

POINDEXTER MAKES A GREAT SPEECH TO 6,000 IN SEATTLE

(By United Press Leased Wire) SEATTLE, Sept. 10.—Congressman Miles Poindexter, insurgent, who is seeking the primary nomination for United States senator from Washington, closed his Seattle campaign last night at the Dreamland rink, where a rally of Poindexter followers was held. The primaries are to be held next Tuesday. It was estimated that 6000 persons attended the meeting. Previous to the rally a band paraded the downtown streets. When the band reached the rink it was followed by a procession of 2000 persons. Poindexter was greeted enthusiastically by his audience when he stepped upon the speaker's stand. Poindexter said: "The question is not so much whether you shall have a senator from east of the mountains or a senator from the west of the mountains as it is whether you shall have a senator from Washington or a senator from St. Paul or Rhode Island. Seattle is destined to be a great city, but much of the greatness which destiny holds in store for it depends upon the development of free and untrammelled transportation systems, open alike and on equal terms to all the people. Within the next six years the Panama canal will be completed, and when it is completed the great vital commercial issue with Seattle and with the state of Washington is going to be whether the charges through that canal are made in your interests and in the interests of the state, or whether they are to be fixed for the benefit of the trans-continental railroads. John L. Wilson has withdrawn from this contest and he was my most formidable competitor. His following was to a large extent a personal following. Some of them are progressive, and most of them are good citizens. While some of them may now climb on the band wagon, it is already certain that not many of them will consent to ride on the delivery wagon."

"I DON'T DODGE, SO I'LL TALK," T. R.

(By United Press Leased Wire) COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10.—While Mayor Marshall of Columbus was sitting on the platform and troops set to keep order during the car strike paraded the crowd, Colonel Roosevelt today discussed the strike situation and denounced the authorities for their failure to suppress lawlessness. The address was delivered before a monster crowd at Goodale park. "Before I came to Ohio I knew the lamentable condition in Columbus," said Roosevelt. "I have been asked by letter and personally by members of both sides of the controversy here to speak. I will say frankly that I did not like to come but I like dodging less, so I came. It has been advertised that I would speak on law and order and I shall do so. I shall also discuss justice. "The first requisite of justice is the establishment of law and order. "Was to the man, official or private citizen, who does not realize this. We should abhor the conduct of a public servant falling to do his duty in this regard and we must equally condemn ourselves, the people, who are as much responsible as the public servants. If they are content with the mere enforcement of law and order and fail to learn whether justice has been done, we should use the whole power of the government to right this wrong. I can not say what the exact facts here are, but it is certain the broad principles are applicable. Beyond question many acts of lawlessness have been committed, including bombing and the using of that weapon of the worst, meanest, basest and most cowardly assassins—dynamite."

GIVE NEW CHARTER BIG BOOST

Representative Committee Chosen at Enthusiastic Meeting.

The movement for a commission form of government for Spokane was boosted forward several pegs at a meeting of friends of the commission plan held last night in the Elks' temple.

Entire harmony prevailed and at every mention of the good points of the commission plan there were outbursts of applause. The meeting was decidedly in sympathy with the purpose for which it was called, and not a single note of disagreement or division marred the proceedings. Through the Rev. A. C. Grier the committee that has been pushing the commission form presented a slate of 15 names for official charter commissioners, to be balloted for at the election September 27. The meeting unanimously endorsed the selection, pledged those present to support the ticket and then distributed printed cards containing the names of the candidates for charter framers, for use on the day of the election.

The 15 selected are C. M. Fassett, president of the chamber of commerce; B. R. Ostrander, ex-Fifth ward councilman; H. A. Jarvis, president of the Central Labor council; Thomas H. Brewer, Exchange National bank; Dr. E. D. Olmstead, ex-mayor; D. C. Coates, printer and labor leader; O. B. Nelson, storekeeper; J. Grier Long, Washington Trust Co.; Frank H. Walker, job printer and member of the pressmen's union; Zach Stewart, county treasurer; Samuel Evans, member of carpenters' union; John E. Blair, former corporation counsel; G. C. Corbaley, manager for the Arthur D. Jones Co.; W. A. Cliff, business agent Federal union 11624; H. M. Stephens, lawyer.

Judge Adolph Munter presided over the meeting and Dr. R. A. Munro was the secretary. A collection of $125 for a campaign was taken up and the chairman was authorized to appoint a campaign committee to take charge of the work.

