

About Clothes That Are Made to Fit A Price

We heard a good one the other day. The man who designs our clothing said: "clothes that are made to fit a price, will seldom fit anything else."

And he's right!

Our clothes are made first and priced afterwards, and if we have sold suits a little better than seemed necessary—if we have infused more snap, more dash, more style, more smartness into them than others have done, we have been successful only because we've priced our clothes a little lower than the "usual run" of ready-made suits.

Gorgeous Serges as Low as $12.50 to $22.00

A blue serge is a crackerjack suit to test us on. See what $12.50 will do "around town." Just see the stuff that'll be handed to you—then come in and look at our magnificently-made and smartly-styled serges. Nothing like them is or can be bought for $12.50 except here.

BIG CROWDS AT THE BULL MOOSE MEETING

Theodore Roosevelt Makes His Declaration of Faith, and a Great Deal of Enthusiasm is Manifest in the Convention. Johnson for the Vice Presidency.

Roosevelt's convention is in session at Chicago, and great crowds are in attendance. It is the biggest one man show ever staged and the nomination will be made Wednesday afternoon, late, and it is stated that Governor Johnson of California will be the candidate for the vice presidency.

On Tuesday Roosevelt made his confession of faith today to the national progressive convention. He struck out into new ground, advocating measures which he said frankly would be denounced as either socialism or anarchy. The delegates listened to his speech with the understanding that they must either adopt a platform substantially in consonance with his views or look elsewhere for a nominee for the presidency.

These are the conspicuous points in the Roosevelt program:

Recall of judicial decisions, as first advocated by Colonel Roosevelt in the spring campaign, and for which he was subjected to wide criticism. Col. Roosevelt now advocates its extension to apply to federal as well as state courts. He favors the establishment of machinery to make easier of amendment both the national and state constitutions, especially with the view of prompt actions on certain judicial decisions.

Use of the government to assist workmen to become part-owners of the business in which they are employed.

The government system should be shaped so that "the public servant, when he cannot conscientiously carry out the wishes of the people, shall at their desire leave his office and not misrepresent them in office.

Colonel Roosevelt did not suggest the method by which he would bring this about and there was much speculation as to whether he had in mind a fundamental change in the American system of government. By some it was interpreted as a declaration in favor of the recall to include legislative, executive and judicial officers of the national government from the President down.

Control of the trusts through retention of the Sherman anti-trust law and establishment of an interstate industrial commission to regulate industrial corporations as the interstate commerce commission regulates railroads. Corporations which come voluntarily under this commission and obey its orders to be immune from prosecution under the Sherman law. Those who fail to do so to be subjected to prosecution and if the prosecution is successful, thorough dismemberment, and not to be allowed to do business save as laid down by the commission.

Adoption of a number of measures to secure "social and industrial justice to the wage workers." Included in the list are establishment immediately of minimum wage scales for women, minimum wage commissions to fix standards of wages for all workers, old age pensions, a living wage which Colonel Roosevelt defines as an amount sufficient to provide for education, recreation, care for immature members of the family, maintenance of the family during sickness and accumulation of reasonable saving for old age; prohibition of night labor for women and children, with eight-hour shifts for men in the industries where men are employed 24 hours a day; national and state workmen's compensation laws, guarantee by law of one day's rest in every seven, old age insurance and insurance against sickness, invalidism and involuntary employment, the cost of such insurance to be distributed among employer, employe and perhaps the people at large.

Legislation to increase popular control over governmental agencies, including a national law for presidential primaries, election of United States senators by direct vote, the short ballot, corrupt practices acts applying to primaries as well as elections, qualified adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall.

Woman suffrage.
Strengthening of the pure food law.
Establishment of a national health department.

Creation of a permanent tariff commission to study the effects of protection and the relations of the tariff to labor. Col. Roosevelt declares against blanket revisions of the tariff, saying that changes should be made schedule by schedule.

Measures to solve the high cost of living, among which are suggested elimination of the middle man, legislation to stop speculation which inflates prices, assistance of the farmer by state and national governments, good roads, reclamation of arid and swamp lands and an expert examination into any tariff schedule which seems to increase the cost of living.

Development by the federal government of the Mississippi river as a deep waterway by use of the plant employed on the Panama canal upon completion of the canal.

Fortification of the Panama canal. Free passage through the canal for coastwise traffic and imposition of equal tolls for all other ships of whatever nation.

Navy to be built up steadily until reduction of armaments is made possible by international agreement.

Denounces the republican and democratic parties as husks and a "boss-ridden and privilege controlled." He asserted that the "chief concern of the privileged interests" was to defeat the new party and that they cared little whether they beat it with President Taft or Woodrow Wilson, regarding the difference between them as trivial.

ONE ON SAM SELLS

Congressman Sam R. Sells says this is just a "cloak-room lie," but his Republican friends are telling it on him up here any way:

There were two very active and insistent applicants for a postoffice appointment in Sam Sells' district. One was not a man of any very extensive educational attainments but had two smart daughters who were to help out with the work. The other applicant was better educated. On the recommendation of Sells, No. 1 was named for the job. Applicant No. 2 was enraged. He could not contain himself. Actually a man without education had been named postmaster! He hopped the train and rushed on to Washington to enter his protest in person. On arriving here he sought out Dr. Granfield, First Assistant Postmaster General, and put in his kick. He made it strong and vigorous.

