The Falcon is mailing out to its subscribers this week nearly one thousand statements for amounts of $1.50 and up. Just figure for yourself what it means to any average business to have this amount of money outstanding. We want to send The Falcon to every one who wants it and is willing to pay for it, but we are anxious to rid the lists of all who do not expect to pay, tho' will get the paper as long as they can for nothing. Every line of trade has its deadbeats and we have ours. Here is where our most serious losses go. Won't you make out a check on receipt of the statement being mailed you and let us square your subscription account again?

Before the largest gathering ever assembled in Owen Hall Friday night, the closing exercises of the local public school was ably rendered by the pupils. From the sight of so much loose stock on our streets one would not believe there was a stock law in the county. This law is a good law and should be enforced.

The noble life, like the well mannered one, is perpetually forgetful of self.

A good county fair is a developer. It stimulates the farmers and stockman to greater effort toward success in their business. The sights to be seen at a fair will stir people to better efforts. Get in the fair circle if you are not already and make our county fair a big, attractive, and successful affair.

We are glad to have with us, again Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Clark of Forest Hill and Mr. and Mrs. John Ward of Tupelo have been guests of local relatives.

Prospects are bright for the building at an early date of a new Methodist church.

Local people are very much interested in the next superintendent of Fayette County schools, and trust the County Court will elect a man of modern ideas and who believes in progressiveness and then give to that official every assistance to build up our public school system.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Stevenson are visiting in Jackson this week.

Our town officials should compel local merchants to place all trash from their places of business in barrels. A fine or two will likely do good along this line.

Grass Demonstrations in Fayette County.

Fayette County is made up largely of poor land. The lands have been run down and worn by a continuous cropping in cotton; however, a large part of the county has a good stiff, red clay subsoil, the balance of the county being a sand-clay subsoil. The soils of the county respond quickly to fertilizer and good treatment. The system of farming is largely a one crop system, depending largely on cotton to purchase home products, many farmers buying practically all feed stuffs; the main crops being peas, Japan Clover, and sage grass, a large part of which is sage grass cut after becoming hard, and is a very poor quality of hay. Leapedeza, or Japan Clover, grows abundantly where sage grass does not check it. Alfalfa, red clover, and grass can be grown successfully but requires good preparation, heavy and early seeding, and is much benefited by liming.

Upon our arrival in Fayette County, February 1914, we found no attention had been given to hay crops as demonstrations. After looking the situation over, especially in spring of 1914, almost every day seeing farmers hauling feed stuffs, corn and hay from railroad to farms, we decided something must be done. We decided hay must be grown. Grass and clover demonstrations were decided on. In late spring and early summer we located these plots. The importance of following instructions closely was impressed upon these men. As early in summer as possible, preparation was begun with deep breaking, frequent use of the disk and spike-tooth harrow and roller early in September, seeding at the rates of from 30 to 40 lbs. per acre of the following mixtures: Rye grass, and orchard grass each one half, Redtop 5 lbs. red clover 10 to 12 lbs. Rye grass is an annual and as the seed are usually expensive it had best be kept out. Heavy seeding was practiced and results show that this is necessary. The dates of seeding are from August 25 to September 15, and should not be later than this. These plots seeded in fall of 1914, in summer of 1915 we harvested a very heavy yield of hay averaging about 31 tons dry hay, one acre limed making 8,000 lbs. hay at one cutting. The quality of hay being very fine indeed. Therefore we were convinced beyond a doubt we can grow clover and grasses in Fayette County, and seeing the possibilities of clover and grasses, we decided to increase the acreage in the fall of 1915. In the early spring we began selecting our men and land, being careful to have instructions properly carried out. We selected 14 plots well scattered over the county, all of which are looking well and stood winter freezes well. We are expecting good results from these demonstrations and hope to see a much larger acreage seeded in the fall of 1916. We hope to be able to report the heaviest yield of hay per acre of any West Tennessee county in the fall of 1916, and when Fayette County farms are covered with grass and clover fields, cattle and sheep and hogs, she will bloom as never before. J. W. Moffatt, County Agent.

Mrs. Amanda Capers Neville

Fayette county lost one of her most esteemed and aged citizens in the recent death of Mrs. Amanda Capers Neville, who died at the advanced age of 78 years at her country home, Glenwood, a few miles from Collierville in the western edge of Fayette county. She had spent most of her long life at that home and was a native of this part of the state, born in Haywood county. She was a lady of the old South, gifted in mind by nature and well educated. She was a splendid writer and many of the articles from her pen have been published in the columns of The Falcon.
