

WHAT INTERESTS THE FAMILY DURING THE EVENING HOURS

Society

Social news is a daily feature of The Press. Any one wishing to insert such news should mail it to the society editor or phone before 10 a. m.

The crowning feature of the season among the affairs of the Women's club was the luncheon given at 1 o'clock today at the Hall of the Doges, Davenport's. Mrs. J. H. Kane and Mrs. C. H. McCoy were the toastmistresses of the occasion.

The Spokane Sorosis are holding their last meeting of the year today at the home of Mrs. George H. Goble on Seventh avenue. The affair is given in honor of president's day and Mrs. H. C. Blair will be the guest of honor.

Some of the most delightful affairs given at the Y. W. C. A. have been the circle entertainments. Upon past occasions the girls of the dressmaking, millinery and office circles have been entertained. Tomorrow evening a party will be given at the association rooms for the girls of the telephone circle.

A program of games has been arranged and refreshments will be served. Frank T. Miles will present his pupils in a piano and organ recital Tuesday evening in the Vincent Methodist church.

The alumni of Brunot hall will give a luncheon in honor of the graduating class tomorrow at Davenport's.

In the evening of the same day Miss Bailey will entertain at a dancing party at the gymnasium of the school. About 60 guests have been bidden.

Mrs. Bert Merritt will be hostess at a party informal affair tomorrow afternoon when she will entertain the members of the Jonquil club at a luncheon at her home, 807 Illinois avenue. The hour is 2 o'clock.

Miss Daisy Cooper is entertaining today for Miss Annette Oudin at the Cooper home on Pacific avenue. The social hours were spent at whist.

The Athenaeum club will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. C. S. McClusky at her residence, 1608 Boone avenue.

Mrs. A. L. Porter received the members of the J. G. Whist club this afternoon at her apartments in the San Marco.

Royal Neighbors, Spokane camp No. 762, will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in upper Pacific halls. All visiting members are invited.

Mrs. G. S. Corner left last week for St. Louis, Mo., where she will spend several weeks visiting with relatives at that place.

Miss Beth Chase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Chase, and Arthur Logan were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 437 Fifteenth avenue, Rev. A. O. Worthing officiating.

The bride was attended by Miss Stella Schaeffer. D. D. Chase was best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Edith Jones and during the service Miss Lulu Morgan sang "O, Promise Me."

The young couple left immediately after the wedding supper for a honeymoon trip on the coast. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at 437 Fifteenth avenue.

FROM MARY'S COOK BOOK

Chocolate Pudding.—To one quart of milk add one cup of sugar and yolks of five eggs. Heat in double boiler, add two tablespoons of corn starch dissolved in milk, and four tablespoons of grated chocolate and flavor with vanilla and cinnamon. Beat until smooth, turn into buttered baking dish and bake 30 minutes. Cover with meringue made of whipped whites of the eggs and two tablespoons of powdered sugar. Brown in oven and serve cold.

New Mint Sauce.—To make a very appetizing sauce to serve with roast lamb, dissolve two tablespoons fine sugar in one tablespoon boiling water and add three tablespoons finely chopped mint. Set it away for half hour, then drop in, drop by drop, one tablespoonful of the finest olive oil and a teaspoonful of orange juice. This sauce should be made one hour before it is required for the table.

LOOK OUT, DON'T GET THIS SORT OF A BATHING SUIT

This is the sort of a bathing suit that is tabooed. Its cut, with a bodice in jumper style, is perfectly good. The material, taffeta, is eminently proper. The black and white striped taffeta is also highly becoming. The objection to this suit is that white material is used. White, pink or bright yellows are forbidden on the Atlantic and Pacific beaches for obvious reasons; they are too nearly flesh colored.

Virginia of the Air Lanes

By Herbert Quick Author of "Double Trouble."

The oath was cut in two by an upward and forward flight, at the last speed, that pulled the speech in twain and left the launch alone in the great marsh, with Mrs. Graybill, her color high, her mouth occasionally curving into a smile—sometimes culminating audibly—practicing Japanese flower arrangements, while her father combed his board with his fingers and said nothing.

Passing over the bay with a wide westerly detour, the Virginia came in over Spring Hill, and alighted at the aerone landing at Mobile. From a hundred sally ports—streets, alleys and wharves—poured a throng of people, attracted by the strange craft that had made port, the negroes, first forming about the car a black ring starred with white eyes. Caucasians then assumed advantageous positions, rather abashed at the steady gaze of Carson, and the being in Carson the only fugitive in sight, stopped him.

"Let me go," cried Carson, struggling. "Come with me and arrest a man for attempt to murder."

"That cock won't fight," answered the policeman. "Good dodge, but won't go with me. What's he done?" he inquired, bringing Theodore back.

"Nobody seemed to have any definite complaint to make. "He jumped out of his airship," said one, "and acted like he was going to brain some one."

"Did he brain any one?" asked the policeman. "No," replied the Mobilian, "but he might."

