

WEST CALLS ON JUDGE TO MAKE COVE DRY

GOVERNOR SAYS HE IS POSITIVE SALE OF LIQUOR IS ILLEGAL THERE.

Sends Communication to County Judge Henry of Union, Following Conference With Miss Fern Hobbs, Who Returns from Investigation of Conditions in That Town.

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 25.—Governor West yesterday, after a conference with Miss Fern Hobbs, his private secretary, upon her return from Cove, where she went to investigate saloon conditions, wrote County Judge Henry of Union county, requesting him to issue an order of prohibition in the town.

The governor said he was positive that the sale of intoxicating liquor in the town was illegal and he would see that it was stopped.

His letter to Judge Henry was as follows:

"It appears that when the local option election was held in your county in November, 1910, the municipality of Cove voted 'dry,' and, in accordance with section 4929, Lord's Oregon Laws, the county court should have issued an order of prohibition as to said precinct, but owing to its failure to do so the sale of liquor within its boundaries has been permitted to go on regardless of its having voted 'dry.'

"For your information, I wish to call your attention to the case of Baxter vs. the state, 49 Oregon, 353, in which the supreme court held, referring to said section 4929:

The effect of this language is that the vote in each precinct even on a vote cast for the county as a whole shall stand as an independent vote for that precinct for prohibition there-in as well as a part of the county vote on prohibition in the county as a part of the county vote on prohibition in the county as a whole.

"In view of the foregoing and with a hope of straightening out the tangle which now exists, I earnestly request that your honorable court issue the said order of prohibition, as provided by law."

Miss Hobbs said that her trip was one of business strictly and that she was given the best of treatment by the officials of Union county.

"I found," declared Miss Hobbs, "that in 1910 two measures were voted upon in the county that failed to carry but under the one on county prohibition the precinct of which Cove is a part gave a majority of 10 for prohibition.

"The court made an order declaring the whole county 'wet.'

"The Law and Order League and other organizations declared the order was wrong as it applied to the Cove precinct and that it should have been declared 'dry.'

"There has been no vote on the proposition since the election of 1910.

"I found that Justice Eakin of the supreme court, in the case of Baxter against the state, appealed from Coos county, held that the county court shall issue an order of prohibition for each and every subdivision as a whole voting prohibition, notwithstanding the county as a whole voted against prohibition.

"It seems to me that the law is clear on the point, but I don't know just what the governor will do."

VIN MOORE COMPANY IN "THE IRON TRAIL"

In spite of the rain and numerous other counter attractions, the Vin Moore Co. at the Alta theater played to another good house last night. The play, "His Brother's Keeper," is a neat little comedy drama in three acts, and the story it tells and the moral it teaches is better than a sermon. Howard Foster, as the good father, played a difficult role in a highly pleasing manner. Tonight Mr. Moore will present a new play of railroad building, "The Iron Trail," a strong, virile drama in four acts. Miss Murdock will play the part of the girl, who puts up a great fight against the railroad. Mr. Van Dyke is cast for the role of Ashby the young engineer, and Miss Mitchell will be seen as the girl who saved him from drowning. Mr. Moore will be seen as the good natured foreman, and Mr. Foster as Murray. Only four more days of the Vin Moore company. It will pay you to see the "Iron Trail" tonight.

What the Press Agent Has to Say of Present and Coming Attractions.

Fasttime—Tuesday-Wednesday.

A story that will rank up with the best two-part comedies is "Jerry's Uncle's Namesake," and there is continual laughter in this Vitagraph. The parts are played by the best that could have been selected—or surely none better could have been found. The fun comes from the story as well as in the excellent acting. Sidney Drew is Jerry and Louise Beaudet is Mrs. Jerry. These form one team of the combination. Then there are William Shea and Kate Price for another. Roger Lytton, the uncle of Jerry, contributes his share of the funmaking and Ethel Lloyd, the maid makes much of her part.

Barry O'Moore and Bliss Milford will appear in Edison's "On the Great Steel Beam." One of the most sensational scenes ever attempted shows a man hanging by his hands from a swinging beam seven stories above the ground. His rescuer climbs a rope and while suspended in mid air himself, catches him as his fingers slip off the beam.

Selix presents, "Thou Shalt Not Kill." The action and environment in this feud play in the mountains of Tennessee suggest stirring times and attractive surroundings.
