with another version, which is most likely correct. For the past several months the men have been paid off in time checks, even when discharged, dated payable April 10, which was yesterday. That is the mysterious reason that sent them down to the office. Lewis was not there and the money not ready, and naturally they didn't like it. Not all of them were foreigners, either. The merchants came to the rescue by offering to take up the time checks at a discount running as high as 50 cents on the dollar, it is claimed. The discount process is the only method by which the men say they have been able to secure any cash. The solvency of the Lewis company is not questioned, but the men are unable to understand why they can't get their pay. Some of the Americans interested are putting their time checks in the banks for collection rather than accept the discounts.

AT THE THEATRES

SPOKANE

The owners of "The Black Crook" have created several rousing musical numbers which well trained chorus executes admirably. The comedy is entrusted to the hands of several well known artists. It has been the management's aim to rejuvenate the old time "Black Crook" with a view to making it up to date and to appeal to musical lovers as well as admirers of scenic effects. Spokane dates are tonight and Sunday.

Mary Mannerling will play an engagement at the Spokane Monday and Tuesday evenings in a new play, "Glorious Betsy," the story woman comedian attraction is offered by Miss Nellie Revel, introduced as the girl who says things in a delightful talking act. She's called the happy hit of the bill. A rapid fire comedy acrobatic act is that of Pitter and Hartwell, billed as the man with two heads. They rate high in their line. Wilfred and Lottie is a man and dog team. Lottie being a fox terrier capable of astonishing feats in equilibrium. Wilfred is something extra in that line and the dog is able to do about everything he does. Lawrence and Harris appear in their latest skit, "The Bowery Boy and the Tough Girl." The pictures will show two subjects, "Pirates" and "The Enchanted Pond."

MARY MANNERLING, AT THE SPOKANE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

of which is by Rida Johnson Young, author of "Brown of Harvard" and other successes. It has to do with the love affairs of Jerome Bonaparte and Elizabeth, better known as Betsy Patterson, of Baltimore, which terminated in their marriage only to be set aside by royal decree in an order from his imperial brother, Napoleon. In this comedy, which teems with romance and atmosphere of the chivalrous days of 1802, Miss Mannerling is the heroine is said to have been supplied with one of the best mediums she has ever employed. The company in support is an exceptional brilliant one.

Creston Clarke ends the week at the Spokane with "The Power that Governs." The engagement also includes next Sunday evening.

COLUMBIA

"Cumberland 61," the Columbia bill for next week, is a romance of West Point and war time adventures in the Cumberland mountains, written by Franklyn Pyles. It is not a war play in the sense of having war scenes, and it is wholly neutral in sentiment as between North and South. It has an absorbing love story, explicit characters, stirring episodes and a highly sensational climax. The wedding in the ruined church with an unwilling bride, and a surprising interruption, the escape of the two young officers from death as spies, and the combat on the burning bridge—these and other situations run through the play. It is a story of ardent lovers and their military adventures without resorting to buncombe or forced expedients. In the leading role of Gordon Grayne Willis A. Hall will be cast in a part for which he has a particular liking and during the week should be seen at his best. Julia Gray, who is every week taking a stronger hold on the Columbia audiences, will appear as Alice Ansley, a very strong part. The balance of the cost will be well filled by members of the company.

AUDITORIUM

"East Lynne," one of the best known emotional dramas ever written, will be played by the Shirley Co. the coming week. The trials and tribulations of Lady Isabelle gives Miss Shirley an exceptional opportunity. The other prominent role in the play is that of Sir Francis Levison, the polished villain, with Robert Siddell cast in the role. The comedy will be furnished by Miss Laura Adams as Corry Carlyle, the gossipping old maid, and Jack Amory as Mr. Dill. Following "East Lynne" the Shirley will present "The Light Eternal," the most elaborate production the company has ever attempted. This play is not to be confused with "The Eternal City," as the two plays are entirely different in plot and period. "The Light Eternal" will require a cast of 40 people and the costumes and stage settings will surpass those used in "The Holy City" or "Mizpah," while the story of the play itself is more dramatic. The piece has never before been presented by a stock company, Miss Shirley securing special permission to produce it in Spokane.

WASHINGTON

Six acts, all so good it's hard to pick out the headliner, is the bill announced for next week, beginning tomorrow. James Harrigan has a number in a class by itself as a tramp comedian and general entertainer. "The Nightingale," a comedy drama of 18 minutes, will be presented by Rachel Acton and company, included in which is Jack Kloville, who was here in the "Way Down East" company. The sketch is well recommended. Another

TOWN PUTS TAX ON BACHELORS

TACOMA, April 11.—Milton, a town on the Seattle/Tacoma Interurban railroad, four miles from Tacoma, has gone on record with a tax of $5 per annum upon all bachelors living in that place. The town boasts a large number of single men and the members of the city council figure that if they get these single ones to bring in wives it will nearly double the population.

The tax will also stimulate city finances, according to Mayor Claude Weeks, who signed the ordinance. When the town council passed the ordinance one of its members, who was a bachelor, made a vigorous protest, but he was quickly squelched. The council did not even allow him a vote on the score of his personal interest in the issue at stake.

Many of the single men of the place declare they will retaliate by changing their residence to other parts.
