THE LATEST POLITICAL FAD—GREAT STUFF.

Other Washington News.

Washington Jan. 31.—The latest national political fad is the holding of conferences. The conference is now the most popular of all indoor sports, and life at the Capital of the Nation is just one conference after another.

When Senator Borah, the big outstanding, outspoken Senator from Idaho, introduced his resolution for a Disarmament Conference, he started something. One conference now treads upon the heels of another, and this is only the beginning.

Something is wrong! The administration is "up a stump" and doesn't know what to do; let's call a conference; let's assemble the "best minds," have a warm handshake, have our pictures taken with our genial Chief Executive in the center, palaver and pow wow for a few days, and then "all aboard for God's country," which means home to the average man.

Then what happens? Nothing whatever. Oh, yes, there are the resolutions which have been passed. Resolutions are mostly like good intentions—they make good paving material in a warm climate.

And so it came to pass that after the unemployment question settled and everybody had a job and was back to work—except the exservice men who tramp around here, some of them in rags, and get turned down everywhere they go, just as Will Hays turns them down when they want to be Postmasters after they get the highest rating—following the unemployment conference, the Great Conferer calls an agricultural conference. More handshakes, more White House receptions, more group photographs, more palavers, etc., etc. Oh yes, and more resolutions. Great stuff! Back to normalcy.

Republican economy has gone to such furious lengths that Secretary Mellon announces that there can be no bonus this year because there is going to be a deficit of three hundred millions of dollars at the end of the fiscal year, which is June 30 next, at midnight. Makes it look dark for the boys who went to France. By the way, the Board of Public Works of New York City finds 200,000 able-bodied men out of employment in the city alone, 75,000 of whom are veterans of the war. Speaker Gillett says "nothing can bring prosperity again except self-denying economy and incessant, productive work." That being the case, when will prosperity return for the 200,000 in that one city who can't find work?

Senator Norris has carefully studied the attitude of the Administration on the subject of placing a farmer on the Federal Reserve Board. Don't forget that he is a Republican. He says "The farmer is being fooled again." Note that word "again." In the old pagan days of Greece they held periodical festivals, for which a white ox was carried, brushed, be-ribboned and garlanded with flowers. He headed the gay procession that marched to the grove outside the city; beside him who walked the priests, who kissed and caressed him, but before the

This week-end has been very pleasantly spent in M. T. N. The Claxton and Droomgole societies favored us with an entertainment on Friday evening, consisting of a one act force comedy play and a womanless wedding. This entertainment was a scream from start to finish.

On Saturday evening we had the opportunity of hearing Dr. Burton, head of the English department of the University of Minnesota, lecture on the works of Robert Louis Stevenson. This was a treat that reaches very few towns the size of Murfreesboro.

The past week has been known as "Good English week" in M. T. N., and many splendid selections have been heard from the platform during the Chapel period. On Friday Mrs. Buchanan gave a reading entitled "Just a Bit of Clay."

A tournament has just been completed in the athletic department, consisting of games between defferent classes. The Junior boys in college were decided to the champions, among the boys and the Junior Academics were picked as champion for the girls. This tournament was very interestingly contested. And created considerable interest throughout the student body.

The students of this institution listened very patiently to an announcement made by Pres. Jones to this effect. "The contract for a young man's dormitory, the gymnasium and a heating plant has been let." An applause form all parts of the house went up and continued for several minutes. The men here have been handicapped for rooming quarters during the whole history of the institution.

Mr. Jones also announced arrangements had been made to care for seventeen individually, who had acquired and possessed the most outstanding old bachelor's characteristics. But Overton says that neither of us will find lodging quarters with that group, and from the interest that he is manifesting I don't believe that he will for a certainty.

The student body as a whole is in a very pleasant state of mind today, due to the fact that the instillation of a new bakery has just been completed, and the hopes are that we will not have to wait so long for biscuits now.

In conclusion permit me to say, that a high type of work is being done in M. T. N., this quarter. The Faculty as a whole is very well pleased.

celebration was over, Mr. Ox was killed, barbecued and eaten, and his bones thrown to the dogs. The Republican leaders are having the same old procession with the same old victim. It would look like it is about time for the ox to get next to the game and toss a few of the Republican high-priests into the ditch.

The House is passing the anti-lynching bill and the galleries are crowded negroes, whooping and yelling their approval. The House restaurant, which the Republican have just refitted at a cost of $50,000, is full of the colored brothers and sisters, eating with the white Republicans.

Great Opportunities Missed

"AND THE DOOR WAS SHUT"—Matt. 25:10.

We live in a world of opening and closing doors. Perhaps the ministry of our day has failed to emphasize the urgency of the present opportunity. Perhaps the hearers are always finding that we leave the door ajar for late-comers and that our doors never truly shut! Jesus described without apology the door hopelessly closed, and those who know life's recognize that it must be so. When the train has departed, it is too late to go to the station. When your body lies in the casket, it is too late to make a will. Doors were shut in 1921, never to be reopened.

Heedless youth are forever preventing the "men that might have been" from coming in their time. Why should it be thought incredible that eternal destinies are fixed by the choice of these passing days? Not according to some formula of man's making, but according to the inexorable laws of life. The messenger who stands before his fellows and pleads, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve," has every right to be heard. If he sees an open door, he is faithless to his trust unless he warns men to enter before it closes, doors that swing wide also swing shut. RUN, speak to all the young men of your acquaintance, speak lovingly and convincingly, but fail not in speaking in this acceptable year of our Lord.
