In this issue of The Falcon is the call by T. A. Crawford, chairman of the county executive committee, for a meeting of that committee to make plans for the democratic primary to nominate candidates for register, trustee and sheriff, said nominees to be voted for in the election August 1916. It has been customary to have this election in October and we are told that the candidates who will go into the primary have agreed to ask for a primary to be held during the coming October. The committee generally accedes to the request of a majority of the candidates in this matter and it seems now that the date of the primary will be during that month. So far as The Falcon knows at this writing there is no opposition to J. T. Jordan for sheriff. He has served two terms and is eligible for but one more term, and it has been the custom in this county to give each sheriff three terms which the constitution fixes as a limit for an incumbent of that office. No candidate is out for trustee except the present incumbent who has served only the present term. J. W. Matthews who was elected register by the county court at its recent term will be opposed, if rumor has it right, by L. N. Carter of the first district, and by W. L. Jewell of the twelfth district, and there are others who are considering the question of entering that race. But the three candidates for register named are sure to run if they carry out present intentions. Members of the county board of education will be elected in the August election, also, but it is not known whether the committee will take these into the primary plan. So is an attorney-general to be elected to fill the unexpired term of J. A. Tipton who resigned and whose place was filled by the appointment of his son Nat Tipton, by Hooper in the last days of his administration. But The Falcon has not learned of what the committee will probably do in this race, the other counties of the circuit having as much say in the nominee for that office as Fayette has. But it has been suggested that Fayette might give her endorsement in this race. A tax assessor will

All Out of Sorts.

Has Any Somerville Person Never Felt That Way?

Feel all out of sorts?
Tired, Blue, Irritable, Nervous?
Back feel lame and achy?
Perhaps it's the story of disordered kidneys—
Bad blood circulated about;
Uric acid poisoning the body.
There's a way to feel right again,
Stimulate the sluggish kidneys;
Do it with Doan's Kidney Pills.
Doan's are recommended by many Somerville people.

Here's one case.
Mrs. R. D. Higga, S. Main St., Somerville, says: "I suffered from weak and disordered kidneys and there was a constant, dull, grinding ache in the small of my back. It was hard for me to stoop to pick up anything and difficult for me to do my housework. As soon as I took Doan's Kidney Pills, I was helped and before long, the pain left my back and my kidneys became normal. My health has been fine ever since." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Higga had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv. 9-1 be nominated in the coming primary to succeed the present incumbent who is serving the unexpired term of the late David Dobbins, and The Falcon has not heard whether or not Mr. Morton, the present assessor, will be a candidate. This is one of the most important offices in the county and one that should be filled by one of the best men in the county, one who will go to each district in person and cover the entire district and see every taxpayer and get his property correctly listed. With the promise of a county campaign in October and a primary for United States senator in November, the race for congressman near at hand, politics promise to call for much consideration of the voters of this section during the coming fall.

The attacks being made upon citizens who entered the jail at Osceola, Arkansas, a few days ago and shot to death a prisoner who was being held under a charge of running a blind tiger and inciting negroes to shoot white officers, the killing of the sheriff of the county, etc., may be bearing out a humane principle, but when these things are brought right home to ANY community, ANY WHERE, that community is mighty apt to take steps that will guarantee speedy disposition of such criminals. We have never found occasion to criticize a community for an action which we believed our own or any other would take under similar circumstances. The course of the law with prisoners and the almost absolute certainty of every one finally gaining his liberty, work together to bring communities to mob violence. Criminals escape punishment too often under the course of the law, and when citizens know this, they are not disposed to let the guilty go free, or free after a short imprisonment as is too often the case. Matters are drifting too rapidly away from administering adequate punishment to those found guilty of certain crimes, even though they receive the sentence their crimes warrant. The above was illustrated a few months ago when a negro guilty of a dastardly assault to murder a white citizen of this county was tried and given a $10 fine and a workhouse sentence, when the people felt that he deserved a much more severe punishment. A little later when the same white man and another were shot to death by another negro the people felt that just punishment would never be given this negro thru the court channels and he was taken from a posse while enroute from Memphis to Somerville and was executed. We deplore such action, and so do other good citizens, but an outraged public will not always submit to the slow and uncertain processes of the law. Had Tim Armour been adequately punished by the courts we veritably believe that R. L. Day and Pleas Hawkins would have been living today and this community would have escaped the odium which it has received from the outside for the deserving penalty dealt to Tom Brooks.

