WHAT THE PENDLETON PICTURE THEATRES HAVE TO TELL YOU ABOUT PRESENT AND COMING PHOTO PLAYS

WILLIAM FARNUM IN FOX PRODUCTION Photoplay Favorite in Best Play of Oreg. Probably "The Oath" will be the most popular of recent Fox productions. It lacks that morbid quality that so many of the features of the present day possess and it has very positive assets in William Farnum as the star, in a dramatic and, at all times appealing story with artistic attractiveness of ingeniously arranged scenes, in which the photographic work is notably fine. The light effect in the picture are, perhaps the best ever attempted by a producer. The picture has to do with the horrors of war but, the spectator is not forced to look at any battle scenes. Director Apfel has very thoughtfully eliminated all such scenes. The story is given an excellent start in the first reel and the interest is well sustained through the quite elaborate chain of circumstances that work the downfall of a successful criminal. As in previous pictures, Mr. Farnum's acting is forceful in the extreme. Also sympathetic when opportunity offers—Louis Reeves Harrison in Moving Picture World. Pastime today and tomorrow.

RIGHT REV. GEORGE W. MUNDELEIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Bishop George W. Mundelein, auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn, who according to new appointments from the Vatican received through the Papal Legation at Washington, has been promoted to archbishop of the archdiocese of Chicago, is probably the youngest archbishop in the world. At the time of his consecration to the office of bishop in 1889, Bishop Mundelein was the youngest Roman Catholic bishop in the United States, and probably the youngest in the world. He was born in New York City on July 2, 1842.

Bishop Mundelein attracted wide notice by his brilliant defense of Pope Pius when the Pontiff's attack on modernism in the church crossed criticism. The Pope was charged with reactionary tendencies. Bishop Mundelein in public and private speech combated this conclusion. He denominated Pius the "Twentieth Century Pope" and represented him as bravely and far ahead of his times. The favor in which he was held at Rome was shown by his election, the first American to win the honor, to the ancient Academy of the Arcadi in 1907, two years before obtaining his bishopric.

WOMAN FIRST TO FILE BAKER, Ore., Jan. 27.—A woman was the first to make her announcement for a Baker county office when Mrs. Eliza M. Pearson of this city, filed with County Clerk Conrath her petition qualifying her to appear on the ballot at the republican primaries as candidate for the party nomination for county treasurer. Mrs. Pearson is the widow of H. C. Pearson and for the last seven years has been employed in the county schools. Treasurer John W. Allen, also a republican, was unwilling to say today whether or not he would contest Mrs. Pearson's attempt to obtain the nomination.

STEAMERS COLLIDE IN FOG IN N. Y. HARBOR NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The Southern Pacific steamship Proteus rammed and disabled the Texas Oil company's tank steamer Abrant during a heavy fog in the harbor here. The Proteus, en route to New Orleans with 25 passengers, escaped damage.

WILLIARD MACK, Willard Mack, a native of Morrisburg, Canada, has achieved a striking success in several departments of the stage within the last two or three years. As actor-author of "Kick In" and "So Much For So Much," as writer of twelve successful vaudeville sketches and as screen star Mack has shown extraordinary versatility. His parents were Irish, and they moved from Canada to the states when he was a child. In college Mack was a member of the famous Georgetown university baseball team. He tried his hand at newspaper work, drifted into the theater, adventured in China, came back to New York and tried to blossom out as a playwright. After several years of struggle he succeeded. Mack's height, sturdy frame, black hair and large blue eyes make him particularly valuable as a screen subject. Thomas H. Ince engaged him as one of the Triangle stars Temple today.

RABIES IN PINE VALLEY EFFORTS OF STOCKMEN TO CURB EPIDEMIC SEEM TO BE OF NO AVAIL.

BAKER, Ore., Jan. 27.—Despite that Pine Valley stockmen have formed an organization to fight rabies, the disease is spreading here. When eight hogs in one ranch died, the stockmen, by subscription, raised $120 and bought the rest of the lot and killed them, but since then several head of cattle and two dogs have been bitten and are thought to be infected.

A mad dog ran through the Fisher ranch, between Pine and Eagle valleys, and attacked one dog so severely that it had to be killed while another is being watched for rabies symptoms. It is feared the animal wandered to Eagle valley and may spread the epidemic there.

MRS. MOHR DENIES CHARGES SHE HIRED NEGROES TO MURDER

WEALTHY PROVIDENCE WOMAN DENIES SHE INVEIGLED PLOT AGAINST HUSBAND.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 27.—Quickly and clearly, though often tearfully, Mrs. C. Franklin Mohr denied the state's charge that she hired negroes to slay her doctor husband. She denied she had any business relations with the negroes or financed the alleged plot to kill the doctor. Through out her evidence the defense sought to develop the idea she had been devoted to her husband and vainly tried to sway his attentions from other women, but that eventually another woman won the battle for the doctor's affections.

"I knew in my heart he loved me, and no one else. I wanted the children to see their father even after the suit for separate maintenance was brought. I sent them to have dinner with him almost every night for the first week thereafter. The night of August 21 when the doctor was shot, I was home and retired at 10:20. Later I heard a rapping at my door. I went downstairs to answer. I saw a policeman who said he wanted to see me. He said my husband had been shot and was in a Rhode Island hospital. It was a great shock to me, collapsed. As soon as I got dressed I rushed to the hospital. They would not let me see him because he was unconscious. The next morning they telephoned he was dead." The court room listened tensely. Presently the widow faltered, but concluded her testimony in an even tone.
