

WAS AFRAID TO TELL THE WIVES OF HUSBANDS' DEATH

Dead, beneath tons of sand that slid down the steep wall beside which they were working, the bodies of W. C. Johnson and N. A. Foster were found late last night after a battle with shifting gravel that seemed almost hours to their brother workmen. The Graybill sandpit, at the north end of Maple street, was the scene of the disastrous accident and it was fully a half hour before the first body was uncovered. It was that of Foster, stuck head foremost into the sand and life was thoroughly extinct. Johnson was found shortly afterward, but he lived for an instant, and the bodies were taken to the Gilman morgue together.

Both men were married and had families dependant upon them. Johnson was 50 years of age and is survived by a wife and two adopted children, Jack Johnson, age 22, and Lily Williams, age 29 years. His home was at 1727 Cleveland avenue. Foster, age 45 years, had his home at Cedar street and Alice avenue, and is survived by a wife and six children.

The first messenger sent out from the sand pit to break the sad news of the deaths of the two men to their wives could not summon sufficient courage to do so, and not till Foster's wagon was brought home by others, did his wife know the true facts of the case. She was partially prepared for it though. She had feared her husband's death.

TAKING TIME ON PETITION

Members of the charter election committee are indignant today over the delay in the work of checking over the petition of 5000 citizens calling for an election to vote for an official charter commission. The committee has been informed by City Clerk Fleming that to date he has checked over some 500 names and that the other 4500 are yet to be canvassed. At this rate the committee figures that it will take about 20 weeks to check up the petition.

IS STEAMER DECK AMERICAN SOIL?

(By United Press Leased Wire.) OLYMPIA, June 7.—Is the deck on a steamship on a San Francisco-Portland run American soil? That is a question the supreme court will have to decide. If the answer is "yes," the Continental Casualty company will have to pay O. L. Lewis of Seattle the insurance on the life of his wife, who was killed on a steamer en route from San Francisco north.

The company refused to pay the policy on the grounds that it expressly stipulates it would only cover the policyholder on United States soil. The tragedy occurred at sea, three miles from shore. The case comes to the supreme court on an appeal from King county.

ALLEGED HE TRIED TO KILL HIS FAMILY

Charged with a threat to kill his wife and children and then to commit suicide, Martin Loth is in the city jail, awaiting trial before the municipal court. According to the story told to the police by his wife, Loth savagely declared he would kill them all and burn the house down on top of them and that he immediately afterward leveled a shotgun at her and snapped the hammer. She was saved from a brutal murder only by the fact that, in fear of him the day before, she had taken the oads from the gun and hid them.

Whether it is because of the protest meeting held last night or for other causes, there was water today in the southwest part of Lidgerwood, a district that was without water for hours yesterday. There was no water in that region for three or four hours yesterday morning or again last night for an equal length of time. The same condition was true of the Monroe hill district.

"MAKE HORSES ALL GREEN," HE SAID

Spader Johnson, the celebrated clown now with the Sells-Floto circus, once kept a lively stable at Rushville, Ind. A week before St. Patrick's day the president of the local lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians came around to interview him.

"Spader," said he, "O! want twenty-fove gray horses fur th' pursion on th' sivententh."

"All right," replied Johnson, "I have a dozen or so on hand now, but tomorrow I am expecting three carloads of green horses from the west."

"Why didn't ye tell me that afore!" ejaculated the patriotic Celt. "Niver mind th' grey horses at all at all; make 'em all green."

MOST FAMOUS WOLF KILLED

UPTON, Wis., June 7.—"One Toe," the most famous wolf in the world, was laid low last Friday by William Jenkins, a ranchman, who shot the animal, which has been hunted by stockgrowers in this part of state for years.

"One Toe," so named from the fact that his trail showed him to have but one toe on his right forepaw, has been the despair of stockgrowers for many years, raiding their herds and being held responsible for losses that aggregated thousands of dollars. He was too wary to be lured into a trap, could never be driven to poison and defied every attempt at capture or death.

PROTEST GETS WATER

Whether it is because of the protest meeting held last night or for other causes, there was water today in the southwest part of Lidgerwood, a district that was without water for hours yesterday. # UNION REPLIES TO THE MORRIS THEATER STATEMENT

The statements made by the representative of the Morris theater that they were unaware as to the cause of the labor disturbance on the theater building is misleading. The difficulty has been under consideration since Friday morning. The representatives of the Building Trades council have tried to get an adjustment of the trouble, but can get no satisfaction whatever.

The contractor who has the plastering does not know conditions in this city when he intimates that competent men cannot be obtained here. There are at least 15 men in the city who are capable of putting up the "staff" which is in dispute. As for the moulding and casting, some of the best moulders and casters west of the Mississippi river are now in Spokane, and they are not those brought here by Mr. Mondoli. Mr. Mondoli stated on the floor of the plasterers' union that he would insist on these non-union men working on the building, when he well knew that the job was a straight union job. If this contractor had not come here with the intention of forcing a fight and had shown any disposition to adjust the dispute relative to the manner of "running in place" and the staff and ornamental work there would have been no trouble. Signed, R. E. Carney, Secretary of the Press Committee on the Business Agents.

franchises will then be passed. Consideration of the franchises will be resumed tomorrow night.

When the railroads were confronted with a proposition of granting terminal rates or being barred from the city, they were willing to grant almost any concession the citizens asked for in other respects. Now that the terminal rate barrier has been swept aside, and the council seems to have gone over to the railroads, the Milwaukee and North Coast are trying to see how few of the former promised concessions can be granted.

Last night the city council again manifested its subserviency and conceded almost everything that the railroads asked. About every other meeting of the council, a new draft of the franchise is submitted and when the final draft is reached the franchise in all probability will be exactly what the railroads want.

Attorney Dudley of the Milwaukee has assumed the boldness to whip the council into line on the floor of the council chamber. When something comes up that does not please him, Dudley arises and soon straightens out the council, and his suggestion or command is generally followed.

That there will or will not be a union passenger terminal depends on the wishes of the railroads. Many people think that when the final draft of the franchises are accepted by the council, we will have the Milwaukee coming as far west as Washington street and the North Coast as far east as Monroe or Howard street, with the intervening two or three blocks remaining the same as at present.