"If he had met any one with brains," said Craighead, "to act as the corpus delicti. A braining requires a brain—a term connoting brains. Advocatus Diabolus, they case is weak!"

"But he ran off," persisted the Advocatus Diabolus, "as if pursuing some one—"

"Or trying to get somewhere," supplied Craighead. "Aren't people here allowed to hurry? Have you ordinances against haste, O Guardian of the Realm? What's the speed limit for pedestrians in Mobile, anyhow?"

A boy in a messenger cap interrupted the colloquy by calling "Mr. Cahson, Mr. Cahson!" as if "paging" a man in a hotel.

"I'm Carson," said Theodore. "What do you want?"

"Somebody on the wire for you at the telephone booth at the hotel," replied the messenger. "Wants you at once."

"May I go?" asked Theodore of the policeman. Wondering who in Mobile might desire speech with him, Carson said, "Who's this?" into the transmitter.

"Your old friend Wizner," said the receiver. "Crazy as ever. Never mind where I am; I'll tell that after I've talked, if you want me to—your pup."

Carson glared into the receiver with crimson face and lips drawn back unhandsoemly; then hastily returned it to his ear, and caught the middle of a sentence about smuggling.

"I didn't get that," said Carson. "Well, you'll get it," said Wizner. "If you ain't careful, you can have me pinched—but I can prove an alibi. And while I'm proving things I'll fix you fellows for smuggling; and put Harrod where the dogs won't bite him, and you, too."

"I don't know anything about smuggling," protested Theodore. "Well," went on Wizner, "if you dig into the big sand hill with the steel buoy on it, you will. You'll find what'll put you in a better mood than putting me in prison for a frolic with your aerone. Oh, don't talk so innocent! How did you finance your airship, except by free trade?"

Carson had nothing to say. He remembered Captain Harrod's expression when Wizner had called him a old smuggling fool. He remembered a thousand mysterious things, now made plain by the hypothesis of Harrod's having yielded to the coastwise temptation of smuggling. That the old man he loved should be guilty of a felony was bad; but to be in Wizner's power was worse. Thus, thought Carson, while Wizner waited for his reply, uttering into the instrument a sly, sinister, expiring chuckle.

OUR NO ROOF PLATE

The above cut is an exact imitation of our roofless plate. It is one of the latest devices used in my office exclusively.

NATURAL GUM WORK. I am now using artificial gum in connection with my bridgework, discarding all the brazen appearance of the gold you see in all other offices. Color exactly as nature has given it.

PLATES. I can give you a plate without rubber and without metal that is exactly in color as the tissues of the mouth.

INLAY INSTEAD OF CROWN. If the large gold crown is distasteful to you we have something beautiful in its stead. No rough joints at the gums to become sore and bleed on cleaning. Leaving as much of the natural tooth exposed as possible.

EXHIBITS. I have some very beautiful samples of my natural gum work to show you when you come in. I am always very glad, indeed, to show you and talk to you and all my examinations and consultations are absolutely free.

MY GUARANTEE is absolutely unlimited; any time my work isn't perfectly satisfactory, bring it to me at once. I have the remedy—and it is FREE.

FREE. The thorough cleaning I give you every six months is something you never heard of in any office before. I assure you. I do this so I can protect my work against decay or wear of any kind. It saves me of having to do my work over and also saves the patient the extra pain and worry.

ASK me your difficult questions. CONSULT me as to the best work for your particular case.

A Story for Childrens' Playtime

PRUDENCE. Somebody told Prudence that one of these witches might be seen sailing through the air on a broomstick at midnight. She wanted to see, so she sat up one night, and watched. Her sister Priscilla woke up and saw her at the window, and told her she better come to bed. She would be sorry if she stayed up so late.

And she was very sorry the next day. It was Sunday and she went to church with the rest of the family. The sermon was three hours long, and before it was half through Prudence began to be very sleepy. Perhaps you think she might just go to sleep and there would be no great harm done.

But in that church a man sat up in a high place where he could see everybody, with a long willow stick in his hand, and with this stick he would tap the heads of whispering or sleepy children.

Prudence was a very good girl and she had never been tapped, but this day her eyes closed and her head nodded, and soon she was awakened by a sharp rap.

She was so ashamed! Her father looked very cross and her mother very sorry, and the worst of all—her sister Priscilla plucked her sleeve and whispered, "I told you that you would be sorry."

WOMEN SUCCESS WINNERS

Mrs. Julian Heath is president of the League for Home Economics which is planning a new branch of work for the coming summer.

During the winter months the league maintains a school of house-keeping on the lower East Side in New York, where women and girls may receive instruction in hygiene, judicious marketing, the selection of pure foods, plain cooking, nursing and tending the baby. Beginning with June 1 the league will use its flat as a clinic for sick babies and in co-operation with the board of health will have physicians and nurses there to prescribe and care for sick children.

Besides the league plans to have a milk fund for babies, a fund for special diet when ordered by a physician and a fund for fresh air outings.
