

SULLIVAN CASE SHOWS SCANDAL

Dollar Browne's addition paving contract last April. proceedings are completed, 776

From all of this has come the well defined demand that when the city council has a transcript of the evidence made, and the present civil proceedings are completed, that there then a grand jury to go into the criminal phase of the case.

This morning William C. Donovan, attorney for Chief Sullivan, was subjected to a searching cross-examination by Attorney Frank Robertson, in which Donovan made very grave admissions.

The case will probably close this afternoon or this evening and Attorney Robertson will sum the testimony late this afternoon or tonight.

DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SULLIVAN TRIAL TESTIFIED TO LAST NIGHT

Man who lost $90 playing poker in Denny Sullivan's gambling room reported the loss to the police, was taken to the place by a police officer and demand made for a return of the money; Sullivan said the man lost only $5 or $6. No arrests were made. Officer McDonald testified, because "Denny Sullivan was a brother of the chief, and the thing was up to him."

Carl W. Tuerke, former police commissioner, testified to hearing of the police being paid $50 per month for protection of the houses of prostitution in the sale of liquor, after Tuerke had ordered that the sale cease. He called this to the attention of Sullivan, and the next day three women were arrested for selling liquor without a license. One of the women had previously testified to paying the money.

Mrs. Libbie Morgan, keeper of the Crystal lodging house, Main and Division, testified that months prior to October, 1909, tribute had been levied on her by Officers Lee Downey, Hogan and others whom she could not recall; that she paid from $5 to $10 per week and that girls who visited her house paid $5 and upward per week tribute, and that the graft had finally got on so strong that between the landlord and the police she was forced to give up the house to the girls themselves and move out.

S. A. Doyle, a private detective, told of being employed by W. C. Donovan, attorney for Chief Sullivan, until Donovan is alleged to have, in connection with Sullivan and M. J. Burns, chief of detectives, framed up the plot to entrap and ruin the editor of The Press, when Doyle severed his connection with Donovan. Donovan entrusted to Doyle the work of carrying out the plot, but Doyle on hearing of the details and receiving a visit from the woman in the case, a stool pigeon of the police, named Sadie Elyong, apprised the editor of The Press of the conspiracy against him and withdrew from all further relations with Donovan.

Doyle testified that on the day Donovan first told him of the Evong matter that he met Donovan and Jack O'Brien in a private room in the St. Nicholas hotel, and that the two men had up for consideration the matter of securing the contract for Browne's addition paving, for which Donovan said the J. F. Hill Co. had agreed to pay $40,000. Donovan tried to get Doyle to take up the paving job, but Doyle declined on the ground that it was too late to then enter into such a matter.

Doyle testified as to Donovan being mixed up in the effort to get possession of the $5,000 worth of diamonds stolen from two women of the Tenderloin. That the suspected thief, Joe Duffy, was a client of Donovan, and that Doyle had seen a letter from Duffy to Donovan, offering to pay him for his services with a diamond.

In his own defense, Donovan took the stand and confirmed Doyle on the fact that the detective and the attorney were together in most of the matters mentioned by Doyle. Any incriminating connection with any of the cases, however, was denied.

U. S. Will Sell Big Bunch of Indian Lands in Oklahoma

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—On November 15, the land office in the bureau of Indian affairs will begin selling at auction, or by asking for sealed bids, 1,657,418 acres of unallotted lands scattered through Oklahoma belonging to the five civilized tribes of Indians in that state.

farm won't begin to produce until the end of the coming season. It is almost out of the question for the average settler to bid on parcels of the grazing land, for, wherever the tracts are large enough, these lands are to be sold by the square mile—640 acres.

FEATHERS.

There falls with every wedding chime
A feather from the wing of Time.
You pick it up, and say "How fair
To look upon its colors are!"
Another drops day after day
Unheeded; not one word you say.
When bright and dusky are blown past,
Upon the hearse there nods
the last.
—Walter Savage Landor.

Today in History

Nov. 12, 1642, Prince Rupert, one of the loyal supporters of King Charles I. and Gen. Holles, a field commander for the parliament, met with their armies at Brentford, nine miles west of London. Parliament was then engaged in making war on the king, being different from the senate, which confines itself to peaceful pillage of the plain people. Prince Rupert defeated the parliamentary army that day.

