Applicable in Idaho.

No quarrel is wanted in the ranks of Spokane republicans. It is true there are rivalries that must clash—jealousies that will come to the surface—tongues that will gallop along faster than the owners' brains can follow. It is true that it is hard for several fellows to scramble for the same apple without some one getting a bruised shin or a bumped head. But—

There's a fight just ahead—a battle with the democratic party that may call for every vote the republicans can muster in this city, county and state. It is true the outlook at present is most promising for the republican forces; but it isn't wise to give away your umbrella every time the sun happens to shine for a while.

The great need of Spokane republicans at the present time is neither a basket of plums nor the promise of plums. It is the plain, everyday common sense and the genuine loyalty that secures and maintains harmony. — Spokane Chronicle.

For Senator.

Judge W. B. Heyburn is reported as saying that he will be a candidate for Senator in Congress if the Republicans carry the State next year, but until that event, he will not figure as a candidate. That is all right. We believe we are at liberty to announce a few more candidates on the same terms, among them, Judge Bohah, Judge Parsons, Judge Richards, Judge Stanrod, Judge Stewart, Judge Deitrich, Judge Huston, Judge Morgan, Judge Sweet, Judge Sullivan, Judge Morrison, Judge Smith, Judge Cox, Judge Cozier, Judge Wyman, Judge Budge, Gray, Judge McDougall, Judge Wallis and 782 other judges whose names we cannot mention because the "J box" is empty. But there are more of us—Editor Cobb, Editor Wood, Editor Brewster, Editor Jolly, Editor Wheeler, Editor Iff, Editor York, Editor Lamb, Editor Syms, Editor Venable, Editor Foresman, and privately, we have just placed ourself in the hands of our friends. No trouble at all to find candidates for the United States Senate. We have not struck a man yet who doesn't feel as though he could be "induced." And, indeed, some who are not republican have indicated a willingness to join the party and sacrifice themselves if necessary. There are even sheepmen who wouldn't mind doing a turn in the Senate if urged a little bit. We venture to say that McMillan could be depended on, or Aikman, or Noble, Cupper or Gwinn, Gooding or Doan, Ireland or Parkinson. Every one of them good men, and the Tribune is going to support them all. Now, gentlemen, all join hands and go in to carry the State, and if we cannot be elected ourself, we don't care a rap which one of you is. — Caldwell Tribune.

When the United States senate votes almost unanimously for a treaty with England another era of good feeling may be safely claimed.

President Roosevelt has asked for the resignation of Edgar S. Maclay, the man who began the public attack upon Rear Admiral Schley in his history of the Spanish war. It is now up to Mr. Maclay to go away back and sit down.

Here is a wishing that your Christmas has been merry and that you may enjoy a happy New Year with many returns of the season.

If Santa Claus knows his business he can make many happy homes in Idaho by distributing some very magnetic political lightning rods during the holiday season.

Press Comment.

An Idaho Falls rancher who came out from the east a year ago, purchased eighty acres of land, went in debt for seed to plant it to wheat. This fall he deposited $100 in the bank, and has enough seed in his bins to seed his place in the spring, and the Times remarks farmers in the east make a living, in Idaho make bank accounts.

The Idaho City World, in a sort of hysterical fit over Edgar Wilson's speech at the banquet to Senator Shoup in Boise a few days ago, refers to him as "back in the Republican ranks shooting at Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans." He must keep Charley Arney and Jule Bassett hopping about pretty lively. We know of no other Silver Republicans in Idaho.—Pocatello Tribune.

A Superior Judge in Spokane has decided that Indians on reservations where lands have been allotted have no right to lease them. The case will probably be carried up and may end in the United States courts, where it evidently belongs. Under the terms of allotment the Indians cannot sell their lands for 25 years, and the judge held that if they could not dispose of them for all time they could not for a limited period, which certainly is good logic.—Wallace Press.

The prospects were never better than right now for a sweeping republican victory in Idaho. Some of the democratic papers tried their little best to stir up a war over the resignation of Senator Shoup. They failed miserably. It was highly interesting, the boquets they threw at the stalwart old man they had vilified and berated for a quarter of a century. They hoped to bring on a fight between his personal friends and the rival elements. All the good they told of him is true, and his friends are pleased at the complete, though tardy recognition of his services to Idaho. But there isn't any demoralizing fight on within the party, carefully and fondly as the opposition had planned for a spectacular war.—Standard.

Senator Heitfeld is pop no more, but a democrat. That's all right. Edgar Wilson, who served us in Congress for two terms, is back in the republican fold. That's all right, too. News can see no good in finding fault with either gentleman for the stand they have taken. We presume one is as honest in his change as the other. It is not an uncommon thing for newspapers of small bore to charge such men with dishonesty, pie eaters, etc., but it is wrongly applied, in many instances. Edgar Wilson is an able and useful man and if he desires to affiliate with the republicans of Idaho, when it is the minority party, well and good. Better to make the change now than after it gets into power next year.—Genesee News.

The Democratic Montpelier Examiner is distressed. It did not want Dubois in the Democratic party and now that Heitfeld is trying to force his way in, it feels really rick. It says:

"We desire to request our good senior senator to reconsider his motion to join the Democratic party. That party's animal has all the load he can carry at present, so please Mr. Heitfeld, don't try, now, at least, to mount the saddle." But it must take the dose, it wants all at once and suggests that Jule Bassett come along too. This is the way it puts it:

"It's about time for Jule Bassett to announce his affiliation with the democrats. While the party is taking such medicine it might as well swallow one more little pill."

How about C. E. Arney? The Examiner is not proposing to leave him out in the cold, is it?—Pocatello Tribune.

If Senator Dubois' ideas respecting the work of a newspaper man in writing up political gossip were followed there would be an end of all entertaining gossip letters from Washington that are published in the papers of the country. The newspaper men hear interesting stories and repeat them for what they are worth. Sometimes very accurate forecasts are thus brought out, and sometimes the gossip proves to have been without foundation; but if the O K of the parties interested were first required this particular kind of matter would all be headed off. Take a look over the great papers, and you will find one correspondent giving gossip concerning Senator Sorghum to the effect that he is believed to favor one side of a question, while another picks up gossip indicating that he is on the other side. They cannot both be correct, and it is plain that neither has been censored by the distinguished member.—Boise Statesman.

Christmas Cheer.

The crowning season of the year comes on the welcome of its Christmas cheer. The humblest home in the land has both its gift and its giver both happy in the thoughts that bring Christmas into the hearts and the homes. Love puts his girle around the earth and in the closed circuit we are all in touch with the spirit of joy that brings true peace and happiness. No matter how humble the gift it holds the heart of the giver.

The past year has been one of general prosperity. Poverty, famine and pestilence have not visited the homes of the people. Peace, plenty and good cheer are with the guests that grace the various Christmas boards in the great inland empire. Good cheer for today and hope for tomorrow are the crowning gifts of the holiday season.
