Lower Bill Town, U. S. A. Lest you forget, gentle reader, Xmas is now knocking at the door. Santa Claus and I will be thru on schedule time with the goods, little horns, harps, and many little toys for childish joys. Put on the big pot and the little one, and fix to lick your chops. You shall have thicker, richer, redder gravy fixed just right to tickle the appetite and make you bite. Many girls you shall see, dressed to kill, all painted, powdered, and starched stepping high to please the eye. These things we will bring along with many other of the simpler joys.

I would be glad to find you with your house in order, all spink and span, looking the best you can, but if you won't be too noisy you might step the goose, step in a few little Christmas games, like "Old Dan Tucker," "Weavly Wheat" or "Froggy in the middle" or some such spin. It would be no sin, but I would dislike to know that you had stepped the poison Kentucky two-step, or had crooked your toe in the simple waltz to the tune of the "old banjo."

This time we will have no legal toddy for anybody, not one drop of the pure gingerene. All of the old time brands have disappeared from the market, such as "Jack Daniel" and "Lincoln county red" and Jack Daniel himself is long since dead, but no doubt that the boot-leggers will stand close by with the home-made "rock and rye," but let me admonish you to pass it by.
