BIGGER FAIR THAN EVER

Chattanooga Fair Officials Making Elaborate Plans.

Chattanooga, March 1.—Further important improvements are now announced by the Chattanooga fair association. First and foremost, the name of the fair in the future will be the Chattanooga Inter-state Fair, instead of the Chattanooga District fair, as in the past. The premium list this year will amount to about $20,000 an increase of nearly 33 per cent. over last year. The dates for the fair this year will be from Sept. 29 to Oct. 4, and many new features are already being arranged, chief of which will be the big government exhibit which proved so popular at many of the state fairs last year.

NOTES OF THE REVIVAL

The meeting at Sequatchie continues with considerable increase in attendance and interest. Those who do not attend these services are missing, not only a golden opportunity to worship the living God and assist in leading the lost souls to Christ, but also a series of gospel sermons which bring to us burning truths from beginning to end.

Brother Gray makes a great sacrifice in coming to us at this time. He comes to help us make for ourselves a better town. Are YOU willing to help.

The service he renders is equal to that of our best conference evangelists. You cannot afford to let these opportunities pass with no effort to help save your boys and girls.

Services are held daily, beginning at 2:30 p. m. and 7:15 p. m. Another great feature is the excellent singing. A good organist, a willing choir and a leader filled with the Spirit makes a wonderful impression. Solos are being rendered at each service by the evangelist.

REV. E. R. LEWIS, Pastor.

Well, spring is here, but everybody is backward with their garden and plowing for corn. We still have our rains, which keep the ground wet. There is a right smart of ground plowed for oats. It seems that everybody is trying to put in a few oats this year. As the drouth cut the corn short last year, it is going to make feed scarce to feed on until a crop is made, and oats are fine to catch up.

Special to the News.

As I have failed to write two or three weeks in the last two months, I feel that I should tell why I have failed. It has been on account of poor health. For several months I have been unable to get around very much. I am and have been in poor health all winter. Hope the readers will excuse.

Last Sunday I went to spend the day with G. W. Henson, and had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Clyde Kelly, nee Miss Abbie Clark. She was on her way from New Mexico to Jasper, Tenn., and stopped over in Dallas a few days. Mrs. Kelly has many friends in Dallas, who are always glad to welcome her, and wish her happiness thru life.

Tuesday morning we were treated to a little winter. When I started to breakfast there was a strong north wind, a little later a mist of rain and sleet turned into snow. By 12 o'clock it was all cleared away and the sun was shining brightly, like spring.

We are often treated to short changes like that. Not likely to have any more protracted cold spells more than 24 to 48 hours at a time. People are preparing and planting gardens. Corn planting time is about here, but farmers are all behind with their breaking and preparing lands on account of so much rain all winter, but everything indicates good crops and the U. S. sure needs good crops to put it in normal condition again.

We are very busy here preparing to take care of and entertain the delegates and visitors to the head camp of the W. O. W. that meets here April 8. We expect a big crowd.

I expect I will leave Dallas about April 15 to go to Paris, Texas to live. That is about 100 miles north of Dallas. My health is getting too bad to be alone. E. C. Bracken, my son wants me to come and live with him, and I have about decided to go. There are many things that make this place near and dear to me, but we cannot always remain young and in good health, so we have to make the best of life that we can.

Intended to go down and see Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Payne 4 miles south of Dallas to day. Mr. Payne is very sick, but it was so cold I did not think it would be best to get out.

Hope to hear from many of the correspondents in the next issue of the News. I would love to see a letter from T. S. Bracken and friend Dame, of Crisp, Texas.

As I feel pretty poorly, I will ring off. Lone Star.

Herrin, Ill.

Special to the News.

We are having some fine weather, almost like spring.

Work is very slack at present, some of the mines have shut down.

The powder plant about three miles from here blew up at 9:35 p. m. Monday night, Feb. 10. It didn't kill anyone at the plant, as there wasn't any men there at that time. It is said they had gone out to eat a lunch. Eight hundred kegs of powder exploded and it is a red shake Herrin. It broke out nearly all the glass fronts in stores, and lots of window panes. The shock was felt two hundred miles from here.

A man in an aeroplane stopped here Friday and stayed about four hours. He was on his way to Dexter, Mo. A large crowd went to see the plane. It was quite a show to see it rise from the ground. It flew around over the town for a while. Several have been here in planes from Bellville, Ill.

A livery stable run by C. G. Hunter burned Saturday night. Twelve horses were burned and about seven carloads of hay. The Storme undertaking firm lost their ambulance in the fire. The express company lost two horses and express wagon.

Henry Ford, aged 15 years, was killed Monday night by a train in Benton, Ill. His mother lives here in Herrin. They had started to take him to the reform school at Pontiac. He jumped from the train to come back home. His remains were brought here Tuesday for burial.

Two men were killed in the mines Monday and two more hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pease.

Geabel Matheny returned last week from France. He has purchased a new car since he came home.

Mrs. Crecie Baltimore and children spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Lizzie Rogers.

T. O. Neal and family went out in the country Friday, visiting relatives.

Jud Rogers, of Norris City, Ill., was in Herrin Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pease and Mrs. Dunning took a car ride out to Dale mines Friday evening. As they came back the boss and superintendent of Dale mines got into ride to town. They were about one mile from town on S 13th St., when a runaway team of horses overtook them and ran into the car, breaking one of the rear wheels all to pieces and turning the car over. No one was very seriously hurt, but Mrs. Dunning got a few skinned places on her face, the boss' face was bruised a little and Mrs. Pease was thrown out two feet or more from the rest. Don't hardly see what kept them all from being killed. The Lord surely took care of them and spared their lives, for it sure was a bad wreck. The team went on about a hundred yards and ran into a truck, damaging it some, but not like it did the car. The team stopped when they hit the truck.

Jim Hudson and family left a few days ago for Kentucky. Said they liked Kentucky better than Illinois.

Building Town On Mountain

The Marion Coal & Lumber Co. has practically a town started on Cumberland Mountain about five miles from here. It is called Marion from the first portion of name of company as displayed on a signboard there. It is located where Power Line crosses the Higginbotham turnpike or Tracy Road.

A store building 24x48 has been built, nicely ceiled with ceiling from Chattanooga, and large quantities of goods are arriving daily. It is said that they sell at the same figure on the mountain as in the valley. If so, it is a business deadener to the stores at this place, as mountain people will naturally patronize the nearer store when money cannot be saved by hitting the longer trail.

A large granary has been built near store.
Two dwelling houses have been built and are now occupied, and two more are in the process of construction.

Hats off to the push and enterprise of the new town of Marion on the breezy heights of Cumberland.
