CONVENTION IDEA IS FATHERED BY COX; SELLS INTERVIEWED

Congressman Sam R. Sells came here Wednesday with the agricultural train. This train idea was inspired by him and he is proud of the enthusiasm it is arousing throughout East Tennessee.

Since the announcement that the First congressional committee had been called to meet at Bull's Gap there has been no public utterance of Congressman Sells in regard to same. While here Wednesday he was asked what he thought of the idea of the early meeting of the committee and he said that he thought it was premature and that there had been no demand on the part of the people for any such meeting at this early date.

In discussing the matter he said: "This meeting is inspired and the idea fathered by a half dozen professional politicians, men without other means of visible support. This whole scheme to get the committee together at this time in due to the wily brain of one John Isaac Cox who desires to create friction in the Republican ranks and then use the Republicans as an asset of the regular democracy in the next campaign."

Congressman Sells gives John Isaac Cox, who wants to be governor full credit for the manipulations which have been going on and says that it is a known fact that he is in frequent and almost constant communication with Dr. Massey and Chairman Shipley of the republican committee. Congressman Sells says that he does not believe that even John Isaac Cox can see any possible way of beating him for congress but he hopes that the split will enable the Democrats to do some swapping and in that manner, help the Democratic legislative and state tickets.

The convention idea, too, is a scheme of Cox, says Congressman Sells. He knows that if the Republicans call a convention that the changes will be favorable to a split and that there will be two Republicans before the people in November and it is just such a split which is wanted.

In discussing the subject further Congressman Sells says, "It is peculiar that while Cox wants the Republicans to have a convention that he is preaching for a primary in his own party. I don't believe that the Republicans of the First district will permit Cox to designate what course they shall take in any matter."

When asked what he preferred, a primary or a convention, Congressman Sells replied that he preferred a primary of course, as it had always been a custom of the Republicans of the First district to have a primary and he thought that there should be a primary at this time and he said that he would be willing to abide by the result of a primary held under rules so absolutely fair that no man could raise any question as to their fairness.

The congressman left Wednesday afternoon for Nashville, where he had been summoned before the Federal court and will therefore be unable to appear with the train for the next few days. While here he had opportunity to shake hands with many of the farmers and cordial greeting given him by the people here, was proof of his popularity.

AGRICULTURAL TRAIN HERE; GOVERNOR HOOPER SPEAKS

Accompanied by thirty experts, Commissioner of Agriculture T. F. Peck, made his appearance here with the agricultural train Wednesday and a good crowd was in attendance listening to the lectures and looking over the exhibits. The train arrived here from Morristown, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and lectures were given at the courthouse Tuesday night.

A divergency Tuesday afternoon was a visit by several of the experts to the alfalfa field of J. W. Fisher which is described as the finest field of its kind in East Tennessee.

Prof. Brister, superintendent of education, who has not been with the train for several days joined the party here.

The program here was opened by Governor Hooper. In a few words he prised the work of Commissioner Peck and told them of the great beauties of Cocke county. The opening exercises were held on the end of the freight platform, and the crowd which included all of the school children in front on Main street to hear. The Governor was followed by Commissioner Peck and then the four lecturing cars were filled and the different experts were heard. In one car soil and crops was discussed, in another vegetable growing, dairying and live stock, and the speakers changed cars frequently in order that all could hear all subjects discussed.

A good crowd was here. The people were attentive and the demonstration was a fine one and it was evidence of commendable work on the part of the department and the first district congressman who had suggested the idea.

NEGRO KILLS FELLOW WORKMAN WITH SHOVEL

Two negroes, employed on the railroad work of the Tennessee & North Carolina Railroad in the cut opposite Waterville, became involved in a quarrel Monday afternoon and one of them nicknamed "Tetty," struck another over the head with a shovel, the wounded negro sustaining injuries which caused his death in the shack at Waterville at 2 a. m. Tuesday morning.

"Tetty" continued at work for some time after committing the assault but later quietly slipped away, headed toward the mountains and became lost, and it was presumed was trying to get into North Carolina. Local authorities were notified and a coffin was sent up to inter the dead man Tuesday afternoon.

INSTRUCTIONS IN COOKING IS NEEDED

One of the chief features in the treatment and also in the prevention of diseases of the stomach is in the avoidance of improper medication and, what is even more important, of unsuitable diet.

Much improvement is needed in American cooking, and public kitchens and cooking schools might be of great benefit. Serious injury is being caused by insufficient or improper food. Instruction in cooking and diet should be given in all schools where young girls attend. For nine out of every ten girls that attend school it will be a greater blessing and they personally will prove a greater blessing to the community if they know how to prepare a roast, boil potatoes and make an omelet, than if, ignorant in these things, they can give the most scholarly translation in Vergil. In Germany it is not considered below the dignity of daughters of the highest families, even those directly connected with royalty, to attend cooking schools. Nor is such an education incompatible with the best scientific and classical training. So the prevention of diseases of the stomach demands a wider and a more thorough knowledge of the art of cooking.

RECORD OF THE DEATH ANGEL

he gradually weakened until his death. The end was not expected as he had rallied slightly, and just before death came he was talking to a minister and a friend about a pretty horse one of his friends had in Newport, and the minister was still fanning him, even after the death angel had made its appearance.

The body of the young man was sent to Newport for interment, arriving here Monday evening. It was unaccompanied inasmuch, as his young sister, Miss Stella Mae is confined to her bed with fever, and his mother is in bad health as a result of injuries sustained in a fall several weeks ago.

The body was taken to the home of Mrs. Chas. Holland on Main street where it was held until Tuesday afternoon, when it was removed to the M. E. church, South where the funeral services were held, a large concourse of friends gathering to pay last respects to the deceased. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Parrott of Morristown. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

J. H. REDWINE DEAD AT RANKIN

After an illness of nearly a year, during which time his life had been despaired of, J. H. Redwine of Rankin, answered his last call, on Saturday October 21.

The deceased was 65 years old, and is survived by a widow and nine children.

Tuberculosis is given as the cause of his death.

"Uncle" Jimmy Redwine as he was familiarly known by hundreds of friends, came to Rankin twenty-five or thirty years ago and about 18 years ago became an attache of the Southern railroad and acted as their agent, until his health became so poor that he could no longer look after the work.

His death, while expected, was a shock to his many friends. Interment was made Sunday in the burying grounds at Rankin.

Master McDonald Taylor of Del Rio was in the city Saturday and Sunday, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Sue Taylor.

ONE man brushes his hat and another doesn't. That's because one thinks more of himself than the other. People notice. The public takes a man largely at his own valuation.

When a man thinks enough of himself to wear stylish clothes; to wear fine all-wool fabrics; to wear unmistakably hand-tailored garments—he is appraised accordingly.

People say: "He's all right!" "He's a good man!" "A top-notch!" "A live wire!" And so on. That sort of thing is a mighty fine asset for any man.

For men who consider themselves good enough to dress well, we have Kirschbaum's (Cherry Tree Brand) Clothes.