Where live stock is a factor on the farm make every field hog-tight and sheep-tight; have thoroughly good permanent pastures; grow leguminous crops; build a silo; and keep only pure-bred males. These five things are absolutely essential in the economical production of live stock. Of course this program calls for some labor and expense, but the permanent condition of prosperity in the sections devoted to live stock production is proof of the good profit derived therefrom.—U. S. Department Bulletin.

With the announcement of K. D. McKeellar as a candidate for United States senator from this state which announcement was made on Monday, there are three in the field, the others being Luke Lea and Thetis W. Sims. And the list is not yet closed, there may be others.

IT PAYS.

"The codfish lays a million eggs,
The helpful hen lays one;
But the codfish never cackles
To boast of what she's done,
And so we scorn the codfish, coy,
But the helpful hen we prize,
Which indicates to thoughtful minds
It pays to advertise."—Selected.

What a blessed thing it is that we can forget! To-day's troubles look large, but a week hence they will be forgotten and buried out of sight. Says one writer: "If you would keep a book and daily put down the things that worry you, and see what becomes of them, it would benefit you. You allow a thing to annoy you, just as you allow a fly to settle on you and plague you; and you lose your temper and you justify yourself by being thrown off your balance by causes which you do not trace out. But if you could see what it was that threw you off your balance before breakfast, and put it down in a little book, and follow it up and follow it out, and ascertain what becomes of it, you would see what a fool you were in the matter." The art of forgetting is a blessed art, but the art of overlooking is quite as important. And if we should take time to write down the origin, progress and outcome of a few of our troubles, it would make us so ashamed of the fuss we make over them, that we should be glad to drop such things and bury them at once in eternal forgetfulness. Life is too short to be worn out in petty worries, frettings, hatreds and vexations.

The outlook for a cotton market this fall continues to brighten up. Recent developments indicate that bankers of the south are willing to furnish sufficient money to move the entire crop, and the Federal Reserve Board promises to co-operate with bankers in this step. Last year the exchanges, both cotton and stock, were closed at this time of year and no cotton factor in the south knew where he could obtain money to help move the crop. Hence many local markets did not offer to buy the cotton offered them at the opening of the season. Buyers are making plans now to take the crop of this year as rapidly as it is offered for sale, and in this respect Somerville is better off than in former years, for the reason that it appears now that she will have more buyers than she has had for several seasons past. Indication are, too, that the price will start out at least one third better than it was last year, and probably it will not fall below that opening point. We have gone thru a very close season, but it seems that the dawn of a better period is about to break upon us.

The weather bureau reports show a deficiency in rainfall in this section since January 1 of more than eleven inches. The deficiency for the twelve months of last year was more than twenty four inches. This is, the total deficiency since January 1, 1914 is more than thirty five inches, or the rainfall for that period is little more than one half the normal rainfall for the same length of time. Never in the history of the weather bureau has there been such a deficiency in the same period of time. It has now been more than seven weeks since this immediate vicinity had a thoro season, and farmers generally report the present growth more disastrous than the eleven weeks growth of last year. Several sections of the county had thoro seasons last week, but the central part of the county from east to west had only showers, wetting the well tilled ground to a depth of about two inches, and unbroken ground much less. Pastures are parched to death in this vicinity, gardens are dried up, much corn is ruined and serious damage has already been done to both early and late plantings. Cotton is much injured, but not as seriously as is the corn crop.

The hardest house keeping in the world is the housekeeping that people do for their neighbors. Half the troubles we have are caused by worrying about what people think. What difference does it make what they think, anyway? No one can live his own life and two or three other people's lives besides. What's the use of setting up housekeeping on the roof or on the outside walls for the benefit of the neighbors? You would rightly be judged insane if you suggested anything of the kind, and that is practically what half the people do. They can't do this because the neighbors would talk, and they can't do that because the neighbors wonder if they could not afford to do something else. They may not say it in so many words, but they mean it, and it is simply a great big vacuum in some of our natures where moral courage ought to be. Half the sting of poverty or small means is gone when one keeps house for himself and not for his neighbors.

