Every Bond is a blow at Germany. You hit them one lick.

The test is on—does German autocracy breed better men than American democracy?

Are our hearts with our soldiers? The response to the Third Liberty Loan will be the answer.

Help bring the soldier boys back home. Invest in 3rd Liberty Loan Bonds and make such sacrifices as are necessary will do this.

Still you hear one say occasionally, that they can see no cause for this war. Its either ignorance or Pro-German. We hope its ignorance.

The American soldiers in France seem to be whipping, (what Sherman said war was) out of the Germans, if reports are true.

You'd jump at a chance to pay 50 per cent for fire protection if your house or barn was burning. Today your home, wealth and life are threatened by German oppression. LIBERTY BONDS are like insurance policies. Inquest now.

A dispatch says one American made 19 German soldiers surrender after shooting one thru the head. The others yelled "Kammarad" and were taken back prisoners. It wont do to monkey with American soldiers unless you want to scrap.

Good business as well as patriotism urges support of the Government in its financial needs and no class of Americans more than the farmers of the nation whose own welfare is indissolubly bound up with that of the United States Government.

Some of our young men from this county are now in France. More are to go in a short time. What are you doing to help back 'em up. They need guns, clothes ammunition, food and other necessary things. It takes money to keep them in shape to do our fighting. Buy all the bonds that you possibly can, and then borrow a little to buy another one.

As serious as the war is to-day you will occasionally run up on a real tightwad who thinks more of the dollar than his liberty.

The sooner the irresistible might of this great Republic is organized and put into full action the sooner the war will end. Every dollar invested in Government securities works to shorten the war, to save the lives of American soldiers and sailors.

Read the Liberty Loan ad of B. L. Quarles in this issue. Study what it means, TWENTY EIGHT BILLION DOLLARS raised by the German-Austria Hungary empires to defeat the world. They mean to get that money back from the United States and her Allies if they win. Buy these bonds and help the boys win. They'll win if you do your part.

HAS DONE HIS PART.

There was a man who gave his son,

To fight our battles in France,
But when asked to buy a bond,
He went into a trance.

He thought perhaps he'd gave enough,

When he gave his son,
But Uncle Sam says to him,
I want some of your MON.

No says he,

I've give enough,
My money I keep,

To buy more sheep, hogs
and corn,
Let the other fellow buy the bonds,

I have done my part.

ENJOYS READING THE SENTINEL.

Frederick, Oklahoma,
April 13, 1918,
Jackson County Sentinel;

A few days ago a copy of your paper was sent me by an old Jackson county friend, who also resides here, and I read it from the headlines to the patent medicine "ad" at the foot of the last column.

It was the first I had seen in several years, and as more than seventeen years have passed since I left my native home among the hills of Jackson county the dear little town of Gainesboro, that paper was like a letter from home. In its columns I read news of my old friends, their children, and their childrens children, even in some cases reminding me, as Mark Twain used to say of "how tempus doth fugit."

In fact it gave me so much pleasure that I am writing this letter of appreciation really feeling that some of my old friends may be as glad to hear from me, as I was from them.

We reside in Frederick, a thriving little city of 5000 people, surrounded by the finest farming region in Oklahoma. Mr. Naylor is Secretary of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce, and we are really glad to be "boosters" for Oklahoma, for after spending thirteen years in Texas—it is "not that we like Caesar less, but Rome more." But no matter where we wander or where our tent may be pitched, "be it ever se humble, there is no place like home," and dear old Jackson county still holds her place in our affections.

We have several relatives and many old Jackson county friends near Frederick, which is a great pleasure.

We were proud of Jackson county, when we read of "The Thousand Dollar W. S. Club," and know that she will do her part in the great struggle for the democracy of the world.

With undiminished friendship for all the friends of my childhood

I am Very Truly,
Blanche Cason Naylor.

Garden Boys Thrift Stamps.

Any one who is saving to his maximum capacity can increase his saving capacity for patriotic purposes to the extent of a thrift stamp a day, by utilizing his spare time in growing a war garden, says a North Dakota patriot and what is true in North Dakota is certainly true in Tennessee. Every garden should produce enough vegetables during war times to supply at least one-third of the food used by the family. Such gardens reduce the expenses for food to the extent of about $50 per person per year, or at the rate of a thrift stamp a day for the ordinary garden season, from April 1, to October 1. The vegetable garden can thus provide the government with more money and the workers with more food. Both are equally needed.