CAVALIERI SAYS THAT SHE WILL REJOIN HER HUSBAND

(By United Press Leased Wire) PARIS, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Lina Cavaleri, bride of Robert Winthrop Chanler, today in a statement to the United Press, denied reports that she had forced her husband to transfer his property to her before their marriage and then cast him off with an allowance of $20 per month. She repeated her assertion that she expected to rejoin Chanler as soon as she is well enough to travel.

Pleading illness as a result of an operation recently performed in Paris, Mme. Cavaleri answered the questions of the correspondent through her maid. Frequently the diva raised her voice so high that the services of the servants were not necessary to convey her answers to the man waiting in the next room. THAT RUSSIAN PRINCE. "As I said recently," Mme. Cavaleri said, "I expect to rejoin Chanler as soon as I am strong enough to travel. I didn't wheedle his fortune from him and I did not throw him aside in favor of Prince Dolgorouki. The story has been fearfully exaggerated. "It is true that, both being of an artistic temperament, Chanler and I did not always agree on everything. But both of us have seen the world and both are broad minded and we were each willing to allow the other considerable latitude. This fact was seized upon by enemies to injure us."

PROFESSIONAL JEALOUSY. She declared, in answer to questions, that she did not believe that her husband had ever made any statement derogatory to her, but blamed her "enemies" for the trouble that has come between herself and Chanler. She intimated that jealousy on the part of members of the Metropolitan Opera company toward her was really responsible for the present difficulties.

Chanler, who now offers him $20,000 to pay his expenses. Further, they say, he transferred to her the bulk of his estate, the papers being signed before their marriage upon Mme. Cavaleri's demand. His friends fear his mind may become affected and some of them are with him constantly in his retreat, which they refuse to divulge, to keep him from brooding over his troubles. Chanler paid ardent court to the singer for more than a year. After frequent proposals he was accepted. They were married June 15. A cable from Mme. Cavaleri today denies any separation. The message was worded similarly to that she sent the day after Chanler's return.

BRAND STORY AS A LIE

Eight Scandinavian neighbors of Ben Newell, candidate for county commissioner in the Second district, have pointed in a petition branding as a lie the statement set abroad by H. P. Hanson, another candidate for the same office, to the effect that Newell was endorsed by the socialist and I. W. W.'s. Newell is endorsed only by the farmers and union labor.

MAYOR'S SECRETARY HAS HIS HANDS FULL

M. E. Jessop, secretary to Mayor Pratt, might poll a big vote among the laboring men if he wanted to run for any job within their gift in the city of Spokane, for there are at least 50 or 60 every week who pour into his ever willing ears tales of woe and injustice and seek remedial and official action. Employment offices and the men without jobs are ever at war, no matter where you go, and when they can't get what they consider justice from the manager of the employment office—being usually without money to hire a lawyer, or they wouldn't put up such a strenuous kick for their $1 or $2—they straightway hike down to the city hall and ask for the mayor. The mayor can't take up his time listening to all their tales, and he has delegated his secretary to look into the merits of their cases, settle them if he can, and turn them over to Corporation Counsel E. B. Morrill, or to himself, if he can't. Some of the men talk English, but a whole lot don't, and it is with the latter that the greatest trouble arises. The people at the employment office may have taken advantage of them because of their ignorance of American customs. It's a poor day when half a dozen or more don't drop in to see Jessop. Yesterday morning, between 9 and 11, he interviewed no less than 11. He says that in about 60 per cent of the cases the men are at fault, but that in the other 40 per cent he can usually make the agency come to time. If the agency is recalcitrant about remedying what he considers an injustice, Morrill is appealed to, and settles things finally.

SAPP GIVEN 30 DAYS; WEART IS FINED $1

Five times Gillis Sapp has appeared before Justice Samuel A. Mann in the police court, and this morning the fifth occasion proved one too many on the judge's patience. For the first time sentenced to 30 days jail, or $100 fine, the court adding in passing judgment that nothing would please him better than to send the young man to penitentiary for life, as he considered him a menace to the community and a dangerous man to have wherever women live.