WOULD BE BLACKMAILER IS JUGGED ON STREET

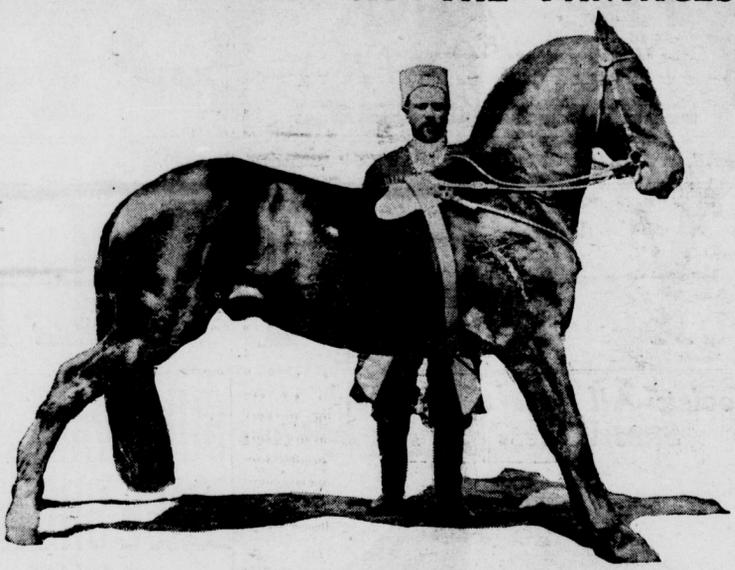

Harry Abnot was arrested at Howard and Main yesterday for attempting to extract money from Henry Youngman by pretending to be an officer. "Give me some money or you go to jail" was what Detectives Edwards and Bucholz heard Abnot say to Youngman.

DECORATIONS READY.

Decorations for the National Apple show at the armory are completed, according to William Seibels, who has had charge of the decorations. Bunting and American flags have been made into sunbursts and fans and festoon the building, making a riot of color.

Whenever a little child is born,
All night a soft wind
rocks the corn,
One more buttercup
wakes to the morn,
Somewhere.
"Did you ever make a mistake in a prescription?"
"Never but once," said the drug clerk. "I charged a man 55 cents for a prescription when he could have got 50 cents just as easily."

TRAINED HORSES AT THE PANTAGES

RICCOBONE BROTHERS' TRAINED HORSES AT PANTAGES THEATER NEXT WEEK.

The bill at the Pantages theater next week will contain another animal act, said to be the greatest ever—Riccobone Brothers' horses, including the world famed "Good Night" horse, a handsome sorrel who goes to bed just like a human being. These horses are not only beautiful animals to look at, but are as well trained as they are handsome, and their tricks demonstrate thoroughly what may be done in the line of animal training.

A singing trio, the R. A. G., said to be full of novel ideas and odd methods which have made them favorites on the circuit. They also possess good voices, which they use in singing the latest songs. The Haney company, Paris and ondon costume creators, will exhibit some of the costliest and most exquisite gowns in a very original and taking act.

A little playlet which cleverly combines pathos and comedy is the one which will be offered by Charles Howe and company, "A Broken Heart," which tells a story of interest to everyone. It is well staged and acted and will be sure to please the patrons of Pantages.

LOOKS LIKE A CINCH FOR COLUMBIA

(By United Press Leased Wire.) BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 12.—It looks like California is the correct prophesy for the Reuggers, who are waiting 20,000 strong for the pistol shot that will plunge the Stanford and California universities into the twentieth annual struggle this afternoon. The California fifteen is working like a perfectly well-oiled machine. They are playing on the town field; they are heavier than the cardinal team; they are more experienced and they are using what appears to be a more effective formation—the three two three pack.

QUEEN IDELL IS IN TOWN

Queen Idell I of the National Apple show was greeted by 500 people this morning as she alighted from the train. "I extend to you a most cordial welcome to our city," said Mayor Pratt, presenting her with the keys of the city in a beautiful gold casket. Her first command was that everybody have as good a time as possible while she was in Spokane and this announcement was received with shouts of approbation by the enthusiastic populace.

FIGHT WITH KNIVES

Hearing shouts and cries for help mingled with the clanging of steel on steel, Patrolman Benway last night burst into the cafe on Stevens between Main and Washington to find a full fledged knife battle in progress. Taking the situation in a glance, the officer gripped his pistol and with his night stick in the other hand, waded into the fray. As soon as the participants caught the glimpse of his tear they left very suddenly. The cause of the disturbance is unknown, and the place will be watched in the future.

HOGAN WINS OUT.

