Box Supper.

The Box Supper Saturday night at the school house was a decided success. There was a very large crowd present, and quite a number from Whitwell and other places attended.

Prof. H. E. Tate at 7:30 made an introductory address, and W. S. Pryor then introduced the Sequachee Orchestra to the public, who were well received. Miss Maude Brown then read Mr. C. H. Pearson's poem, "Epicurus in Jeans" and from the amount of applause given it struck a popular vein. The orchestra then played another selection, "The Song of the Nightingale," a beautifully tender composition by Zeller, which was well received. Mr. H. E. Tate then recited "The Dying of the Year" in an effective manner, and the musical and literary part of the program was closed by the orchestra with a rattling whirlwind of a piece entitled "Souvenir Schottische," which set the nerves of their hearers to tingling with pleasure. The measure was sustained by the tramp of many feet upon the floor. The orchestra was composed of Miss Elin Gustafson, mandolin; Mr. W. C. Hill, violin; Miss Louise Hill and Mr. C. J. Gustafson, guitars.

Then W. S. Pryor auctioned the boxes off, and everyone who had invested in a box "hunted up his girl" and they went to the serious business of the evening.

Prof. H. E. Tate then offered a beautiful ring valued at $3.50 to the young lady receiving the highest number of votes during the evening. The contest was chiefly confined to Misses Bessie Hammonk and Amanda Curtis, who received 33 and 30 votes respectively, and Miss Hammonk was declared the winner. It was Mr. Tate's idea, that of offering a ring instead of a cake to be voted for, and the winner has a valuable souvenir of the occasion.

Ice cream and cake were on sale under the management of an able corps of assistants, and sold well. The cream was especially nice and was made by Mrs. L. W. Gabel.

The receipts for the evening were as follows: Ring, $7.00; boxes, $5.50; ice cream, $8.05. Total, $20.55. The expenses for the occasion were as follows: Ice 70c, sugar 25c, vanilla 10c, eggs 12c, salt 8c, cookies 40c, use of freezers 75c, ring $3.50. Total $5.90, which deducted from gross amount leaves a net gain of $14.65. To this may be added $2.90, the share on a former entertainment, or $17.55, which will be used to build a coal house and make other necessary improvements at the school house. The amount has been deposited with Mr. W. C. Hill as treasurer.

First District Schools.

The three public schools in the first district closed Friday last.

The first sub-district school was taught by Miss Phoebe Ables to the entire satisfaction of the people and directors. The prizes offered in her school for meritorious students was awarded, the first two prizes to Bertie McCullough and 3rd to John Eakin, Jr.

Second sub-district school was taught by Mrs. W. A. Price and quite satisfactory. The prize offered was awarded to Miss Bessie Almony.

The third sub-district was taught by James C. Thornton, of Sequachee, and a good prize was awarded to Ellen Rust.

Northern Sympathy.

LACONIA, N. H., Sept. 26, 1899.
Messrs. Editors:
The intelligence of the death of Clarence H. Pearson, although not unexpected, cast a gloom of sadness over the city of Laconia.

He came here in his early boyhood and grew up among us and had hundreds of warm friends in this vicinity. He was ever a favorite in schools, debating clubs and dramatic entertainments, and his ability, wit and originality attracted much attention. When a boy he edited an amateur paper and early in youth contributed much in both prose and verse to our local press and attracted the attention of our people in many ways of his marked evidence of rare gifts. Here he was a law student and first entered upon the practice of his profession, and Laconia has a warm spot for him.

His remains arrived here at 5:20 p. m., on the 4th inst., and were immediately taken to the Union Cemetery and deposited in the family lot by the side of his mother whom he loved so well. Many of his friends gathered, including relatives, members of the bar, a large delegation from the United Order of Pilgrim Father, a fraternal society to which he connected himself some 30 years ago, and many others. A brief funeral service was held by Rev. A. L. Smith, pastor of the M. E. church.

This, however, was not enough. Last Sunday afternoon memorial services were held at the Unitarian church. Here Hon. W. L. Melcher, well-known in Sequachee, Hon. E. P. Jewell, the able lawyer, whose office he entered as a student years ago, and Rev. Mr. Rice, pastor of the church, spoke, each paying high and eloquent tributes to him who has been cut down in the prime of life.

