ASTORS MIGHT HELP CHANLER

Relatives of Young Artist May Interpose to Save Fortune From His Wife.

MAY KEEP SINGER OFF STAGE AND RUIN CAREER

Reported That Wealthy New York Family Will Try to Force Diva to Annul Pre-Nuptial Contract With Her Husband—Contract Took Every Part of Fortune From Chanler and Is Iron-Clad—Astors Would Make Settlement.

New York, Sept. 17.—Pressure from an unexpected source may be brought upon Mme. Cavalleri Chanler to force her to cancel her claim to her husband's fortune based on an iron-clad pre-nuptial contract which the two entered into, became known today. The Astors, who are relatives to Chanler and control the Metropolitan Opera company, may conclude to make the appearance of the diva in America difficult and should they do so, the career of the songstress would be ruined. Chanler's family, it is said, will offer Mme. Cavalleri the lump sum of $10,000 and an annual income of $5,000 if she will declare the contract void and efface herself from her husband's life.

The pre-nuptial agreement was filed yesterday in the office of the registrar of New York county.

After defining the purpose of the agreement as designed to remove all doubts that might exist owing to the different nationalities of the principals to the law governing their mutual property rights, the document proceeds to state that, "in consideration of the sum of one dollar, paid, and said intended marriage," Chanler shall assign to his wife all his real estate, all his interests in the estate of the late Mrs. Laura Delano, subject to a mortgage of about $140,000 "for sole and separate use absolutely."

DEATH NEAR; BRIDE HAS MERRY FINISH

Phoenix, Ariz.—Mrs. Marguerite Falcone, twenty-one years old, died here in abject poverty after living as glittering a life as even the old days of the southwest could show, and after she had run through with $20,000 within six months. She died of quick consumption. Married less than a year ago to William Falcone, Mrs. Falcone discovered herself afflicted with the disease, so she and her husband came directly to Phoenix. They kept an automobile, and traveled as great a pace as is seldom seen in the light of day here. When remonstrated with by newly made friends, reluctant to drop her for her risky conduct, Mrs. Falcone calmly replied that she would soon be dead, and dead a long time, and she was going to enjoy every minute of time and every dollar of money she had.

"I have always wanted to go the pace," she said to them. "I suppose there is something in my blood that impels me to wildness. I am of the Illinois Snells, you know."

That was the only intimation the woman ever gave that she was of that prominent family. Her money began to run low, and seeing that the end of the purse and the woman's life was in sight, her husband took what she would give him and deserted her.

Then she forsook the consumptive colony, took apartments in the heart of the city and treated Phoenix to a glittering, dazzling, spectacular whirl of metropolitan night life. This, of course, hastened her death, but as the end drew near her money was spent faster and faster, until finally there was but enough to secure treatment in a hospital. Almost her last act before she died there was to give to a little girl whom she had befriended in her earlier Phoenix career the last dollar she possessed.

OSIFIED GIRL SUCCUMBS.

Death Ends Agony Patiently Endured for 13 Years in Bed.

Malden, Mass.—After spending 13 years in bed suffering from a gradually developing case of ossification, Miss Margaret Murray, 25 years old, is dead in this city. For the last few days the girl's entire body has been rigid, and the only sign of life manifest in it was a faint palpitation of the heart. The death certificate gives the technical name of the disease as antritis deformans.

Miss Murray's affliction took the form of inflammatory rheumatism and shortly after the first signs of ossification showed themselves. The ravages of rheumatism and the effects of ossification left her limbs stiff and distorted, and she had been able to take nourishment only in liquid form.

The smoke inspector of Chicago is named Kuss. That's what they have been doing to the smoke for these many years.

A SPECIAL WEST-END TRAIN FOR ROUND-UP

Another important change in train service for the Round-up was announced by Local Agent T. F. O'Brien last evening, when he told the committee, that instead of the motor car being run back to Umatilla in the evening on the regular schedule that a steam train would be provided for this service. This train will leave Pendleton at 4:35, run to Umatilla and return to Pendleton, bringing up the evening crowd. It will then leave for the west of the county again at 10:30.

The following is the schedule of the special train which will be run between Walla Walla and Pendleton each of the three days of the Round-up and in addition to the regular train service:

Train Will be Later, Saturday. The above will be the schedule for Thursday and Friday and the only difference Saturday will be that the train will leave Pendleton one half hour later giving all a chance to stay for the grand finale.