MARRIED WOMAN RUNS AWAY; THEN TRIES SUICIDE

(By United Press Leased Wire) SEATTLE, Sept. 10.—Mrs. H. C. Dietrick, a young married woman of Portland, attempted to commit suicide in a most spectacular manner here early today as a windup of a "three days' visit" in Seattle. The woman told hospital attendants today that she ran away from home in Portland last Tuesday, leaving her husband and two children. Last night she purchased a quantity of bichloride of mercury and swallowed it, then tried to throw herself in front of a switch engine, but was prevented by Thomas Ray, who had been attracted to the woman by her peculiar behavior. At the hospital today it was reported that Mrs. Dietrick will probably die. "Oh, don't tell my husband," she whispered. "If I ever get well I will go back to him and never do this again."

For the week commencing tomorrow afternoon the Baker Stock company will offer for their second week's attraction, "Merely Mary Ann," at the Spokane theater. There she meets Lancelot, a clever young musician, but very poor. In her simple childish way she falls in love with Lancelot and wants him to marry her. He refuses, realizing their circumstances, but promises to love her always and come back to her should good fortune ever befall him. In the meantime, Mary Ann falls heir to great wealth from America and also acquires social graces as well. After years of separation the young genius writes an opera which brings him fame and fortune and the two young couple

JUDGE WEBSTER AND MARTIN CLASH AT PUBLIC MEETING

Judge J. Stanley Webster, candidate for election to the superior bench, delivered the severest exhortation of R. B. Martin, leader of the farmers' anti-graft movement, that that gentleman has ever heard, in his own presence last night at a rally held in the interest of some of the court house candidates at Greenacres. After the meeting, Judge Webster was introduced to Martin, whom he had not met before, and Martin complimented the judge on his ability in going after a man when he wanted to. Martin further complimented Judge Webster for his frankness in telling what he thought was true about a man, but assured him that in so far as the attacks made on himself were concerned the judge was wrong.

Judge Webster took Martin to task for going over the county giving the records of certain men now out for office, and said that among others Martin had attacked the judge. Martin assured Judge Webster that he had never gone after him, as he had some of the others. Judge Webster then offered Martin an apology, both men smiled and shook hands and parted. The meeting was presided over by Fred Pugh, candidate for prosecuting attorney. Other speakers were Mac Pugh, candidate for sheriff; O. B. Setters, candidate for justice of the peace, who is slated by the ring for police judge; H. P. Hanson, farmer, being boosted by the ring to down Ben Newell, candidate of the farmers and the unions; and C. H. Braden, candidate for congress.

IT'S A FIXED PLAN TO DEFEAT THE SECOND CHOICE BALLOTS

It leaked out today that the plan to have the standpat republicans write in or paste a second choice for congressmen whose name does not appear on the ticket has been reduced to a fixed, organized plan. "Vote for Seabury Merritt for first choice and any old fellow for second choice," is the slogan of the standpaters in the congressional fight. By losing the United States senator and gaining a standpat congressman the reactionaries force figure that they will be strong in the point of votes in congress as before.

WHICH?

(Continued from page one.) fighting for state conservation, in order that the big corporations may grab all the forest lands left to the public, or are you going to vote for Poindexter, who is upholding Roosevelt and Pinchot and LaFollette in their fight to keep the public lands under national protection? Are you going to vote for Burke or Ashton, who would be hand in glove with the railroads, or are you going to vote for Poindexter, whom the railroads hate because he has fought their encroachments upon the people's rights? Are you going to vote for Burke or Ashton, who would be the slaves of the Standard Oil bosses in the senate, and obey their every hint, or are you going to vote for Poindexter, who would be only YOUR representative in the senate, and who would help in the great movement to drive the private interests from the halls of congress? Which is it going to be? How will Spokane and eastern Washington answer the nation's question next Tuesday?

PRO-BALLINGERS IN SAME POSITION

(By United Press Leased Wire.) MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 10.—The decision of the anti-Ballinger members of the congressional investigating committee to ignore Chairman Nelson's order to meet in Chicago next week, if carried out, will leave the pro-Ballinger members of the committee in no better shape than their opponents.

Without the bolters they will be unable to muster a quorum. It is believed here that the Ballingerites will adopt a report at their Chicago meeting which later will be signed by Senator Flint of California. In this event they will have a majority of the committee, rendering their report a majority report. The Chicago findings, it is believed, will be published immediately after adoption.

Mr. Perley reviewed the beneficial laws already enacted for the protection of railroad employees, urged the passage of an employers' liability act fair to both employer and employe, and quoted statistics as to the number of railroad employes killed and injured annually. He heartily endorsed Mr. Merritt's candidacy for congress.
