The method of putting the new assessment laws into operation is fully explained in an article appearing on the first page of this week's issue of the Sentinel. The article goes into the details of the law, and shows that it is fair and just to all taxpayers. Read this article and pass it on to your neighbor.

An interesting article relative to the North Springs High School appears in this issue of the Sentinel. The article is contributed by the principal, H. Raggio Young, and sets forth the purpose of the school, which is to develop the boys and girls into useful and patriotic citizens. The progressive citizens who were instrumental in establishing the school are to be congratulated on the splendid showing the school is making, and for their hearty co-operation with the faculty along all lines. The Sentinel will take special pleasure in publishing further reports of the school, and we hope to receive these articles from time to time.

CELEBRATED MYER FARM
At CARTHAGE, TENN.
AT AUCTION
On Premises, Saturday, Sept. 27, 1 P. M.
500 acres rich Cumberland River bottom cut up into lots ranging from 25 to 250 acres.

This is one of the ten best farms in the entire state of Tennessee. Owner desires to retire from active business and devote several years to foreign travel.

Farm highly improved. Not a cent for show, but everything done which wise farming called for.

For example: six car loads (a small train load) drain tile were put down; large up-to-date barns in which feed and stock can be quickly and cheaply handled; big concrete silo, cribs which are absolutely rat proof; houses for all machinery; good fences; four good tenant houses.

Main farm dwelling is a neat new bungalow. Farm has electric lights and power. The tired housekeeper here can churn, sew, sweep, cook and be fanned by electricity—touch a button and electricity will help you.

Farm within 1/2 mile of T. C. R. R. depot at Carthage.

It is also on the locked and damed portion of Cumberland River, where boats all the year round land on your own premises, bring freight and take away products from your very door. No long weight losing drives for stock. No long hauls.

It is also on the great new national highway now being contracted by the state of Tennessee and the U. S. government. This great highway extends from New York across the entire continent to Los Angeles, Cal., by way of Washington, Bristol, Knoxville, Cookeville, Carthage, Lebanon, Nashville, Memphis. Smith County has just taken the steps which comply with the terms of the government requirements and thus secures this great highway for our people for all time.

Smith County in addition to securing the above great highway has just voted, by a big majority, $400,000 bonds for good roads all over the county.

This farm also has several choice residence lots near the edge of Smith County High School campus. These range from 1 to 10 acres. They are on electric light line. On these you can live in town, near edge of free county high school grounds (where your children can get a good education free) and have the advantage of both town and country, electric lights and power, electric conveniences, and yet have room for orchard, garden, big yard, lots for stock.

As I do not intend to again go into active business, I had as soon have safe land notes like these which bear 6 per cent interest as to have money. Therefore, I make the unusually good terms of 1/2 cash, balance in 1, 2, 3, 4, & 5 years.

Lots sold separately and then as a whole and go the way brings most money.

W. E. MYER.

I will gladly show you the farm at any time. Inspect it carefully beforehand and be able to bid with judgement.

This farm was the first settled in this vicinity. It was selected by Capt. William Walton, a revolutionary soldier, in 1786, as the most desirable land in the region. It has never failing bold springs, several of which are big spout springs.

TAKE NOTICE: If you are in a hurry, or prefer to buy at private sale before the day of auction, I will sell you at any time all or any part of this fine farm. And at the market price. Possession can be given when you desire it. If sold before date of auction notice will be given in the paper.