"The right to work" is the subject of a lecture delivered a few days ago in Nashville. If the lecturer can give one on "The right NOT to work" he'll find many more hearers in some places we know.

How much improvement are those people finding who were wishing about a year ago that 1914 were passed? 1915 is not any too heavily laden with good things for this country.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Disagreeable Calomel is Yielding to Pleasant Liv-Ver-Lax.

Physicians generally agree that the nauseating, unpleasant effects of calomel are due to the undesirably violent action it has on the system. For a long while various substitutes have been tried, but it was only recently that the really wonderful remedy, LIV-VER-LAX was prepared successfully by L. K. Grigsby.

LIV-VER-LAX has all the good, and none of the bad effects of calomel. It is a necessity in every home, always being ready to cleanse the sluggish liver and bile clogged system, with no unpleasant after effects.

LIV-VER-LAX is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money will be immediately refunded. Insist on the original bearing the likeness of L. K. Grigsby. For sale in 50c and $1 bottles at Rhea Drug Co.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give

HOME TOWN BUILDING.
The Farm Can be Made the Ideal Home.
A Farmer's Plan for Keeping the Young Folks at Home.

I am indebted to a friend for a copy of your paper containing an article on Home Town Building, and I want to congratulate you on the good work you have started. It's a move in the right direction and I wish you success.

My nearest town is one of the kind that you describe. It has been going down hill for the past twenty years. We formerly had a newspaper, but that went out with the last street lamp together with the only spark of enterprise remaining after some fifty farmers of the county rented, or sold their farms and moved into town to take things easy.

I have been through the mill in both ways, and it seems to me that the job of keeping the young people at home is very simple. If we will treat the boy and girl like human beings instead of handling them like young criminals, we can easily get the desired results. I am a farmer, as my grandfather was before me, and there has never been any trouble worth mentioning in keeping the young folks of the family on the farm, although I did try city life for six years a long time ago.

Right here is but fair to say, that long before I came back from roughing it in the city, father had established a new order of things at the farm. He said he had figured it out and found it too expensive to raise children to the age where they might be of some value and then have some other fellow coax them away from him. His plan for safe-guarding his "little bucks", as he called them, was very simple. It consisted of, first, a change in working hours, so that the life of the boy and girl on the farm did not mean work from daylight until dark, and then chores until bed time. He ascertained the working hours prevailing with some of the largest manufacturers and wholesalers of the city and arranged his work on the same time schedule. He then started in to provide home amusements that would fill in the gap and keep the young people busy.

Favorite expressions of his were, "never say don't" to a child; never let it know that you see more than one-tenth of the things that it does, and always keep it busy during every minute while it is awake.

His first move toward a place of amusement was to put a couple of the farm hands with teams and scrapers at work in the little creek which crosses the farm near the house. A substantial sluice gate was built, so that surplus water could be disposed of. The earth scraped from the banks of the creek was piled in half circle shape at each side of the sluice gate, so that it reached the higher ground at each end. In less than a week we had a miniature lake covering about one acre of ground, with a depth of six or seven feet. This makes a superb swimming pool in summer and a good skating rink in winter. It is now plentifully stocked with fish.

A tennis court, and a baseball diamond followed as later improvements. For indoor games, we have a hard-

Morning Sickness

Many women suffer this misery. It makes its appearance so regularly that they learn to expect it and arrange their household work accordingly. Few women think of seeking medical help to get rid of it for good. If women only knew of the power and effectiveness of Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine they would not be without it a moment longer than it would take to get it from the drug store. It is a splendid remedy for all nausea or sickness of the stomach. The first dose settles the stomach and makes the patient feel better. Additional doses act on the female generative system, strengthening weakened organs, regulating the habits, restoring tone and strength in every part of the body. It is essentially a woman's remedy prepared expressly to meet the need of women who suffer from the ailments common to their sex.