At the hall of the Pilgrim Father's, the evening following another memorial service was held, in which John W. Ashburn, Esq., a bank cashier and formerly associated as a law partner, Walter S. Peasley, Esq., a lawyer, and an early and intimate friend, Mrs. Dora E. Foss, an old class-mate, Fred A. Young, a real estate agent, Mrs. Eva N. Burlingame, Mrs. Minnie A. Hoyt, Mrs. Jennie Bickford and other friends took part. Extracts from his poems were read as well as the two notices of his death in the News.

Clarence H. Pearson was, indeed, a man of rare intelligence and virtue, and Laconia is proud of his memory and sincerely mourns his loss. His death is a misfortune to the world at large.
LACONIAN.

Confirms Our Point.

Victoria, Tenn., Oct. 2, 1899.
Editors News:

The question came up in our Sunday School yesterday morning in regard to the Sunday School Convention being held at South Pittsburg next year again. In view of the fact that one man was killed in a saloon and other disturbances took place in connection with the saloons while the Convention was being held there two weeks ago, we, as a Sunday school by unanimous vote agreed not to patronize any Sunday School Convention that may be held in any town where saloons are allowed to be kept open on that day. If saloons can't be closed on that day according to law, we are in favor of holding Conventions in a place where there are no saloons.

Be it understood that we do not mean to cast any reflections on the management of the Convention by the above resolution, or yet on the good people of South Pittsburg. We are told the management was excellent—sorry we could not have been there—and that the good people did all they possibly could for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. But this fact still stares us in the face, the man was killed in a saloon while the Convention was being held at South Pittsburg, besides other saloon disturbances, so we are told. It has been decided to hold the next Convention at the same place. We are all in favor of this provided the good people of the town will see that the saloons are closed and kept closed that day.
Respectfully yours,
JOHN FRATER.

October Ledger Monthly.

A handsome portrait of Admiral Dewey, in colors, is given on the cover of the October number of the Ledger Monthly. The Dewey Triumphant Arch erected in New York for the Dewey Celebration, showing the magnificent sculptured ornaments by J. Q. A. Ward and others, from a drawing by Warren H. Davis, forms the frontispiece. Accompanying these pictures in this Dewey number of the Ledger Monthly are articles on the "Return of the Victors," by Rowan Stephen. "How the Admiral left Manila," and an illustrated article entitled "In Old Manila," a very interesting sketch of the city and its people. Eben E. Belford contributes an interesting novelette entitled the "Dunbar Pride," and Dorothy Deane a gipsy story, "The brand of the Roman," which has some capital illustrations by W. H. Worrall. All the usual departments are maintained, and nowhere in the periodical world can so much be had for five cents a copy or 50 cents a year, as in the Ledger Monthly. Robert Bonner's Sons, Publishers, Ledger Building, New York.

Great Presidential Campaign of 1900.

The policies of the great political parties are now being formed and the candidates discussed. The voice of the people as recorded by ballot at the approaching Presidential campaign will probably decide the policy of the nation for the next decade. Every citizen must study the great questions that are to come before the people. This can only be done through the medium of a great newspaper. Now is the time therefore, for every voter to subscribe for the best and most reliable newspaper obtainable. The Semi-Weekly Republic covers the whole field of political news. While it is Democratic, it publishes the news in regard to all political parties without prejudice. Its telegraphic and cable news service is superior to that of any other paper. Its special features are the best. In fact, it is the paper for that large class of readers who cannot afford or do not have access to the daily papers.

Attention is also called to The Republic's Sunday Magazine. Its half-toned illustrations are alone worth the subscription price. It is made up of special articles by the best literary talent, embracing a variety of subjects of current interest. News features of abiding interest are illustrated and enlarged upon. For the benefit of the ladies the latest fashions are handsomely illustrated. The Republic Sunday Magazine is always interesting to every member of the family.

A short program of songs and recitations was rendered by the Juniors and then music was furnished by Miss Elin Gustafson, Mr. C. J. Gustafson and Mr. William Hodges, on guitar and mandolin. There were quite a number present and the evening passed off very pleasantly.
