

THE CRY "UNCLEAN!" HAS LOST ITS TERROR

WILL RELEASE ELEVEN CONDEMNED LEPEERS, AGITATION STOPPED BY ONE MAN DRIVEN FROM HAWAII AS QUACK, ENDS IN EFFORTS TO CURE.

Special Correspondence to The Press

HONOLULU, Hawaii, July 17.—Have the biblical accounts of miraculous cures of leprosy been duplicated in the world famous Molokai settlement? Or have men and women and even children in the past been consigned to a living death through untouched by the dread disease?

Eleven lepers, eight men, one woman and two boys, or at least 11 persons formally declared lepers at different times by the medical authorities of the board of health, have as formally and officially been declared not lepers and released from exile in the leper settlement in Molokai. With their release has come a new era of hope for Molokai.

Some of these 11 had been in exile in the Molokai settlement for 20 years or more, some for only a year. In the case of those sent a score of years ago, they were condemned as lepers on the purely clinical manifestations of the disease, before the microscopic test showing the actual presence of the bacillus of leprosy had come into general use. But in all the latter cases the microscopic test, which is considered infallible, was used.

The microscopic test now fails to reveal the presence of the bacillus, and they are declared not lepers.

How were they cured? Did the medical treatment at the settlement or the better sanitary and dietary conditions under which they lived there effect a cure? Or has nature in a spirit of mystery stepped in to baffle, inquire and arrest the disease?

Leprosy, though the oldest known disease in the world, is one of the most mysterious. Its origin, its cause, its mode of transmission are all unknown. Eleven condemned lepers have been found clean. If they were cured, no one knows how. The physicians at the settlement do not claim the credit. In fact, in five of the 11 cases no treatment was given and the others have not all taken the same treatment, yet they are no longer lepers.

The result of the re-examination of the 11 marks a new era in the policy of the Molokai settlement. In the past, boards of health seem to have grown callous in the belief that the disease is incurable, and requests for re-examination received scant attention. The 11 were re-examined only because the legislature adopted a joint resolution asking that they be.

It is doubtful if this resolution could have been passed if public sentiment on the subject had not been aroused by the agitation of J. Lor Wallach.

Wallach claimed to be able to cure leprosy. Naturally such claims aroused hope and inquiry among the Hawaiians, who are the greatest sufferers from the dread disease. They asked that he be allowed to go to the settlement and treat some of the lepers with his remedies. His claims were scouted by the boards of health. Promises made to the natives were broken.

BILL SYKES, HE MURDERED THE SACRED CHINESE PEALADY

BILL SYKES, MURDERER.

Special Correspondence to The Press
CINCINNATI, July 16.—A tragic revival of "Who Killed Cock Robin" is being staged at the world famous Cincinnati zoo. As a result of damaging evidence found after a search, Bill Sykes, the Maribou stork, is locked up in a double barred cage, charged with the killing of Cleopatra, the beautiful sacred Chinese peahen.

It's the sole topic of conversation in zoo society these days—this cold blooded killing of Cleopatra. Superintendent Sol Stephen, when he started an official investigation and who understands animal talk, couldn't find the guilty bird because Bill Sykes is the zoo bully, and the other birds were afraid to tell.

Two days ago all that was mor-

Home of a leper family on the island of Molokai, and J. Lor Wallach, whose efforts led to yearly re-examinations.

and finally Wallach was railroaded to prison on a charge of practicing medicine without a license. He was released from prison on his promise to leave Hawaii. He went, but the effect of the agitation he had precipitated remained.

As a result an entire change of policy was forced on the board, and when Senator Frank Harvey offered the joint resolution requesting the re-examination of certain lepers, it was readily accepted to.

Now, from the least important, efforts to cure have come suddenly to be the most important elements in the policy of segregation.

More than this, any leper or suspected leper in Molokai can secure re-examination at least once a year.

Deportation to Molokai is no longer looked upon as a sentence to living death.

The leper settlement is no longer a living tomb.

The cry of "unclean!" has lost its terrors.

LITTLE CIRCUS FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS

Gentry Brothers' dog and pony shows played to two audiences yesterday on the lots back of the courthouse. This afternoon and evening the performances will be repeated. Those who saw the show left well satisfied. Gentry Brothers' shows have retained their individuality as dog and pony shows, and it is their special aim to present a performance that appeals to ladies and children.

One of the features is the dog that rides a bucking pony. While the spirit of appreciation is on a Teddy bear, monkey and a pony rush into the tent with a clever burlesque.

Another feature with the show is a boy and girl acrobatic wire walkers. The doors will open at 7 o'clock tonight.

A WAITING REVIVAL

This was a typical July week of two years ago, with the exception of the local market and buyers do not seem to be tempted even by the low levels that the leaders attending. The continued unsatisfactory condition of the metal markets is largely if not wholly responsible for the inactivity, even in the better class of stocks.

PRETTY EASY FOR HOBO DOGS

MRS. J. C. GOWER

Special Correspondence to The Press
DENVER, July 16.—Denver dogs will not be hungry any more, nor homeless.

Denver's society women have said so, and what they say goes. Here's their scheme.

Under the name of the Denver Dumb Friends' league they are going to build a home, or "shelter," as it is to be called, for all stray dogs, where the homeless bow-wow can have the same comforts and care that the more fortunate of his kind receive from their soft handed mistresses.

This wash and brush up headquarters of the dogs will be located, too, in a clean, quiet part of the town, free from the disturbing noise of the city's center.

It is even rumored that the fluffy ruffled society dames have gone so far as to plan out menus for these bow-wows, to be administered according to the number of teeth the little homeless waifs still possess.

Mrs. J. C. Gower, a prominent member of Denver's social set, has taken a great interest in this movement. Under her leadership society women are meeting daily and are planning the ways and means of raising the necessary funds.

Happiness has a peculiar way of coming and going without warning.

Big $700 Fisher piano, I take now $287. Others equally low. I go to Boston in a week. I like my home in Pennsylvania, but I like Boston better. New $250 pianos now $107; better ones, the $300 kind, $148. But they won't last long. Store open in the evenings. Bowers, across from Review. Spokane Piano House. No more.