(By United Press Leased Wire.) COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 12.—Returns today insure the election of Timothy Hogan, democrat, as attorney general. Early returns left the result in doubt. A few scattering precincts remain to be heard from, but not enough are missing to cut down the lead which Hogan now has.

DRUNK; GETS OFF EASY.

Lawrence Jackson, arrested on the charge of drunkenness and fighting, was given a sentence of one day in jail in police court yesterday. Jackson stated that he had a job out of town to which he was anxious to return, as he was over his price; but his train did not leave till this morning at 8 o'clock, so Justice Mann thought it best to lock him up till that time to prevent him getting into further trouble.

GAMBLERS FLOCK TO FRISCO RACES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—The bookmakers, the tin horn sports, the horse owners and the riff raff that follows in the wake of the racing game are beginning to flock to San Francisco.

Before long this element will be congregated at the Emeryville race track, because today the course will be thrown open to the race followers, and, as in years past, the public will be bled for all it will stand, and perhaps just a trifle more.

Tom Williams, owner of the course and czar of the remnants of the game in California, has announced that there will be a 90 day meeting, but it will undoubtedly be extended to 120 days and possibly more if the public still has any money left at the end of that time.

The oral betting system will be in vogue. Despite the fact that the California legislature of 1908 passed an anti-gambling bill which was intended to end race track gambling in the state, there will be almost as much betting as in the old days of the block when odds were posted openly and bets recorded in plain view of all.

The only difference in the oral system is that the bookmaker has no stand; he must lean against a convenient post, and he gives no receipt in the form of a ticket to the man who lays his money with him. Mr. Citizen wants to make a bet. He walks up to the layer of odds and tells him the name of the horse and how much he wants to bet. Several minutes later a man walks up to Mr. Citizen and collects the coin. Mr. Citizen does not dare give it to the man with whom he makes the bet because that would be violating the law, so he hands it to the bookie's assistant. The bookmaker has the money and Mr. Citizen has to take his word for it that he will be paid off if he wins.

And for the privilege of operating at the race track the bookie will pay the race track corporation a daily fee of $10.

"The game will be good this year, come on out," is the message that has been flashed all over the country. And the tin horns and sure

OLYMPIC FLOUR THE APPLE SHOW

'Tis here again, the Apple Show. The third time, but not the last. Sure, it will come again and onward go. Fill us with wonder, as in the past. Apples are finest in the northwest. And dumplings, yum, yum, you know. How to cook them, which is best, is to use Olympic Flour for the dough.

RACING OPENS IN CALIFORNIA

(By United Press Leased Wire) EMERYVILLE, Cal., Nov. 12.—The opening handicap of the new California Jockey club winter races started under excellent conditions today, and in spite of the great counter attraction at Berkeley, an immense throng was in attendance to cheer the favorites to victory. The weather was ideal, the sun shining throughout the afternoon and just enough chill in the atmosphere to keep the enthusiasm of the bettors from bubbling over. The track was fast, the rain of Thursday having been just sufficient to put the course in great shape. Word from the paddock promised an excellent program of racing, and with the starter itching to pull the barrier, the first of the 100 day meet had its introduction under the most favorable auspices.

CHILD DROWNS IN OPEN CESS POOL. Frank Mesher, the 18 months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. N. Mesher of 721 Magnolia avenue, was drowned yesterday afternoon by falling into a cesspool at the home of C. Prince, 21303 Springfield avenue. Mrs. Mesher, with the child, was visiting at the Prince home, and the little boy went outside to play. Tattle about the yard he passed over the top of the cesspool and the rotten boards with which it was covered collapsed, precipitating him into nearly six feet of dirty water. When his mother came to call him a short time later, she noticed the hole in the top of the cesspool and upon peering into this hole, saw the top of her dead child's head at the surface of the water. Screaming, she threw herself into the filthy pool to rescue her child, and was rescued with difficulty herself.

MAID HAS STAYED INDOORS SIX YEARS. ELGIN, Ill., Nov. 12.—Miss Anna Baine, 40 years old, is the champion stay-at-home of the world. She hasn't been out of the Fosgate hotel here, where she works as a maid, for six years. Only three times has she been below the second floor of the hotel; once when there was an alarm of fire, and twice to inquire about some belated mail. She says she doesn't care to go out, but she has an extensive wardrobe, a number of stylish hats, and loves to pose before her mirror with her finery. Unless something unexpected happens she will stretch her record to seven years, for she doesn't expect to go out of the house until she goes back to her old home in England next September.
