Warding Off Hog Cholera.

In its campaign against hog cholera, which annually destroys live stock to the value of many millions of dollars, department of agriculture has issued suggestions to hog owners to aid them in avoiding infection. Hog cholera is most prevalent in late summer and fall. These suggestions deserve particular attention now. They are:
To keep hog cholera out of the herd:

1. Locate your hog lots and pastures away from streams and public highways, and do not allow the hogs free range.
2. Do not visit your neighbor or allow him to visit you, if either of you have hog cholera on your premises.
3. Do not drive into hog lots when returning from market or after driving on public highways.
4. Do not use hog lots for yarding wagons and farm implements.
5. Do not place newly purchased stock, stock secured or loaned for breeding purposes, or stock exhibited at county fairs, with your herd. Keep such stock quarantined at least two weeks, and use care to prevent carrying infection from these to other pens in feeding and attending stock.
6. Burn to ashes or cover with quicklime and bury under four feet of earth all dead animals and the viscera removed from animals at butchering time. They attract the attention of buzzards, dogs, etc. which are liable to carry hog cholera infection.
7. Confine your dogs and do not keep pigeons unless you confine them.

If hog cholera appears in your herd:
Treat your hogs immediately with antihog cholera serum, after which they should be kept on a light diet and pure drinking water and confined to limited quarters that may be cleaned daily and sprayed three times a week with 1 pound of compound cresol solution to 30 parts of water until the disease has abated in the herd. To obtain the best results the serum must be administered before the disease has progressed in the herd.

To rid the premises of infection:
Remove all manure and saturate with quicklime.
Burn all litter, rubbish and old hog troughs.
After the premises are thoroughly cleaned, spray walls, floors and other surfaces with disinfectant (1 part compound cresol solution to 30 parts water.) Where hog houses are small, turn them over, exposing interior to sunlight.

Wallow holes and cesspools should be filled in, drained, or fenced off.

All runs underneath buildings should be cleaned and disinfected and then boarded up.

Destroy hogs that do not fully recover, as they may be carriers of cholera infection.
