Announcements.

For Sheriff.

We are authorized to announce T. J. Sawyer a candidate for re-election to the office of Sheriff of Hardin County, subject to the will of the Republican party.

The Lawton fund has reached the nice sum of $97000.00.

General Buller has evidently pulled the British situation on the Tugela river.

A general vaccination has been ordered by the health officers of Jackson, Tenn., to prevent the further spread of smallpox at that place.

W. E. Grimes, editor of the Kenton Argus, has announced his candidacy to represent Gibson County in the lower house of the next General Assembly.

A resolution was introduced in Congress last week to fix July 4th, 1900, as the day for withdrawing the military forces of the United States from Cuba, and leaving the Government of the island thereafter to Cubans.

The editors of the State are up in arms against the paper trust now existing. As a result of the trust, patent sheets, and printer's stationery of all kinds have advanced 50 per cent. It works a great hardship upon publishers and printers alike, and every paper in the State should fight it.

After a long conference of Republicans and Democrats at the seat of government of Kentucky Monday night, a peaceful settlement of the political middle over the rightful heir to the governor's chair was agreed to, letting the finding of the Legislature be final.

Hon. Frank P. Boyd of Waynesboro, our brilliant Attorney General, announces his candidacy for Congress over in the 7th congressional district last week. Mr. Boyd is an eloquent speaker, young energetic, and would if elected, reflect honor upon that district. His friends in Hardin county will watch with interest his campaign.

A little over a year ago press dispatches from the Philippines announced the "beginning of the end" of the insurrection and the capture of Aguinaldo. With the beginning of the end so long, what must be the length of the entire period of this interesting but expensive business of pacification and "benevolent assimilation"?

Take your own census before the census taker comes around. Do it this winter. Set down number of acres in each crop, quantity grown and its value. Put down also number of live stock, value, product from dairy cows, poultry, etc. Let it all be in black and white when the census agent appears, and then you won't have to guess, and the 1900 census will not be a guess work.

Gov. Benton McMillan, through some of his intimate friends in the State has announced the fact that he will be a candidate for the U. S. Senate. The Governor favors the election of U. S. Senators by a direct vote of the people. The Tennessee Legislature, at its last session adopted a resolution urging congress to submit an amendment to the Constitution authorizing the election of Senators by popular vote. This met with the Governors hearty approval, and he has forwarded to each member of Congress from this State and also to Senators a certified copy of the resolutions. With Carmack and McMillan in the field, it forecasts warm times ahead.

The Boer has indeed got his hand to the plow, and he is making a deep furrow. What his harvest will be is in the womb of the season. At least he has borne himself out without credit to his occupation. He has shown for his part that "the man with the hoe" is not to be despised when he is provoked to get his gun. A little over a hundred years ago Washington and other American leaders were epithetically derided by the British as "farmers."

Second only to the mooted locality of Aguinaldo is the whereabouts of General Wheeler. Gen. Otis says he has no suitable place for him in the field. Congressmen at Washington say he is no longer entitled to the seat to which he was elected in the house. But the matchlessly lively little patriot will soon be in Washington scorching the trail between the Capitol, the White House and the War Department. So we are sure to hear from him again.

The assassination of Senator Goebel at Frankfort, Ky., resulting in his death last Saturday evening, is a matter of serious regret throughout the whole country. A few days before his death, Mr. Goebel was sworn in as Governor of Kentucky, and at present that State is confronted with two Governors and two Legislatures, both contending for supremacy. Just what the outcome will be is difficult to forecast, but from press dispatches, indications are that more blood shed will be necessary to settle the difference between the factions.

Republicans Meet.

Pursuant to a call for a mass convention, issued by A. A. Watson, Chairman of the County Republican Executive Committee, a large crowd of representative Republicans of Hardin county met in convention in Savannah last Monday. The court house space being inadequate to seat the vast assembly, the convention was held in Library Hall, convening in the afternoon. H. H. Hinkle was elected chairman, and A. B. Patterson secretary of the meeting. A thorough reorganization of the county committee being effected, the convention proceeded to discuss the election of county delegates to the State convention when it meets, to select a delegate to the National convention, Hon. John E. McCaul and James Jeffries, being the candidates for delegates at large. Mr. McCaul's side was ably represented by E. W. Ross, W. P. Story, A. A. Watson, and others; Jeffries, by Hons. Warren Smith, Frank P. Smith, R. D. DeFord, Riley Patterson; Ed DeFord, and others, all of whom made speeches touching the merits of their choice for delegate. Finally the convention agreed to send delegates uninstructed to the State convention. The convention instructed that the delegates to the congressional convention vote for the nomination of Hon. P. H. Thrasher, as Hardin County's choice for Congress. A primary election for County officers was set for March 17th, next.

A. A. Watson was re-elected Chairman of the Rep. Ex. Com., and G. W. Bingham, Secretary.

Our "Bender" critic certainly has a strong arm and a mind as broad as the universe or he would not undertake to bend the summit of our National capitol over into New York, regardless of our congressional power. And, my! my! what a compilation of laws the two Equestrian statues mentioned must contain. Just think of the weighty granite or marble base the statue is placed upon. The gentleman is certainly mistaken. These are not the slabs that Moses written the law upon for the Hebrews on Mt. Sinai while the thunder was roaring and the smoke ascending and the Mount trembling at the presence of God. No! no! These slabs just have enough law written on them to honor Jackson as one of our great generals. Mr. "Bender" in his criticism states, that Jackson nor Packinham had not received the treaty of peace before the engagement at New Orleans. I don't know Mr. "Packinham," but suppose he has reference to Pakenham, the British commander, who led his forces against Jackson, and was swept from the face of the earth, and doesn't know anything about the treaty of peace until yet. If there had been forty treaties that would not have saved the destruction of New Orleans by the British forces had Jackson not marched to the defence of the City. Be it understood, there had been treaties signed by Great Britain before the one at Ghent. This was the second war for the independence of America. The battle at New Orleans sealed the cap-stone of peace.

Mr. "Bender" also tackled the sickly fellow, and our Legislative body, and climbed the calendar ladder up to the warm days of June. "BEHOLD THE MAN."

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that Consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not.
