(By a Staff Correspondent of the United Press) LONDON, June 9.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will not deliver the "exhortative" speech at the opening of the congressional campaign authorized by the United Press today to deny that he had accepted an invitation to deliver such a speech at the annual convention of the republican clubs, which will be held in New York in July. Mr. Dudley, its lawyer, showed his displeasure, and said that if he were forced to accept a common user clause the franchise would be dropped and the city entered over some other line. The city council last night, by a vote of 7 to 2, turned down the effort of Councilman Peter Nelson to have the North Coast franchise submitted to a vote of the people, the result of such election to be binding alike on people and railroads. The only supporter Nelson had for his resolution was Councilman Funk. Those voting against the question of the popular approval of the franchise were Councilmen Cartwright, Shaefer, Gray, Mohr, Dalke, Belsbaw and Lambert. During the discussion Belsbaw said that in the final passage of the franchise he would support the motion of Nelson, provided he omitted the clause that required the railroads to pay the cost of the election. Nelson announced later that he would revive his motion again, with the compensation clause cut out.

The Lambert common user clause for the North Coast was not satisfactory to the whole council, as it lodged in the North Coast a control of the situation to a large measure. The vote by which the clause was accepted consisted of Lambert, Dalke, Gray, Nelson and Belsbaw in the affirmative and Cartwright, Funk, Shaefer and Mohr in the negative. Schiller being absent. Attorney Lawrence Hamblen agreed that the franchise of the North Coast should contain a clause that the union depot company should take the city hall property for $352,000. A meeting will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to consider the depot franchise. The North Coast franchise extends only to Monroe street, at which point the terminal franchise is to begin.

I believe that the stockholders of the big corporations are responsible for municipal corruption."

Bancroft, who tried to get a slice of the wealth belonging to the owner of a morning newspaper. The jury finds that the policeman went to sleep while on duty, in a cell on his beat, and that the reporter who got the "copy" was within the limits of the law in telling the facts.

TOM MALONEY PULLS OUT OF UNION

Our old friend Thomas Maloney has lost his familiar and oft-quoted title of "one of the labor leaders of Spokane." Thomas for years held membership in Federal union 11-624, which stood by his co-operative contracting plan as long as there was a chance to make good. After the failure of this plan and Thomas went into the field as an independent, he was no longer eligible to hold membership in the union, and he withdrew last Saturday night. Now it will be Thomas Maloney, "one of the leading contractors of the city."

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN BED

When Emergency Hospital Steward I. N. Dare arrived at 12 1/2 Main avenue early this morning in answer to a call for medical attention for Laura Buttler, he found the woman lying dead in her bed. Alcoholism, together with pneumonia, is believed to have caused the death, according to Coroner Schlegel, who was immediately notified. Dr. Hoxey was summoned to attend the woman last night, about 7:30 or 8 o'clock, and at that time, because of the weakness of her pulse, he told the landlady of the house and friends of the sick woman that there was little chance of her recovery. Laura Buttler came here from Wallace, Idaho.

HOW BABY, DESERTED

they were traveling and that under the present circumstances they could not very well keep the child with them.

This man was "Dorondo." You may remember "Dorondo," the actor, who appeared at the Pantheater last winter in a "jail breaking" act, the man who night after night publicly exhibited his wonderful feat for which he received no small sum. The woman was his wife.

They paid $5 in advance for the first week, and then they left town. As no more communication came from the parents, the officials at the home took steps to locate them, and a letter was sent asking for the allowance necessary for the support of the child. Dorondo wrote one letter in which he stated that he was surprised that the home, a charitable institution, should demand money from him with which to care for his own baby.

BROTHERS MEET AFTER 35 YEARS

E. H. Whitsel arrived in Spokane a few days ago from Springfield, Ohio. He came to see his brother, George Whitsel, whom he had not seen for 35 long years. He thought he would introduce himself in an original way. Mrs. Whitsel opened the door to a stranger who said he would like to look over the place with a view of buying it. She showed him about and Whitsel said he thought he would like to buy. Then George, returning from down town, appeared on the scene, and the brothers, long separated, knew each other instantly. They fell into each other's arms, while Mrs. Whitsel looked on and smiled joyously.

TWO SHARES LOST CONTROL FOR NORMANS

(By United Press Leased Wire) PORTLAND, June 9.—It was learned today that two shares of stock, worth about $400 on the open market, which were swung at the last moment at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Hotel Portland yesterday, enabled Day brothers to obtain control of the corporation, and to oust Norman brothers, although they control more than 49 per cent of the capital stock.

As an added feature to the situation as it stands today, Attorney George Joseph May, as the result of Day brothers getting control, may make an effort to compel the Normans and other stockholders to return the dividend of $90 a share, which was declared from out of the fund of $400,000 borrowed primarily by the hotel company for the purpose of making improvements.

DAINTY JAPANESE BRIDES JUST VICTIMS OF SLAVERS?

SEATTLE, Wash., June 9.—Officers of the United States immigration service are beginning to look on Seattle as the Gretna Green for almond-eyed maids from the land of cherry blossoms. They believe this city is the biggest slave mart on the Pacific coast and that Jap girls are bartered daily.

In the past five years more than 1500 Japanese marriages have occurred in Seattle. Twenty-five to 30 brides-elect arrive monthly. It looks like a system, and the inspectors are trying to trace the connections. One link seems to exist in the fact that the record of many marriages is later found in the divorce courts, while other couples are suspected of separating immediately after the ceremony, without the formality of law. The majority of the divorce petitions allege desertion a month or so after marriage and the authorities suspect a concerted plan to defeat the intent of the law which requires the marriage of a Japanese female before she may lawfully land in the country. The Japanese bridegrooms register from California, Montana, Idaho and other western states. The same crowd may be repeating back month after month. Identification is impossible. The Buddhist wedding rite—"Swear that you will live together forever, sharing pleasure and hardship"—doesn't scare the bride any more than the "till death do you part" frightens her American cousin. The fact that Japanese slave girls are found in Seattle and Tacoma adds color to the somber picture of deserted brides and if the suspicion of the inspectors can be supported, it will be found that a gang has been importing girls and going through the marriage ceremony for the express purpose of selling them into a life of slavery.
