The Care of Children

SCHOOL VACATIONS. Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, insists that there should be some kind of school activity for most children in the summer months. He is opposed to what he calls the "long, wasteful vacation," insisting that some kind of instruction should be provided.

Dr. Claxton says that school takes at the most 900 hours a year out of 5110 waking hours. Assuming ten hours of sleep for children each night the average child spends about 600 hours in school and the remaining 4510 waking hours out of school. Summer work, the commissioner says, should last not longer than four hours, from 7 or 8 o'clock to 11 or 12 o'clock in the forenoon.

The prediction is made that the school of the future, both in summer and winter, will give less time to intensive study and more time to productive work, under supervision of instructors, in shops, out door gardens or in the home. It is urged that with this kind of an organization it would be easy for children to do ordinary school work three hours a day, six days a week, through eleven months in the year. At the same time the children would contribute largely to their own support by well directed educational work, either at home or in the school, thus making it possible for the great majority to remain under instruction throughout the high school period.

The suggestion that vacations be abolished may appear to be in the nature of a major operation. The children, at least, would consider it so. But there is already a tendency to utilize the summer period under direction of competent supervisors. School gardens are an indication of this tendency, and there is increasing effort on the part of educators to keep in touch with children the year through.

Home Hints and Recipes

Hinged Comb. A hinged comb is an old idea just introduced, says the Washington Herald. When the comb is placed in the hair the top bends down flat against the head. It comes in plain amber or fancy rhinestone effect.

Black Ornaments. Strings of cut jet beads are obtaining a greater vogue with every week that goes by. Black velvet bracelets, clasped with rhinestone monograms, are worn closely about the wrist, says the Indianapolis News. Huge black o'clock roses are pinned against afternoon frocks, and the very latest Paris fad is a cabochon of onyx surrounded by pearls, fastening the airy material of a white tulle bodice at the bust.

LOCAL WOMAN WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

MRS. IDA HAMBLEN WILL HEAD DELEGATION OF 30 WEST-ERN R. N. A.

Mrs. Ida Hamblen of this city, supervising deputy of the Royal Neighbors of America for Montana and Idaho, leaves tomorrow at the head of thirty western delegates to the thirteenth supreme session of the order which opens next Monday morning at Rock Island, Illinois, and this western delegation has planned a surprise for the convention in the form of a Westward Ho parade. Gowned in white and carrying purple and white pennants, they will take possession of the hall at the opening session Monday, parade about the hall and end their demonstration with the presentation to the 25 supreme officers Indian robes, the most typical gifts of the west. Mrs. Hamblen will herself make the speech of presentation.

The Indian robes, with the exception of a few presented by the management of the woolen mills in this city, Oregon City and Eugene, will be purchased of the Pendleton Woolen Mills from funds contributed by the lodges in the different states represented in the movement. The Royal Neighbors and Modern Woodmen of this city each presented one.

Mrs. Hamblen has been identified with and also employed by the Royal Neighbors for the past 20 years. It was she who recently conceived the idea of combining eleven of the western states and British Columbia into what is termed the "United West" delegation, which represents 91,000 members, 676 local camps, 29 delegates and four supreme officers.

The purpose of this movement was to gain strength by union and to bring the west as a section, with its needs and possibilities in Royal Neighbor work before the supreme convention, with the hope of gaining more recognition and cooperation in the efforts put forth for betterment of western conditions.

This fraternal, beneficial society, which is auxiliary to the Modern Woodmen of America, has a membership of 219,000 members. In addition to the 290 supreme officers and delegates who will make up the legislative body at the convention it is estimated there will be 2000 visitors in attendance.

EXPLORER'S WIDOW DENIES REPORTED ENGAGEMENT

Sir James E. Barrie, the noted playwright of Great Britain, whose reported engagement to Mrs. Robert F. Scott, widow of the noted explorer who sacrificed his life in attaining the goal of his ambition, the South Pole, has been denied and termed "foolish" by Mrs. Scott herself. Despite the denial of Mrs. Scott there are many society folk in London who still give much credence to the report.

