

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea. If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition, and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

Material Called Lamb's Fleece in Syria Merely Went by Another Name in England.

A certain young globe-trotter, possessed of more money than brains, was prevailed upon by one of the sons of the prophet to purchase at a very large price a quantity of what was described as Syrian lamb's fleece.

This, when he returned to London, he sent to his tailor with orders to line an overcoat with it. A few days after he called to try on the coat.

"You didn't send us quite enough material, sir," remarked the tailor, "and I had to get some more to line the sleeves."

"But," remarked the traveler in surprise, "it's impossible to obtain that fleece in England. It's only to be obtained in Syria."

"Not at all, sir," was the reply. "In England we call it rabbit skin."—Montreal Herald.

Not Kidding, Either. Carl Jobe, who for several years has sold newspapers at Washington and Meridian streets, and who is always available when inquiring strangers ask any directions, was accosted by an out-of-town visitor the other day. The stranger inquired:

"Where does Edison keep his phonograph shop?"

"The man wasn't kidding, either," Jobe said.—Indianapolis News.

Farmer Had No Idea of Allowing Hired Man to Beat Him in Gathering Corn.

A Sullivan county farmer hired a man to help him gather his corn last season. Now, the farmer had a reputation for being an efficient worker, but the hired man was not daunted by it. They started out side by side, the hired man being advised by the farmer to keep as close to him as he could with the row he was gathering.

But lo! the new worker after a few minutes of keeping up with the farmer, passed him and soon was several feet ahead. Frantically the farmer pulled the ears from the stalks, but the new man still kept gaining. Then all at once he heard the farmer shout, "Stop," he yelled. "Stop, if you want to work for me. I never yet let any man who worked for me get ahead of me."

VARIED STYLES FOR EVENING WEAR

IN THE gay world of evening gowns it is hard to choose only two for illustration. There are so many different kinds of them with charms so varied and captivating, that the distracted fashion reporter would gladly display them all. They differ in character more than other gowns, because there is little restraint put upon the fancy of their creators—they furnish a playground for it. The two chosen for illustration here include a net gown at the left—a modest, unpretentious but elegant affair—and a brilliant and glittering creation made for high occasions beside it.

The quieter of these two models is equal to many demands and, with a little helping out of the bodice, may take on the responsibility of serving for afternoon wear. It is made of brown dotted net, in a warm shade, over brown satin, and could hardly be more simply designed. A plain bodice and full skirt of the satin serve as a foundation for an over-bodice and full skirt of net.

Brown and gold tissue make a narrow binding at the bottom of the skirt that widens at the left side and is extended on an overlapping seam to the waist line. Brown and gold are combined in the wide girdle of brocade ribbon and brown footwear will complete an evening toilette.

Satin and sequins in the handsome gown at the right are destined to spend a glittering career under artificial light. The apron and bodice drapery of sequins are posed over an artfully draped dress of plain satin with a very generous and handsome sash at the left side. Sequin covered fabrics are made to match many colors in satins and one can imagine with pleasure this gown in lovely blues and greens that call to mind the glorious plumage of the peacock.

Hats Take on Companions

IN THE spring the milliner's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of companion pieces for hats, or so it appears, and we have hats with bags or parasols or scarfs to match that easily inveigle many extra dollars out of the weekers after spring headwear. Hats with bags to match are almost irresistible, the same fabrics going to make each of them. Among these, turbans of georgette crepe with bead trimmings, have made the way of the modiste easy, for bags of georgette founcces, applied to silk foundations and fringed with beads, present no difficulties in the making, and are wonderfully alluring.

Ribbons lend themselves to hats and bags with equal success and millinery fabrics, including them, find themselves in demand for scarfs and parasols to match headwear. How effectively crepe-de-chine may be used appears in the hat and scarf set shown in the illustration. It has a rival in georgette when an added degree of daintiness is required.

In the set shown here the designer chose crepe-de-chine in light gray and gray yarn as mediums for working out a lovely little spring wrap and a quiet hat. They have been completely developed by means of corded shirrings in the crepe together with yarn tassels and stitchery. The wrap is merely a wide scarf fastened to the waistline at the front and at the back where one of its long tassels finds a place of importance.

Love of Pictures Universal.

Mankind has always loved pictures. Races, without a written language, have left behind them rude carvings and murals to attest the fact. When an industry arose that appealed to this ancient appetite with pictures that moved, it did not have to wait long to see whether it would die or flourish. A dozen years ago the motion picture business, as we now know it, did not exist. Today the American public supports 16,500 moving picture theaters, makes 5,000,000,000 visits to them a year and spends $750,000,000 annually for this amusement.—The Nations' Business.

Soiled Bills Help Banks.

The fact that nearly all paper money in circulation now is badly worn and soiled has been one of the reasons why bank deposits have increased, says an up-state banker who was in the city.

"People like to handle clean, crisp bills," he said, "but are afraid of the torn, soiled ones. There is always the chance of getting some disease. Small checking accounts have increased a good deal lately, and this is undoubtedly one of the reasons for it. When new bills come in again the accounts may become fewer. But once people get the habit of using checks they generally stick to it."—New York Sun.

Boy of Eighteen Gets Action.

Midshipman J. L. Storey, a boy of perhaps eighteen, the sole surviving officer of the Queen Mary, reported to his C. O. on the loss of his ship!

That midshipman, by the way, bore a charmed life. At Jutland he was picked up unconscious after sinking twice. He was with Craddock at the battle of Coronel, escaping in the Glasgow after the flagship and the Monmouth had been sunk with not a man saved; with Sturdee in the battle of the Falklands, and in many engagements in the Dardanelles. And, after all, he was the sole surviving officer of one of our largest ships.—London Saturday Review.

Reprisal.

There's a little boy in our town who was given a puppy for Christmas, and the gift being at the puppy's age when everything looks good to chew, he bites harder sometimes than he should. One morning, several days after Christmas, the little dog ran howling from the room. When the little boy's mother inquired what was the matter, he replied: "He bit my finger, and he can't learn to stop biting, so I bit his ear."—Tojola Journal.

Bad Stomach

Sends Her to Bed for 10 Months

Eatonio Gets Her Up!

"Over a year ago," says Mrs. Dora Williams, "I took to bed and for 10 months did not think I would live. Eatonio helped me so much I am now up and able to work. I recommend it highly for stomach trouble." Eatonio helps people to get well by taking up and carrying out the excess acidity and gases that put the stomach out of order. If you have indigestion, sourness, heartburn, belching, food repeating, or other stomach distress, take an Eatonio after each meal. Big box costs only a trifle with your druggist's guarantee.
