World's Largest Elephant

The Giant Elephant Jumbo Successfully Exhibited by Barnum Years Ago.

When the peer of all showman, P. T. Barnum, announced that he had secured for exhibition purposes the elephant Jumbo, every boy and girl throughout the land read the news with tense interest.

Jumbo was the giant among the giants. The elephant is the most mammoth beast which roams forest or plain. His principal feature of attractiveness and interest is his size.

With characteristic shrewdness, P. T. Barnum realized the vast possibilities in transporting and exhibiting about the country this most colossal representative of the elephantine world. According to Barnum, all other elephants were pygmies by comparison. For several seasons Jumbo was a source of delight and admiration to millions of people.

The Jumbo 20-act Circus, now being handed out by The East Oregonian to the boys and girls of Umatilla county is the giant sensation of Toydom. It is the biggest amusement and funmaker ever devised.

It was named after the giant elephant Jumbo because of its completeness and surpassing greatness.

There are twenty acts each ten inches high, mounted on cut-out cardboard, beautifully lithographed both sides. Its ingenious construction enables the child to place the acts in an upright position on the curved base. A touch sets it in motion; the result is a lifelike representation of a real circus in action.

Read the FREE circus ticket printed in another column and learn how to get it on terms so easy you will want it at once.—Adv.
