PITCHERS' DUEL AT RECREATION

KILLILAY AND SHEA GARDNER AND SUGDEN

Vancouver opened here this afternoon for an eight-day series, closing with a double-header next Monday, Labor day.

A good deal of interest is wrapped up in the present series, for the reason that Spokane is but even games ahead of the Beavers. Good work on the part of Spokane in maintaining or its lead, or a series of reverses at the hands of the Beavers, may either settle or make uncertain the outcome of the race for the pennant.

There was a fair crowd for Monday present this afternoon when Umpire Ralph Fray said "play ball." Brooks, former Spokane catcher, is back again from the Twilight league, and appeared today in the uniform of the Indians. Danny Shea, recently hurt, is all right again and was on the practice line this afternoon.

Bob Brown has a new man named Householder in right field. He has just "moved in" and is said to be a slugger. Davis is another one that turned up in the Vancouver uniform this afternoon.

Levy officiated at second this afternoon. Cartwright will be back in the game tomorrow.

65 UNIONS IN LINE OF MARCH

Allied Crafts Will Be Grouped Together in the Parade.

All indications point to the Labor day parade next Monday being the best and biggest turnout of organized labor ever seen in Spokane under like circumstances. Every union in the city, with possibly one or two exceptions, of those affiliated with the Central Labor council and the Building Trades council, will be in line. A place in the parade will be reserved for the railroad workers if they care to participate. In all, at least 65 unions will be represented.

This year a new idea will be put into effect in the parade and that is the grouping of allied crafts into sectional divisions. In the first division will be the culinary and provision workers, in another all brewery workers, in another the printing crafts, then a miscellaneous section, including the federal unions, a division of the metal trades, and one for the building trades. The railroad workers will be taken care of if they care to march.

At the head of each section will

O'Kelly Looks Pretty Good

CON O'KELLY.

O'Kelly may some day be champion. He has the physical qualifications, proved his gameness under fire and possesses a punch. Whether he has the head and heart to carry him to the top is a question that must be answered manana. In action the big Celt shows Ryan's drilling, and that past master of the art of give and take is smiling contentedly, evidently well satisfied with the outlook.

OAKLAND, Cal.—Carmen Rodriguez, musician, and herself regarded as a musical prodigy, was fatally injured by being run down by an auto yesterday.

DENVER EXCITED OVERT R.R.

Roosevelt Enjoying Himself "a Mile High" Today.

(By United Press Leased Wire) DENVER, Col., Aug. 29.—A salute of 21 guns, the special salute of a president of the United States, boomed forth as Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, former chief executive of the nation, arrived in Denver today. It was only a small part of the noisy welcome given the colonel by the hundred thousand visitors gathered in the Colorado capital to greet the former president.

Roosevelt's train arrived a few minutes before 11 o'clock. As early as 8 o'clock the crowds had begun to assemble and by 10 a. m. they had overflowed from the big union station and streamed up the street, forming a solid mass of humanity many blocks long. It was the biggest crowd that greeted the colonel since he left New York. And it was the noisiest, too. The demonstration sounded like a national convention trying to outdo a long

WOMEN, TURN YOUR EYES UPON BERLIN

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Paris is losing its leadership as arbiter of the world's feminine fashions, according to a report today by the French chamber of commerce in Milan that Italian woman favor Unter der Linden, not Rue de la Paix, as a fashion center.

Unless French dressmakers bestir themselves, American woman will patronize the German modistes, it is said.

WHAT IS "CONSERVATIVE PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM?"

(By United Press Leased Wire) TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 29.—In spite of the fact that the insurgents will be in control, it is predicted that Kansas republicans, who will meet in state convention tomorrow, will adopt a "conservative progressive" platform. The radicals, who will seek to denounce the Taft administration, probably will fail, it is predicted, and the platform, while declaring for progressive ideas in national affairs, probably will endorse President Taft mildly.

THE MYSTERY OF "THE LADY WITH THE RED HAIR"

Thomas W. Lawson Says Her Blandishments Have Made Her Factor in National Affairs.