"Why," he declared to the official with vehemence, "you've put in a man down there that actually can't read and write; a man that ain't got any education at all!"

"Well, he can read a little writing, can't he?" asked Dr. Granfield in a mild sort of way.

"Read writin', hell," yelled the unsuccessful applicant, "he can't even read readin'!"—Nashville Banner.

FLOWER PARTY FOR MRS. BIBLE

Mrs. Wells is Hostess in Event for Newport Lady Who is Leaving City.

Mrs. Wm. Bible furnished the inspiration for a beautifully planned "Flower Party," Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. E. O. Wells charmingly entertained a large guest company in honor of Mrs. Bible who leaves in a few days for her future home in Warrensburg.

The delightful home had for its decorations many bright flowers placed in vases effectively here and there in the reception rooms.

A very interesting flower contest was the diversion of the afternoon. Several of the guests being successful they were asked to think of a number the honoree had in mind, Mrs. Hugh Huff and Miss Madge Mims being the closest were awarded china plates.

Mrs. Bible was presented with a lovely china salad bowl.

Miss Nelle Kidwell, gowned in white, presided over the punch bowl, Mrs. Wells wore a white lingerie with embroidery trimmings and Mrs. Bible was gowned in a white dress with linen bands and a touch of black.

A most delicious ice course was served after the contest.

A pretty sentiment connected with the party was that each guest was asked to wear a flower and it truly was a delightful flower party. Many varieties being worn.

Quite Right.

Husband—I won't say marriage is a failure, but some are more fortunate in what they get than others.

Wife—You are quite right, dear; for instance, you got me, but I—got only you.—Tit-Bits.

International Sympathy.

"Chawlie is an aw'ful loyal chap, don't you know?"

"Is he? How so, dear boy?"

"Why, he saw in the papers that there's a strike of all the London tailors and so he's wearing his old clothes out of sympathy for the London chap-les, don't you know?"

Sweet Bondage.

Gabe—I see that congress is going to free the poor serfs who are held in bondage by the baseball trust.

Steve—Well, I wish some one would sentence me to five years' servitude in one of the major leagues.

POULTRY A BIG FEATURE

This Department Will Be One of the Important Ones of Newport Fair.

The managers of the poultry department of the Fair association plan a big poultry show this year, September 18, 19, 20, a show which will eclipse all former efforts of the Newport association, and the shows here during the past years have been stellar events.

The management which is composed of A. J. Stanbery and Mrs. Ed C. Burnett have announced that they have changed the premium list from that published in the catalog and the following will be the list for the poultry show.

RULES—1. All premiums of this Association are open to everyone. The rules of the American Poultry Association will govern the show and the awarding of prizes. No entry fees will be charged and birds will be judged by comparison.

2. All birds must be exhibited in standard size coops—single birds and pairs in coops 24x24x30 inches high. Pens in coops 24x40x30 inches high.

3. All birds entered for competition must be the property of the person in whose name they are entered and must be in their natural condition, i. e., no artificial coloring on feathers, shanks, head or comb and no alterations of any kind by knife or otherwise except as to game males.

4. No cards, names or advertising matter of any kind whatever will be allowed on or near the coops until after all premiums are awarded, and no exhibitor will be allowed to enter or be present while the awards are being placed.

5. All specimens must be entered and in position in the show room on Wednesday, Sept. 18, at which time the entries will close. This rule will be strictly adhered to.

PRIZES

Birds to compete for single entry prizes must be entered singly, and can not compete for pen prizes. Prizes on all standard breeds on each class will be as follows:

SINGLE CLASS

- First Cock, 50 cents and blue ribbon.
- First Cockerel, 50 cents and blue ribbon.
- First Hen, 50 cents and blue ribbon.
- First Pullet, 50 cents and blue ribbon.
- Second Cock, 25 cents and red ribbon.
- Second Cockerel, 25 cents and red ribbon.
- Second Hen, 25 cents and red ribbon.
- Second Pullet, 25 cents and red ribbon.

PEN CLASS

Birds to compete for pen prizes must be entered as pens, four females and one male, and cannot compete for single prizes, but pen prizes only.

- First pen, $1 and blue ribbon.
- Second pen, 50 cents and red ribbon.

BANTAMS

All bantams must be exhibited in pairs only, prizes to be as follows:

- First Prize Pair, 50 cents and blue ribbon.
- Second Prize Pair, 25 cents and red ribbon.

TURKEYS AND WATER FOWLS

All standard turkeys and water fowls must be exhibited in pairs only, prizes to be as follows:

- First Prize Pair, $1.50 and blue ribbon.
- Second Prize Pair, 75 cents and red ribbon.

The Association offers $5 in gold for the largest and best exhibit, any breed, all breeds competing, and $2.50 in gold for the second best and largest exhibit.

NOTICE—The Fair association wishes to thank the farmers and breeders of pure bred poultry and for their past assistance in this department, and to heartily solicit their aid and co-operation in making this show the best they have ever had. Be sure to show a big lot of birds this time, and help make this an attractive and educational event.

Anything you do not understand ask the managers of this department, who will gladly answer all questions.

Inquisitive Dorothy.

Little Dorothy was having her first experience of riding in a sleeper. She was in a lower berth with her mother and she asked so many questions that she had to be told to keep quiet.

"Just one more, mamma," coaxed the little miss.

"Well, child, what is it?"

"Who has the flat above us?"
