CAMPAIGN NEARING CLOSE

Much Oratory in Various Parts of the State

The state candidates and their friends, in many sections of the state, are working overtime this week in their efforts to swing the state to their way of thinking. The managers of the various candidates never were more busy and more persistent in their claims. The republicans and independents are claiming that Governor Hooper's majority this year will be far in excess of the vote two years ago. The regulars declare that McMillin will be elected by a handsome majority.

The Taft people are not claiming the state for their candidate, but the bull moosers are reckless enough to insist that the state will go to the strenuous colonel. The friends of Wilson believe Tennessee safe to their favorite, but they are beginning to realize that the regulars are going to trade Wilson off for McMillin. Just to what extent this deal will be executed cannot be told, and this will have much to do with the way the state will go. This deal has so encouraged the progressives that they are actually claiming the state. They say they have heard from 68 counties over the state and reports are very favorable. They will not be content with merely defeating Taft in Tennessee, but now insist that the state will be in the Roosevelt column. If Hooper is defeated this deal will have much to do with bringing it about.

In the senatorial primary ex-Gov. Patterson will be the only candidate. The primary will be a farce, but it will be of sufficient authority to give those democratic members of the legislature, who are for Patterson, an excuse to vote for him, however strong their constituents may be against him. If the Crump faction of Shelby county elects an anti-Patterson delegate to the legislature and the fusion legislative tickets are as successful as indications now make possible, Patterson will be defeated.

If reports be true Gov. Patterson is now very much disturbed by an alleged combination, recently formed, by which Mr. Baxter is to be elected speaker of the senate, Gov. McMillin to resign as governor and be elected to the United States senate and Baxter to become governor, and Hill McAlister to become speaker in Baxter's place. This is rumor and may be nothing but hot air, but Patterson is hot under the collar about something.

The contest in this section of the senatorial district will be close. The friends of McKinney say he will win, but McCall's friends seem just as confident that he will make the landing. McKinney stands for the present state-wide prohibition and election laws and will vote against Ham Patterson, while McCall stands on the democratic platform, which provides for legalizing the open saloon in the large cities, and will vote for Patterson. The bull moosers and whisky republicans will vote for McCall. The Taft following, who are for temperance, will give their vote for McKinney.

In the race between Sparks and Argo the line-up will be pretty much the same as in the fight between McCall and McKinney. In fact it looks very much like a wet and dry fight, the wets lining up for McCall and Sparks and the dries for McKinney and Argo. Politics is going to play a very small part in the legislative races in this county.

In the floatorial race Harry Williamson's friends are very confident he will win in a walk. We understand J. D. Herron, of McKenzie, is a candidate against Williamson, having been nominated by a committee. Herron is a regular of the regulars and will, no doubt, vote for Patterson if elected. Williamson is an independent and could not be induced to vote for Patterson.

The congressional race does not seem to be attracting much interest. Mr. Sims never has much trouble defeating one republican, and will certainly find it easy this time to defeat two.

Garver & Garver showed property listed with them the past week to Messrs. J. H. Kimberlin, T. J. Orr and J. Miller, of Illinois; M. L. Rodgers, of Idaho, and W. L. Gibson, of Ohio.

FOR FLOATER

John D. Herron, Mayor of McKenzie, Enters Race

The Democrat is authorized this week to announce J. D. Herron, mayor of McKenzie, as a candidate for floatorial representative from the district composed of the counties of Carroll, Henry and Weakley.

Mr. Herron is the democratic nominee from this district. He was endorsed first by the senatorial convention held at McKenzie on October 7, which was composed of representative delegations from Carroll and Henry counties, and his nomination was later ratified by a meeting of the floatorial committee of the counties of Carroll, Henry and Weakley, held at McKenzie on October 12, at which time he was declared the nominee by that committee.

Mr. Herron has served as mayor of McKenzie for the past four years and the town has shown marked improvement and progress during his administration. Attorney-General Rye says that if he had the co-operation of the mayors of all towns in his district, such as is given him by Mayor Herron, he would soon run the bootleggers from all such towns in his district.

Mr. Herron is a member of the state democratic committee, and on all occasions cast his vote in aid of the editor's plan and other harmony propositions which have come before the state committee, tending to bring the factions of the party together.

Mr. Herron says he stands for order and law-enforcement, and for good government economically administered. If elected he promises to make an active, energetic representative, and will at all times endeavor to do that which is best for the interest of the people he represents.

Gen. Geo. Murphy, of Little Rock, Ark., will speak in Huntingdon next Monday in the interest of the progressive party.

IS GIVEN UP

Bondsmen of Romie Haywood Surrender Him

Romie Haywood, of the Yuma community, who is under a federal indictment for selling whisky, and out on bond, was, last Sunday evening, surrendered by his bondsmen, and Monday morning was carried to Jackson by Deputy Marshal T. W. Stacy and turned over to the federal authorities.

Haywood's bondsmen were Alfred Parish and W. G. Rainey, and, believing that he was going to leave the state, they turned him over to Deputy Sheriff Moody, who brought him to Huntingdon Sunday night and placed him in charge of Deputy Stacy. Messrs. Parish and Rainey were also with Moody.

Young Haywood has been drinking pretty freely of late and acting otherwise in such a way that his bondsmen became uneasy. Haywood will be tried at Jackson next week. He served several months in the county jail last spring and it was hoped when released from jail he would behave himself. But the love of whisky seems to have the best of him.

New Bridge

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad is completing a splendid concrete bridge at the crossing of East Paris street. When the bridge and approaches are fully completed and the concrete sidewalks are connected, this will be an elegant crossing. The work is substantial and up-to-date in every particular.

Public Sale

I will sell at public sale, Tuesday, October 29, my household and kitchen furniture, farming implements, hogs, corn, fodder, hay, wagon and back. Terms given on day of sale. The sale will be at my farm, four miles east of Huntingdon.