Cups Are on Display. Two of the cups to be awarded at the Round-up are now on display in local jewelry store windows and have been attracting considerable attention during the day. The larger of the two is at the Sawtelle store and is the one which is given by the Portland Union Stockyards company for the men's relay race. The other one is at the Schaefer store and is the one given by the Pendleton Commercial association for the winner of the lady's relay race.

Messrs. Morrey and Campbell have purchased the concession privileges from the Round-up association and persons desiring to secure concessions must get them through these men.

STANFIELD WILL BE AT DISTRICT FAIR

LITTLE TOWN WILL SEND BIG EXHIBIT

Subscribes $250 to Prepare Display—Will Give Away Carload of Melons.—Much Enthusiasm is Aroused. (Special to East Oregonian.)

Stanfield, Ore., Sept. 17.—Umatilla county's youngest incorporated town, Stanfield, will be present at the district fair and Round-up in Pendleton in full force. At a mass meeting of the citizens held last evening the sum of $250 was subscribed, on the spot, to assist in putting in an exhibit at the district fair that will be something different from the other exhibits. It was also voted to take up a carload of melons to be given away at the Stanfield booth.

Those present were of the opinion that Stanfield should have a day at the fair and Round-up and James Kyle of the arrangements committee, will be sent to Pendleton this evening to meet with the proper committees. If a Stanfield day is appointed, the schools and business houses will close and the entire town will leave in a body for Pendleton.

Aside from the carload of melons the Stanfield exhibit will be unusual in that young fruit trees will be shown growing in sage brush soil under irrigation and other unusual features will be added.

An organization for assisting in making the proper kind of showing was formed last evening, E. H. Brown being chosen chairman and William Rourke, secretary. The finance committee consists of Wheeler, Holt and Parker, while Kyle and Porter comprise the committee on arrangements. The enthusiasm manifested at the meeting was something unusual and indicates that Stanfield is on the map to stay.

Kaiser Will Exchange Breeding. Berlin.—In order to increase interest in the breeding of thoroughbreds in Germany, and thus better provide the best possible mounts for his cavalry, the kaiser has overcome his opposition to horseracing, and is considering the question of owning a few racchorses himself.

MONEY CRAZE HIS DOWNFALL

Adolph Rothbarth Occupies Cell in Tombs Because of His Plunging.

BORROWED LARGE SUM WITHOUT ANY SECURITY

Another Man Plays Wall Street Game Through Sheer Love of the Excitement and Sinks to Prison—Refuses Aid from Friends—Says He is Afflicted With Incurable Disease and Hopes He Will be Sent to Prison.

New York, Sept. 17.—Refusing aid from friends who offered to furnish bail, Adolph Rothbarth, who borrowed $225,000 from New York banks without security and was unable to repay the sum, is a prisoner in the Tombs today. He owes his downfall, he declares, to the "money craze" that prevades the atmosphere of New York. Rothbarth borrowed the money, he said, for experimental purposes. He wanted to play the Wall street game as he believed the great financiers played it. "I did not need the game," he said. "I wanted to play the money." Some men are lucky like Morgan and Rockefeller. Others like Morse and myself fail. Money is in the air in New York. People worship it. It's a mania, a disease of an incurable kind. I hope they put me in prison where the air I breathe will at least be different.

REGARDING RATES.

Charles Prouty Says Fact That Complaint Exists at Both Ends is Sign of Just Rates.

Spokane, Wash.—Charles Prouty, a member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, who presided at four sessions here September 13 and 14, to correct inconsistencies, inaccuracies and omissions, if any, in the schedule of rates made recently by that body in the Spokane case, said in an interview here:

"I think the traffic rates that apply to Spokane and the Pacific coast are about right. Both the coast merchants and the Spokane dealers are complaining. If only one side had grievances, there might be some cause for complaint, but as both are fighting, it seems as though the present schedule is about right."

The main fight of the Spokane merchants is to have the rate on carload lots and less than carloads made more equitable. They do not care much whether the commission lowers the carload rate or raises the price for smaller consignments.

The coast merchants ask that the rate from Portland, Tacoma and Seattle to Spokane be lowered, claiming that the low rate east to Spokane gives the eastern manufacturers a chance to put their goods in here cheaper than the coast people can.

Though the various railroad companies were represented, not a witness was called by them the first day. The testimony will probably come up before the commission for decision early in November.

ISIS SETS FASHION NEXT.

Arbitress Decrees That Beautiful Women Shall be Apart.

