BILL SAM'S DICTIONARY

By J. L. MARTIN
The young lady who taught such a successful school in the Hoolegan district last year is running the school at Happy Hollow entirely to her own satisfaction this year. Although she has not whipped a pupil so far, some of the patrons declare that she is too strict. When a pupil violates one of her rules she throws him down and makes him take a dose of castor oil.
CASTOR OIL: A once-popular medicine kept in a conspicuous place in every home as a preventive of belly-ache and other minor ailments among children. Bill Sam's Dictionary, page 276.

DEMOCRATS SHOULD BE PROUD OF THEIR CHANCE.

Not every Democrat voter in these United States has the chance we have, although the majority wish they had the opportunity of being represented in Congress by a man who stands head and shoulders above his fellows, like Cordell Hull of the Fourth Congressional District. Why is this District known from the Atlantic to the Pacific? Simply because of the splendid statesmen, notably Benton McMillin and Cordell Hull, who while in Congress were noted for being two of the hardest workers, not alone for their constituents, but for the whole country, that could be found in Congress.

Especially is this true of the present candidate, Cordell Hull, to whom was given the unwelcome task of drafting the income tax law during the administration of the illustrious Woodrow Wilson. The other Congressman returned to to their homes to attend to their private business or sports, but not so with our Congressman, who stayed that hot summer in Washington City working day and night on the law which when passed has defied every effort of the rich men, many of them rank profiteers, break or weaken it in any way.

Cordell Hull has been commended from one end of the country to the other for this application to duty when the others were hunting, fishing or in other ways amusing themselves during that memorable summer. In the great landslide of 1920 he was defeated, not through anything he had done but through the overconfidence of his friends and supporters who were expecting to let "George" do the voting. Well, in this case "George" fell down, as he usually does, and let our leader be defeated. We are confident that this will not happen a second time, in spite of the fact that the Republican party would rather bring about his defeat than that of any other man in the entire country.

They want to defeat him for one reason because he is the leader of the Democratic party in the entire United States and to defeat him would be to discredit his leadership and thus weaken the Democratic party in the coming Presidential election two years hence. Another reason they fear him is because he is too well versed in the ways of Congressman who act as puppets in the hands of their master to permit anything to be put over on the people of this county if he can help it and without letting the people know it.

His enemies respect him for his sterling worth and do not hesitate to ask his advice on any difficult bill before Congress, especially if it concerns taxes, as these are matters too difficult and require too much study for the average member to worry over the matter. This District now has the chance to redeem itself before the eyes of the world by electing Cordell Hull to Congress on November 7. We are not talking to the general public, but to each and every individual voter of Wilson county and the rest of the Fourth District. You have the power, you know the issues at stake and you know the men asking your support. What will you do about it.—Lebanon Democrat.

COMMISSIONER PECK URGES FARMERS TO SAVE SEED CORN NOW.

If farmers could be made to understand the importance of selecting good seed, and to appreciate the difference it makes in the yield of their crops, they would make the selection of their seed while the corn is still in the field.

This subject has been discussed many times, and the increase in yield shown were carefully selected seed was planted as against seed used from general stock. I will not attempt in this article to go into a detailed discussion, but will give you a few suggestions that any farmer can follow, and which if followed will materially improve his seed corn if he intends to continue the type of corn he has grown this year, and which will materially increase his yield next year.

He can't afford to go into his field with his basket or grain sack and select his seed corn before he gathers his crop. First select stalks with two or more ears, and the best developed ear on the stalk. Second, when he has the corn at the crib he can husk it and discard any ears that are not well filled, have even rows, and uniform length of grain, with butt and tip well filled.

The corn that is selected should be kept where it will not be subjected to damp air, and where it would be safe from rats, and should be thoroughly dry. If it is properly housed it will be in good condition at planting time. Before planting time some grains from each ear should be placed in a germinator and allowed to sprout to test its germinating qualities.

Corn will not yield a good crop if left to thicken on the ground, or if there is not a good stand. If to thicken it can be thinned to the right stand, but if replanting has to be done to get a stand, results are never satisfactory. Be sure of your seed before planting. It takes just as much time to cultivate an acre with a poor stand as it does to cultivate an acre with a good stand. With a poor stand, the yield will of course be short, and the profit reduced in proportion or entirely wiped out.

We try to cultivate too many acres. We do not properly prepare the ground, and then we fail to make proper selection of seed, but we have to do just as much work as if the ground had been properly prepared and good seed selected.

For 1923 let's begin now by selecting the right kind of seed, and prepare only what ground we can seed and cultivate properly. If we will do this, next fall we will have more to show for our labor, and our land will be in better condition, for land half cultivated or poorly cultivated deteriorates and washes more than land properly cultivated.

It is the little things that we know how to do and which we do at the right time that counts in results. If we neglect these we must pay the penalty in short crops and imperfect grain.

If you have never studied the question of seed corn selection do so before you start another corn crop. It will be worth money to you to inform yourself on this question.

CORDELL HULL TO SPEAK IN JACKSON COUNTY

Beginning Monday, Oct. 23 Will Make Six Addresses.

Hon. Cordell Hull, Democratic nominee for Congress, will arrive in this county for a two-day speaking tour Monday, Oct. 23.

His first address will be made at Granville at 10 A. M., Monday, Oct. 23. From there he will go to Flynn's Lick, speaking at 2:30 P. M. Monday night he will be in Gainesboro, speaking at 7 P. M.

On Tuesday, October 24 the first address of the day will be made on Salt Lick, 14th district, at 10 A. M. The second address of the day will be made on Wartrace, third district, at 2:30 P. M. The third address will be made at Whitleyville at 7 P. M.

Everybody, regardless of party affiliation, should hear Mr. Hull. It is to the interest of every citizen that they become informed on the vital issues of the present campaign, and there is no one more able to tell you the truth about the issues than Mr. Hull. DON'T FAIL TO HEAR HIM.

Dyus Defeated In a Fast Game By Acresville.

Dyus met Acresville, Ky., at Lafayette, Saturday, Oct. 14, and was defeated by a score of 8 to 2, in one of the fastest games ever played in this section. It required only one hour and forty minutes to play the game. Acresville outplayed Dyus, but not as much as the score indicates. Two errors accounted for three of their runs. Minchey for Dyus was hit, when his ment runs, altho at times he faced critical situations. In one instance, with the bases full and none out, he retired the side with only one run, and an error by Sadler allowed it. Ray, C. Wiggins and J. Wiggins were all the men Dyus had that could hit Farley consistently. Ray had three safe hits, out of the four trials, the Wiggins boys having two out of four. C. Hackett played a sensational game in right field.

Batteries for Dyus: Minchey and Ray; Acresville, Farley and Shockley. Umpires Archer and Chambers.
