ECHO CELEBRATES FOURTH SANELY

PARADE AND FIELD EVENTS SCORE DECIDED HITS

Days Observance Ends With Brilliant Display of Fireworks and Dancing.

(Special Correspondence.)
Echo, Ore., July 5.—The city of Echo celebrated the fourth yesterday in a very patriotic way, and not an accident of misfortune clouded the entire day. It was truly "safe and sane fourth."

The firing of anvils and giant fire crackers which usually greet the national holiday began at an early hour and continued throughout the morning. The weather was ideal and large numbers from the neighboring towns and the surrounding country were present to witness the parade which formed at 10:00 o'clock a. m. The parade was headed by the liberty car. Miss Agnes Donahue, as the Goddess of Liberty attended by her four maids of honor, the Misses Eugenie Scholl, Opal Callison, Thelma Malcolm and Audrey Watenburger, and surrounded by little girls dressed in white to represent every state in the union, presented a beautiful appearance.

Following the car were tastefully decorated floats, automobiles and carriages. Excellent music was furnished by the Echo Cornet band. One of the most interesting features of the day was the program. The address of welcome was given by Mayor Stanfield and the declaration of Independence was read by Prof. L. W. Keeler. The oration which was delivered by Judge R. R. Butler, of Condon, held the undivided attention of the entire throng and was pronounced the best ever heard in Eastern Oregon. The male quartette of which Echo is justly proud, favored the audience with several selections.

The first number on the program in the afternoon was the ball game between Hermiston and Stanfield. It was a hotly contested game and the best playing that has been seen here for some time. The game was well attended and Stanfield won both first and second prizes which was $40 and $20 respectively.

The races followed immediately with the following results:
Saddle horse race, the first prize was won by O. Thomas, second by Joe Canha.

Men's foot race, first prize by Chas. Hoskins, second prize, F. Hammer. Ladies foot race, won by Miss Lois Lambert; second prize by Miss Scheerer.

Girls' foot race, first prize, Miss Hageman of Hermiston; second, Miss Oris Loughry of Stanfield.

Boys' foot race, first prize, Dale Hinkle of Hermiston; second Gordon Hoffnagle of Echo.

Sack race, first prize, John Fulford; second, Ray Castle.

Fat man's race, won by R. B. Stanfield.

The three-legged race was won by Hoffnagle and Hoskins.

A beautiful display of fire works was given in the evening and the day was completed by a grand ball, to music furnished by the Barkes' orchestra.

Mrs. Hannah Barker who has been visiting with her sister Mrs. David McCarty of Butter creek left this morning for her home at Salem.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

County Court Meets.

The regular monthly meeting of the county court was convened this morning with all of the members of the court present. The auditing of bills took up most of the time of the session today.

City Sues Another Indian.

Another suit has been filed by the city against an Indian woman in its efforts to secure possession of a tract of land on the reservation necessary for the construction of the gravity water system. The defendant in this second case is We-la-lot-sa-mi who has title to her land. The city places a valuation of $850 on her tract.

Girls' Assault Not Found.

Despite the efforts of the local officers, the man who attacked Sarah Doherty and Mary Lafferty Saturday night but who was fought off by the former, has not yet been found. Miss Doherty says she was carrying a pocket book at the time she was hurried to the ground and thinks robbery might have been the motive of the attack.

Five Celebrated Too Much.

Five of the celebrators of the Fourth yesterday specialized too much in the form of their celebration and as a result were booked this morning on charges of "being drunk." John Snell, William Jones and Frank Adams each drew three days in jail. W. J. McMaster drew five for fighting as well as drinking, and G. W. Clay paid his five dollars rather than take a jail sentence. A good many others who were jailed in the morning were released in the evening when they had sobered up as the capacity of the bastille was overtaken.

Will Sell Royalty to Patent.

F. J. McMonies and Lester Hamley, both members of the firm of Hamley & Co., makers of saddles and harness, left this morning for Portland where they will sign up a contract with a wholesale saddle house by which they sell their royalty to their patent cincha rigging which has proved to be one of the most valuable inventions for the saddle industry made in a number of years. The local company has received a number of offers from big saddle houses in the past few weeks but have turned them down until the one which came yesterday. The figure named it was so large that it could not be turned down. Hamley & Co. will reserve this section of the country for themselves by the terms of the contract.

FOURTH HERE WAS UNMARRIED (Continued from page one.)

With Gordon and Kimball, old teammates in the high school, being leaders, the former winning by a small margin. Among the most interesting of the events was the mile exhibition race between Boylen, the high school star, and Miller, member of University of Oregon's championship team. Both men breasted the tape at the same time after a fast spurt down the straightaway. Kimball won the hurdle race with J. Dickson following close behind for second.

Wild Mule Race.

By far the most exciting of the events was the wild mule race in which five entries had to saddle their animals with the help of assistants and ride once around the track. As a mule is by nature stubborn and obstinate, and as none of them had ever been ridden before, the feat was a difficult one and was not accomplished until half an hour had gone by. Several of the mules were bad buckers and nearly unseated the riders. Finally Sloan, by virtue of perseverance, managed to get his mount to the finish and was followed soon by Breeding. George Fletcher took third as he came nearer finishing than any of the other contestants. Sloan was rewarded with the handsome fifty dollar saddle put up by Hamley & Co., while Breeding drew the bride ordered by Carl Weissert and Fletcher the Round-up hat given by the Alexander department store.

