NEW MICHIGAN FACULTY MEMBER
PREFERS DUELING TO FOOTBALL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 26.—Prof. C. L. de Muralt, who at the beginning of the next college year will become head of Michigan's electrical engineering department, is an advocate of fencing for physical culture.

PROF. C. L. DE MURALT.

Although in the early thirties Prof. de Muralt is an engineer of repute in this and foreign countries. He is a graduate of several European universities and, like than one of its number became king of his country. It was a signal honor for de Muralt, an American of Swiss descent, to be elected to the corps.

Because of his swordsmanship, de Muralt was thrice chosen in one week to meet the best swordsmen of three other corps. It was during these engagements that he received the three deepest sword cuts, the ones he now carries on chin, cheek and across the head.

Professor de Muralt is a great believer in dueling, for all of, or perhaps of, these encounters. "I believe," he said, "there is no training a man can receive during his youth that does more for him in after life than a few student duels. Americans praise football as Spartan training, whose good effects a player feels during his after life, but in my opinion a few duels in the course of a man's college career are preferable to any number of gridiron struggles.

"In a German college corps a student, especially in his last year, holds himself in readiness to go out at any time to fight an adversary from another corps. This constant keeping in readiness steadies the nerves. While there may be some objection to a man's face being scarred, I cannot but think it preferable to broken legs and arms. "I am firmly convinced that German student dueling spirit is an educational feature fully as valuable as the American football. To my mind it presents one great advantage over the latter in that it develops strong individuality and reliance in one's strength, a feature not present to such a degree in football."

SPORTORIALS

"Slimmy" Murch is now listed as the regular third sacker for the Indianapolis team. He is hitting the ball well.

E. A. Donalds, young pitcher signed by St. Paul, won all the games he pitched in the Capital City league in 1909.

There will not be many sore arms in the camp after the first three days out. Stomach muscles and those that are strained in the back and the legs cause most of the misery. Nearly everybody will be more or less afflicted, but it won't be many days before they can flash around without creaking in the joints.

It looks as if "Wild Bill" Donovan is due for another poor start this season. The "Tiger" big twirler is having trouble with his salubrious wing and will be compelled to discontinue practice for a while.

WESTERN BOWLING CONGRESS MEETS

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Bowling from all parts of the country will meet tonight for the opening of the Western Bowling Congress here.

In addition to a series of games, the congress will elect officers. J. F. Morley of Los Angeles has announced his candidacy for the presidency.

The games will begin tonight at 8 o'clock at Jefferson hall. The first ball will be rolled by Mayor McCarthy, following speeches of welcome and responses by leading bowlers.

In addition to the games, the visiting teams will be escorted on sightseeing trips during the day by members of the local teams.

Three tournaments will be held and two score teams have entered.

FRANK CHANCE
MUCH PEEVED

(By United Press Leased Wire) MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 26.—Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago Cubs, is very much peeved because holdout Catcher Johnny Kling has not yet been reinstated by the national commission, and his application is filed away with the other unfinished business.

Chance was so peeved that he took a little rest at Dan Johnson, chairman of the national commission.

"Dan Johnson does not want Kling to get into condition by the time the season opens," Chance declared. He did not say just why Johnson did not want Kling in the game.

Chance believes the application will be granted, but that his star backstop will not get into the game before the season is well under way.

JOHNSON ARRESTED ON USUAL CHARGE

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, March 26.—Two hours after arriving in the city from New York, where he got out of jail on $5000 bonds, Jack Johnson, colored pugilist, was served with a summons to appear before Municipal Judge Seoval March 31 on a charge of speeding on the South Side boulevards.

The warrant was issued for his arrest several days ago at the request of Lieutenant M. C. Hays of the South Park police force.

It is alleged by the police that Johnson exceeded the speed ordinance March 15.

AWFUL! SUPPOSE WOLGAST HADN'T TRIPPED
JUST WHEN HE WAS GOING TO SMASH JEFF!

Two Champions, Wolgast and Jeffries, Mixing Things at the Latter's Home in Los Angeles, California.

Special Correspondence. LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 26.—If Ad Wolgast hadn't turned a back somersault over a garden hose, there's no telling what might have happened.

The lightweight terror was dancing around, poised, to start his famous right uppercut for the bread basket of Jim Jeffries. He was just about to set himself when his heel caught on that garden hose. Jeff confesses that if it hadn't been for that hose, one "Lil' Artha" Johnson might have escaped an awful beating next July. What that uppercut might have done to him, he doesn't venture to predict.