(By United Press Leased Wire) BOSTON, Aug. 29.—"I can not imagine a more interesting national episode than the one which would bring the 'Lady with the red hair' and her big storehouse of national and international scandals into the limelight," said Thomas W. Lawson today, declaring that he knows the identity of the red haired beauty, who, according to Mrs. Lillian Hobart French, nearly lured F. Augustus Heinze to ruin.

The mysterious woman who induced the prospective opponents of several American financiers to tell her secrets, that brought about their ruin; of the unknown siren who created a "trust owned" United States senator and who allayed an international scandal at Washington over the sale of an island to the United States, was first mentioned by Mrs. French, who is suing Heinze for $25,000.

Now Lawson, who at the time was in a position to know, declares that the lady with the red hair accomplished greater feats than worming financial secrets from ambitious millionaires for the benefit of a powerful coterie.

She has been a mighty factor in state, financial, federal and international affairs," said Lawson. "I remember the conference which Mrs. French tells of between Heinze, H. H. Rogers (now dead),

ST. MARIES VALLEY NOW THREATENED

The valley of the upper St. Maries is threatened by fire, according to reports received in Spokane this morning, and all that is needed to bring about a repetition of the Avery-Wallace holocaust is a brisk wind. Seven hundred employees of the Coeur d'Alene Timber Protective association are fighting the sporadic fires that now exist and it is only with the greatest difficulty that they have kept the flames from spreading up to the present.

The whole country is threatened, as there are now small and large fires in almost every part of the district south of the St. Joe. The homesteaders throughout the threatened district have been warned to leave their homes, but only a small proportion has so far heeded the warning. The fires in the Marble creek district have broken bounds three times so far, but at noon today were under control, as there is but a slight wind.

The terrible speed of the fire is hard to realize, but Head Ranger Debbitt has authoritative statements of where it went a mile and a half in one jump. The fire in the Clearwater district has been abandoned and will probably burn itself out. Meanwhile, there is nothing to do but to pray for rain and against wind.

There are just as good fish stories as have ever been caught.

AN INSURGENT TO THE FINISH---CONGRESSMAN MILES POINDEXTER OF SPOKANE HAS BEEN INSURGING ALL THE WAY AND IS STILL MOVING ON HIGH SPEED

BY ARTHUR THURSTON HILLMAN
Reprinted by Permission of "Human Life."

A LITTLE more than a year ago the legislature of the state of Washington was having stormy sessions over the burning question of local option. Opponents of the saloon had just received reinforcements in a delegation including the baseball evngent that's laying down the law" asked the state legislator of his colleague from Wauklakum. "Poindexter," was the reply. "Poindexter, Poindexter—who's he? Never heard of him."

"New congressman from the Third district."

"I'd never guess it. Me to shake his hand."

This indicates how little known was Miles Poindexter right in his own state at the time he was sent to Washington by the people of Spokane and their congressional district. Violating precedent, Poindexter has become a national figure in his first term in congress, and some of the most prominent senators and representatives are going out west soon to help him win a seat in the United States senate.

This indicates how little known Miles Poindexter, "progressive republican," was sent to congress on an anti-Cannon platform. His was the first far-western fight in which Cannon and Cannonism were the main issues. Up and down his district, which embraces the eastern half of the state, more than 30,000 square miles, Poindexter assaulted the battlements of entrenched power and cried for the return of the day when the popular house of congress should be freed from the crazdom of the speaker.

When he took his seat the newly elected member of the house began a consistent fight with the insurgent minority. He became a leading figure in the councils of the insurgent, adn was on the firing line when the opponents of Cannonism, democratic and republican, unhorsed the speaker, surprising the nation an dthemselves at their combined strength.

REFUSED TO COMPROMISE.
But Poindexter was consistent to the last; he refused to compromise. He had assailed Cannon and he would not change his attitude when the opportunity came for the absolute overthrow of the Davulise statesman. He voted for the Burdison resolution that would have removed Cannon from the speakership of the house of representatives.

So popular has the Spokane congressman become in his home state that not a single opponent has arisen against him in the eastern half of the commonwealth, while the western half, cut off by the Cascades, has numerous candidates who are dividing strength with each other and underestimating the following of Poindexter. Friends