Kicked by Mule.

Just before the race, young Cargill, who was to have been one of the riders, jumped on his mule bareback and was tossed into the air after a few jumps. He gamely got on to the race until he was dragged some distance and kicked in the forehead. The injury, fortunately, was not serious, but Cargill could not enter the race.

Following the wild mule race, Pendleton and vicinity put on a splendid exhibition of fireworks, an account of which appears elsewhere in this paper.

Fireworks Didn't Come.

The only disappointing feature of the celebration was the fireworks and this is not to be charged up to the committee. A splendid collection was ordered from Los Angeles and was shipped on June 22 and was lost on the road and could not be located despite the strenuous efforts to trace it by the committee and the company. At the last moment such a collection as could be gathered in this city and Walla Walla was secured and shot off on the south hill opposite the J. R. Dickson home between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock.

Many Attend Dances.

Hundreds of the celebrators went to the Eagle-Woodman and Armory halls last evening to the dances given by the committee and until midnight waltz and two step followed each other in rapid succession.

A fight of two and a man with a fit have furnished post Fourth of July excitement here today. Late in the forenoon a transient laborer who was standing on Webb street towards the rear of the Masonic building fell to the street in a fit. He struck his head upon the curb with such violence as to cause him to bleed profusely. However he was soon revived and went his way.

About 2 o'clock a fistie encounter occurred on Main street directly in front of the Brownfield-Matlock building between a white man and a colored fellow. It was a one round affair and according to spectators the decision should go to the man of the Jack Johnson hue.

Immediately following this affair a man standing inside the Brewery Depot saloon, owned by Paul Hemmelgarn, met with trouble in some form and the excitement caused a dense crowd to pack that resort and the sidewalk in front thereof. According to the bartender in the saloon he saw a man fall but could not tell whether or not he had been struck by someone.

BRITISH ASPIRANT KNOCKED OUT BY WOLGAST

the loop punch, a right uppercut to the face outside his own left arm that snapped the Britisher's head back again and again and kept his mouth bleeding from the first round.

At long range Moran clearly out-pointed the Michigan boy and his clever ducking and footwork extricated him from many a tight corner. It was a battle of a clever experienced boxer against a tearing ripping fighter and the fighter weathered the storm with never a sign of distress. It was a rough fight from the start.

As the first round opened Moran came willingly to close quarters but was met with a volley of short lefts to the face and a right uppercut that brought the blood in a stream from his lips. It was the champion's round by a wide margin and Moran came back for the second with instructions to stay away. With wonderful judgment or distance, he slipped away from Wolgast's vicious swings, flashing in with clean cut lefts and rights as the champion opened up. It was Moran's round and he continued to pursue the same tactics throughout the fight. When forced to close quarters in the third, Moran fought back viciously. They roughed it head to head. Wolgast working his right to the kidneys and body and Moran ripping his left hand and forearm into Ad's chin and face and holding the champion even. Both were bleeding when the round closed. Moran seemed to gain confidence as the fight progressed. Shifting in and out as lithe as a panther he landed cleanly again and again throughout the fourth, fifth and sixth rounds, rocking Ad's head with hard, clean punches and making Wolgast look almost like an amateur by the way he avoided his swings. His cleverness brought round after round of applause but he never stopped Wolgast's steady advance and Wolgast plainly was the stronger, laughing and nodding to friends among the spectators between the rounds.

In the seventh Wolgast forced the Englishman to the ropes where they fought toe to toe until parted by the referee, Moran having all the better of the exchange but Wolgast evened matters before the round was over by his wicked uppercuts. Wolgast continued to bore in and although Owen crossed his right again and again to Ad's head in the eighth and ninth rounds, he was unable to stop him or slow the furious pace and seemed to be weakening fast.

His seconds worked desperately over him and he came up in the tenth and eleventh rounds with a burst of speed that fairly smothered Wolgast. Timing every blow to perfection, he whipped in rights and lefts, landing straight lefts, right hooks and swings with a speed and force that slowed the champion for the first time. He fought himself out of close quarters as Wolgast attempted to clinch and beat the champion to punch after punch in the exchanges.

His effort was but a flash in the pan, however. Wolgast, strong as an ox, came in eager for more in 12th and while Owen continued to land the more often, Ad loosened his teeth and started a fresh stream of blood from his mouth and the challenger went to his corner in distress.

But 33 seconds of the 13th round had passed before the rally came that dimmed Moran's hopes of becoming lightweight champion into merciful unconsciousness.

In his dressing room Wolgast said: "It was easy all the way. I would have had the decision if the fight had gone to the end. Moran's claim that I fouled him is foolish. He went down because he couldn't hold on any longer. I pitted him in the stom-

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE A STOCK RANCH?

I have 480 acres, 200 of some tillable, black rich soil, will grow grain, alfalfa and fruit, all fenced, never falling spring of water. This land is close to the reserve in the foot hills, and is an ideal hog ranch. $8.00 per acre will buy it.

I have other tracts from 1000 to 15000 acres in a body at prices ranging from $8 to $15 per acre. Having 12 years experience in the stock business in this county, I am in a position to show you some of the best propositions to be found.

In Pendleton I have business property, residence and suburban homes at low watermark prices. Come and see me.
