

ANASTASIA DIGS UP THE AWFUL RECORDS

"According to the figures just announced from Washington," began Anastasia this morning, "you men have lapped up 163,000,000 gallons of liquor this year."

"How much did you say?" he asked thoughtfully. "Exactly 163,000,000 gallons," replied Anastasia firmly.

"Is it possible," observed Schnittzel. "What a lot of money we men do spend foolishly."

"Just think of all the orphans," Anastasia. "Think of all the good that would do in the world; the money you men spend for liquor and cigarettes cost you could have a mansion for every poor working woman and a little automobile for the newsboys."

MAN'S BRAIN RETURNS TO CHILDHOOD'S PAST.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 5.—Following a surgical operation in Chicago for the removal of a tumor from the brain, Jesse V. Taylor has been brought to his home in this city in the mental condition of a five-year-old child.

Physicians say that Taylor must now begin to learn as a child would and that it will be necessary to start anew in teaching him. Physically he is as well as ever, but there is small hope of his complete mental recovery.

AMATEUR CARPENTRY RESPONSIBLE

Amateur carpentry caused injuries to E. B. Tyler yesterday. Tyler was helping his brother-in-law repair a roof when the scaffolding broke and he was precipitated six feet.

MAN WINS IN AWFUL FIGHT IN QUICKSAND

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 3.—Gilbert Stephens is under the care of physicians in his home in Silver Lake Park, and may be weeks recovering from the shock of a long battle with death in quicksand last night.

Stephens had taken a short cut homeward, and stumbled into a depression which was formerly the bed of a small lake. The place is spotted with dangerous quicksands, and Stephens found himself in the grip of one of them.

HUSH, LITTLE ONE! SPOKANE GIRLS WOULD GIVE NO PARTY LIKE THIS!

CINCINNATI, Dec. 5.—University of Cincinnati girls believe that Cincinnati has been placed on the football map of the middle west by the victory of the local boys over Dennison university yesterday, and are going to celebrate with a "trouser party" next Monday night.

"The girls will dress in their brothers' clothes at their homes. Cabs will call for them and they will be taken to the university hall. In the girls' gymnasium, the 'freshies' will be waiting. Each girl will go in and choose her partner for the evening. It is to be an Adamless party from the beginning and only the doorkeeper, who is an elderly man, will be permitted to gaze on the attendants."

The girls have engaged a feminine orchestra. Already there are scores of plans among the young men students to see just how the party is held.
