CAMDEN, TENN., FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1921

CHRISTIANIZE ALL EDUCATION

The great educational movement of the Southern Methodist Church is now under way. The financial appeal will be made during the week of May 29 to June 2.

The main object of the educational movement is to develop in the mind of the church an adequate conception of the place of Christian education in the life of the church, of the Nation and of the world.

It is planned to raise for the Methodist schools, colleges and universities at least $33,000,000 the minimum sum necessary to enable them to increase the number of educated Christian leaders required to carry forward Christian work of the world.

The movement is not a mere drive for money, but a far more difficult and important one. It is hoped the movement will deepen the moral and spiritual life of the people and promote the spirit of Christian liberality.

Efforts will be made to secure the pledge of at least 5,000 young men and women to devote their lives to the ministry, to missions or to some form of Christian service. It is expected that a closer cooperation can be made effective between the institutions of learning and the Sunday school.

Stronger departments of religious education are needed today in our colleges and universities, the church officials believe.

The movement seeks to promote a definite type of education—Christian education. In fostering such a movement, the bishops and church leaders seek to impress upon the people the transcendent power of education. They must realize the great constructive force of the world. If the churches are to conquer the mind of the world with the ideals and spirit of Christ, they must seize this arm of power—education and Christianize all education.

Achievements of the Centenary movement has proven that it is time for the church to take the educational feature under consideration. National and State educators now realize that it is necessary to have the principles of Christianity adopted in the school

E. D. DAVIDSON

Germany paganized her education by adoption of idols utterly at variance with the principles of Christianity. Christian ideals and Christian instruction are essential to education.

The $33,000,000 is not to be used for building new colleges or new universities, but will be distributed among the Methodist schools for the expansion and further development. It is planned to add many new departments to the colleges and universities by aid of this fund.

The Methodist Church is today short thousands of mission and church workers, not including the steady decrease in the number of young men entering the ministry. It is believed the Christian educational movement will give to the States a higher type of citizenship and to society its finest members.

Pastors and laymen are now actively engaged in the work of the movement, according to Dr. J. H. Reynolds, director general of the movement. He has just returned to his headquarters at Nashville, Tenn., from a tour of important centers in the bounds of the M. E. church, South.

The people are fully aroused on the subject of Christian education, even with the economic depression which has followed the great war they are willing to undertake to raise the desired amount and to accomplish objects of this movement, says Dr. Reynolds.

There are approximately 172,000 men and women in the church who will serve as minute men to carry the message of Christian education to everyone. There are 4,500 men and women who have volunteered to speak in behalf of the movement.

Pastors and church leaders are urged to gather forces at once and make the movement a success.

Josephus Daniels, will speak at Memphis, Tenn., on the evening of April 20 in regard to the educational movement. The meeting will be held that night at First Methodist Church.

NASHVILLE, CHATTANOOGA & ST. LOUIS RAILWAY

COOPERATIVE MARKETING SERVICE

The Southern Shorthorn Exhibition and Sale

COLUMBIA, TENN., MAY 17TH AND 18TH, 1921

Promoted and conducted under the joint cooperation of the American Shorthorn Breeders Association of Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway.

The leading breeders of purebred Shorthorn cattle in all of the States of the South are consigning one hundred head of individuals of superlative merit, consisting chiefly of representatives of the the so-called straight Scotch families.

The consignment will include cows with calves and rebred, heifers bred and open and bulls of service age, all of exceptional quality and type.

The entries will contest for substantial cash premiums, and every animal in the show will be offered for sale at auction to the farmers and breeders following the show.

It is well recognized by informed breeders and cattle men that the existing depression in the price of breeding animals presents a most engaging opportunity to breeders who wish to replenish their herds and peculiar bright prospects, because it is an equal logical conclusion the very condition of the cattle situation must inevitably cause strong demands with an ever-attending increase in prices.

A dinner will be served and a public meeting of cattle men held during the evening of the 17th, which will be addressed by men of recognized ability in the cattle world.