CUP DEFENDER TO GET OVERHAULING

SEVERAL CHANGES WILL BE MADE IN YACHT TO MAKE IT SPEEDIER.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 12.—(Special)—Preparations are being made at the Herrshoff shops at Bristol to haul out the cup defence sloop Resolute in order that the chains which hold the centerboard may be replaced with new and stronger links and that the possibility of another mishap when the centerboard dropped, may be averted.

The Resolute has been in the north pier since she returned from her spin of last Monday morning. A new and lighter steel gaff is to replace the hollow wooden gaff taken off. The sails were also taken off the yacht and stored. The crew was busy about the yacht yesterday morning but nothing was done towards hauling her out in the cradle on the railway, up to 1 yesterday afternoon. Her long mast is to be left in her while she is hauled out. The centerboard box at the bottom of the lead keel is to be examined to ascertain if everything there is all right after the drop of the board.

There has been some talk of the present mast being taken out and the lighter steel mast which has been made, stepped in the mast hole a few feet forward of the present step of the spar. The two steps are but about four feet apart and the lighter mast when stepped will turn the yacht about the same as the present spar does. A longer bowsprit will also be shipped, providing for about the same amount of square feet of head sail.

FANS ARE HOSTS TO PENDLETON'S TEAM

DINNER GIVEN LAST EVENING IN HONOR OF JUMP INTO FIRST PLACE.

In token of their admiration for the game fight the Buckaroos made last week with a crippled team, a fight that put Pendleton at the top of the Western Tri-state league for the first time in three years, local fans were last evening hosts at a dinner for the members of the team. The dinner, which was really a banquet of savory dishes, was given at the St. George Grille at 7:30.

President R. W. Ritzer of the league and H. W. Collins of the local club originally planned to give the dinner but many other enthusiastic fans came forward voluntarily and asked to share in the compliment to the team. The ball boys and other guests appreciated the courtesy and did ample justice to the course after course which was set before them.

Though no postprandial speeches were made, many of the players expressed informally their deep sense of the support that the fans are giving the team this year and they ascribed their success as much to that fact as to anything else.

The hosts of the occasion were Messrs. Roy W. Ritzer, Henry W. Collins, Fred W. Lampkin, Sam R. Thompson, Roy Alexander, Clark Nelson, James H. Sturgis, Guy Roy Rick, Carl Cooley, Marshall Spell, Roy Buchanan, Elmer Turner, Homer Stevens, Guy Matlock, John Dickson, J. F. Robinson and C. P. A. Loneragan. All of the members of the team were present except Leo McQuary, who was in Milton. They were Manager Al Ledell, Wheeler Osborne, George Pembroke, Gunner Peterson, Clark Varian, George Naughton, Clyde Schroeder, "Curly" Coen, Ben Briggs, and Tom Daly. Empire Russ Hall and P. J. Burke and Merle R. Chessman, newspapermen, were also guests.

HE MAY HAVE USED A BARREL; CAN'T TELL

WASHINGTON, May 12.—John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union ordinarily is a suave, diplomatic gentleman. But nowadays he gets a bit ruffled whenever anybody speaks of White Sulphur Springs or churches or pine boards. Thereby hangs a little tale.

Barrett was at the president's hotel in the fashionable West Virginia resort when Wilson was making his first visit there. On Sunday Barrett went to church and had a pew close to the presidential party. The day was warm, the church was comparatively new, and the pew Barrett occupied had no cushions or upholstery—naught but a plain pine board. Barrett followed the sermon with interest. The plate was passed, the benediction was said, and the diplomatic director of the Pan-American Union was preparing to depart. Suddenly, there was a rip, a tear.

The suave director looked around more in fear than in anger. His worst suspicions were confirmed. He had been glued to the pine board, and a generous slice of his striped gray trousers had been torn out by the ruts when he started to leave. He refuses to say how he got back to his hotel.

Electric vehicles are now being used on the streets of London for sprinkling and sweeping.

MOSCOW IS STORM SWEEPED.

Minor Damage Done in City but No Crop Loss Reported.

MOSCOW, Idaho, May 12.—Probably one of the most severe rain and wind storms seen here in years was experienced and lasted for an hour.

Rain fell in sheets, day turned to night, power wires were injured and streets flooded with running water. Windows and eaves were blown from the third story of the university administration building. No damage to crops has been reported.