London.—Inspiration has come to Mme. Lucille from the slumberous east. As all the world knows, this great fashion expert is Lady Duff-Gordon, creator of the emotional gown and the dream dress.

Before long a violent reaction will set in against the tyrannical ugliness of the hobble skirt. And now that Mme. Lucille has got busy with a new idea, the hobble skirt is doomed.

This inspiration came to Mme. Lucille while inspecting the eastern robes and carpets at the Japanese exhibition. Her imagination was struck by a vision of flowing lines and simple elegance, and she then and there determined to garb women of fashion as women are dressed in the unchanging east. Before the year is out beautiful American and English women will be seen in their homes in gowns which would not have been out of place a century ago.

MORE GRAFT UNEARTHED

Expose of Crim.-Protecting Scheme in New York is Promised.

HIGHER-UPS PAID BIG SUMS BY UNDERWORLD

Revelations in Gotham Will Eclipse Those Made by Lexow Commission—Indications are That Police Have Been Paid to Ignore Crimes of Underworld—Higher-ups are Implicated and Big Shake-up is Threatened.

New York, Sept. 17.—Reports of revelations of police grafting in upper circles will result, it is declared. In the biggest shake-up among police known for years.

Reports of a conference have been brought to the attention of the acting mayor indicating stories of graft and crime protection which overshadow the famous revelations brought to light by the Lexow commission. It is said that dive keepers, questionable women and underworld characters have contributed regularly to the protection fund which went to the higher-ups. The grand jury has been summoned and the whole matter will be gone into next week.

The name of the officer who confessed the stupendous grafting ring has been kept a secret. It is said the story has been told to Acting Mayor Mitchell and District Attorney Whitman, who have determined to sift the matter to the bottom. More than one hundred witnesses from all walks of life will go before the jury.

WILL TRY TO MAKE FARMERS RAISE MORE HOGS HEREAFTER

Spokane, Wash.—Directors of experimental stations in Montana, Oregon, Idaho and Washington and officials of railroads and experts from other states will meet in the rooms of the Spokane chamber of commerce on October 4, to discuss ways and means of interesting ranchers and farmers in raising more hogs for the markets in the Northwestern states.

It is expected that this source of revenue will add millions of dollars yearly to the wealth production of the four states and keep at home hundreds of thousands of dollars, now sent to middle western states for pork products. Keen interest is centered in the movements in various parts of the Northwest, especially in packing house centers, and it is likely that concerted action will follow the session in Spokane.

The opening of the E. H. Stanton Packing company's plant in Spokane, with a capacity of 1,500 hogs a day, early in October, means that at least 300,000 hogs will be required in the local abattoir yearly, and if these can not be had in the country the firm will have to import them from other states. This is probably also true of houses in other parts of the country.

"The purpose of the meeting of the directors of the experimental stations in the four states is to outline a plan of action," said Edwin A. Smith, a member of a special committee of the Dry Farming congress, which has the matter in hand. "We expect to impress upon these educators in things agricultural and importance of the hog industry, and through them interest our farmers."

"It is proposed to have the stations issue circulars and pamphlets, showing what can be accomplished in growing hogs for the market and give such other data as is required by the farmers."

FORGER Baffles Police.

Norwegian Authorities Troubled by Dane Wanted in New York.

Christiania, Norway.—Leon Hansen Marchen, wanted in New York for embezzling $5000, is giving the Norwegian police lots of trouble, and they will be glad to have him extradited—when they can effect his transport. But he is a slippery customer. He was arrested on a farm at Botli in the Jarlsberg district, where he had been living for some weeks, under the name of Lund. A detective of the Christiania force took him in charge and lodged him in Holmstrand jail.

But in the early hours of the morning the guards nodded drowsily, and Marchen gave them the slip. Since then he has kept his pursuers on the run, for he is an active Dane, 31 years old, and he knows the country well. His wife, a Norwegian came to Norway with him and was standing at the Botli farm when he was arrested. Not until the steamer leaves with Marchen aboard will the Norwegian police breathe freely.

Hon. C. A. Barrett of Athena, anti-assembly candidate for joint senator, is down today in the interest of his candidacy.

PETERSON FOR SELLING BAD BOOZE

Four hundred dollars is the price which Ed Peterson was compelled to pay for selling intoxicating liquor in violation of the local option law. Peterson is the proprietor of the Meacham near beer saloon and was indicted yesterday morning by the grand jury on four counts. He was released temporarily under $300 cash bonds but later entered a plea of guilty to two of the counts and was fined $200 on each.