This is the way it happened: Shortly after he beat Nelson into submission, Ad came to Los Angeles. A few days ago he and his manager, Tom Jones, went out to Jeff's city home to see how the big fellow looked when domesticated.

Jeff and Wolgast are great friends. Ad's first appearance on the coast was before Jeffries' club and since then the big ex-bollermaker has taken a keen interest in the doings of game little champ. As for Ad, he thinks Jim Jeffries is the biggest hearted, grandest fighter the world has ever seen.

"Well, kid," was Jeff's greeting. "I suppose you're all swelled up, hey? Might think you can lick me. What?"

"Don't know about that, Jim," laughed Ad, "but I'll gamble I can

"You're on," laughed Jeff. The two champs went out behind the barn to settle it, and the picture man followed them. Jeff fell into a crouch and Wolgast started after him. They danced around and slapped with open hands.

"Thought you were going to hit me," laughed the bulldog at the terrier. "I'll hit you, all right." And the terrier danced around some more, looking for an opening. Presently he found it—or thought he did. Now, if that hose hadn't been exactly where it was—

If the terrier hadn't tripped on it at exactly that minute—

Come out of it! The nose was there. The terrier tripped and that big scrap next July is still safe.

Ge! But that was a bad dream!

CO-EDS TRY TO LIFT
CANDY ARBITRARY

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 26.—In order to lift a candy tariff on transportation, the co-eds who live at McMillan hall, Washington university, are organizing a walking club, the idea being to take long tramps across country and thereby make the task of walking through McMillan's corridors less tiresome.

The corridors are at least 300 yards long, and it is always been a quest on how to reach the distant end of the way corners without fatigue. Several weeks ago, John Lowes, 10 years old, son of Prof. J. L. Lowes, bought a bicycle and took it to the hall. It immediately caught the fancy of the young women and they began to make use of the machine to traverse the long halls.

Then Johnny showed his statesmanship by putting a protective tariff on transportation around McMillan, and everyone who rode the bicycle was roused to pay a tribute of candy. This was fine for the girls who could make fudge, but those who could not, and who did not have opportunities to visit the stores several miles away, found themselves cut off by the tariff schedule. In order either to break the tariff or train themselves so the corridors will seem less tiresome, the young women will begin to walk at every opportunity.

EXPECT THEM TODAY

Captain Harry Ostdek, Granville, Clark and Pendry are expected to arrive today or Sunday. Clark is known to have left his home on March 17, but he has not yet put in an appearance.

TWO AVIATORS TO FLY HERE

Charles K. Hamilton, the famous aeronaut, who performed with so much success before the crowds at Los Angeles, and who is becoming famous all over the country, will be in this city next Wednesday morning. Hamilton comes to Spokane from Vancouver, B. C., and will be accompanied by his manager, Nat Reiss.

With the arrival of Hamilton, Spokane will be the host of two famous aviators. Walter Donnelly, who is in charge of the Curtiss biplane exhibition at the auto show, has been here for several days.

Another young woman, Miss Isabel English, has signified her willingness to accompany Hamilton in a flight through the clouds for the prize of $50 offered by Harry Green, and to be given away on April 1, when Hamilton makes his first ascension. The meet will last three days and will be held at the Interstate fair grounds.

Donnelly has telephoned to Portland in an effort to secure an eight cylinder engine within the next few days so as to be able to make two or three flights before the arrival of Hamilton.

A FAST GAME IS EXPECTED TODAY

A close game is predicted between the baseball squads of the North Central high school and the Spokane college when the boys meet at Natatorium park this afternoon. Both teams are reputed to be faster than they were last year and both are very anxious to win, as this practice game means much to the early success of the team.

JOHN BULL NOW COMING AFTER CUP
MEADOWBROOK POLO PLAYERS LIFTED

CAPTAIN HAR DRESS LLOYD.

Of all the bombs we have tossed into English sportingdom, none created the furore that followed the defeat of the nation's crack polo team at the hands of the Meadowbrook club last year.

England has become callous to seeing her pugilists, athletes, wrestlers, tennis players and yachtsmen downed; but that a blasted Yankee polo team could invade the sacred precincts and win a match was something so entirely unexpected that it became almost a national calamity.

ers in the united kingdom are getting together to help retrieve the lost honor. Captain Har Dress Lloyd, D. S. C., whatever that means, has been chosen to lead the cream of the polo world to this country, to regain the cup taken away by the Meadowbrooks.