On condition that Peterson pack up his goods and leave the county, the other two counts will not be prosecuted. This was agreed to by the near beer man and the town of Meacham will soon know him no more.

Court is Postponed.

Owing to the fact that the attorneys are not ready for trial in some of the cases set for next week all court business has been postponed for two weeks. This will carry it over until after the primaries, district fair and Round-up, a consumation devoutly desired by the court attorneys and citizens in general.

The case against W. W. Atfield, charged with stealing $500 from the American Express company at Umatilla, will probably be the first one tried, it having been set for October 3. It is understood that Attorney W. W. Cotton, representing the express company, will assist District Attorney Phelps in the prosecution of the case.

This afternoon, J. H. Maxwell entered a plea of guilty to the charge of assault and battery and was fined $50. He is the man who shot a saw-mill employe in the head in the Meacham near beer saloon.

Paul Jones, the Indian accused of stealing a horse from his uncle and Clarence Ogilvy, the Pilot Rock boy who stole the band of horses, each pleaded guilty and will be sentenced Monday.

Ryther Gets Two Years.

Victor A. Ryther, who stole the horse from the City stables, was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. He pleaded guilty yesterday.

Not true bills were returned in the case of J. H. Fox, accused of obtaining money under false pretenses, Walter Arnold, accused of larceny from a store and Fred Welsh, accused of destroying wheat sacks.

MILTON BOY DIES OF POLIOMYELITIS

PAINE EICHENBERGER EXPIRES IN WALLA WALLA

Strange New Disease Claims Another Victim From Umatilla County—Had Been Afflicted Only One Week.

Walla Walla, Sept. 17.—Paine Eichenberger, the Milton young man who has been lying at a local hospital afflicted with acute myelitis since a week ago, died at 11:30 o'clock last night. His age at death was 21 years and 10 days.

The disease from which the lad suffered was of the nature of infantile paralysis and from the first his recovery was pronounced impossible by the physicians. Several weeks ago the young man had a severe carbuncle on his cheek. He worked for several days after he believed the cheek to be well, but the poison from the sore permeated his system so thoroughly as to bring on the paralysis of the lower limbs. After being brought to the hospital he gradually became nearer to his heart and lungs until death came. Every thing in medical power was done to relieve him but to no avail.

Mrs. Flora Eichenberger, mother of the lad, was telegraphed at her home in Ozark, Arkansas, as soon as the seriousness of the case was known. She arrived in Walla Walla Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock and her son was able to talk to her a short time. He became unconscious soon after her arrival, but rallied again before death. Those who survive him are his mother, two brothers, R. A. Eichenberger of Milton, and Henry Frank of Ozark, Arkansas; four sisters, Mrs. Lillie Prothro, Mrs. Selma Moore, and Miss Hallie Eichenberger of Ozark, and Mrs. Emma Davis of Rowland, Oklahoma. The youth was born in Ozark. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Politicians Delayed.

Attorney General A. M. Crawford, Senator T. B. Kay and Senator Albert S. Abraham, candidates for the republican nomination for the offices of attorney general, state treasurer and governor, passed through Pendleton this morning on westbound train No. 1. They were all thrown behind their schedule by a slide on the Oregon Short Line which prevented No. 5 from coming through last night. None of them will be able to keep his engagements for tonight. Abraham was due to speak in Salem this evening while Crawford was due to be in Portland at 2 o'clock.

TO DISSOLVE SUGAR TRUST

Department of Justice Preparing Suit and Will File it in New York.

WICKERSHAM TO HAVE PERSONAL SUPERVISION

Suit Similar to That Brought Against Standard Oil Company Will be Filed Against Sugar Trust Seeking to Dissolve It—Action Will be Brought by U. S. District Attorney in New York But Attorney General Will Take Charge.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—A suit seeking the dissolution of the sugar trust has been prepared by the department of justice and will be filed in New York. Action will be brought by the United States district attorney in New York and Attorney General Wickersham will have the personal supervision of the action. He is now in New York preparing to institute proceedings. The suit is similar to that brought against the Standard Oil company and its subsidiaries which was decided in favor of the government but is now on appeal before the United States supreme court.

The case against W. W. Atfield, charged with stealing $500 from the American Express company at Umatilla, will probably be the first one tried, it having been set for October 3. You can't expect to find a very high value placed upon religion in a country where you can get a whole set of gods and goddesses for two or three dollars on the easy payment plan.
