Garden Notes

A good lady told us the other day how she had used our Garden Notes to induce her husband to get at the garden work and plant the early vegetables. She bought the frost proof cabbage plants when she was telling us about it, and this, with other things that we are told from time to time, cause us to believe these notes are worth while. And of all the years in a decade past another in future it seems none others more reason for a good garden than does this year.

The first shipment of frost proof cabbage plants received by The Falcon came in last Friday and we have never seen a better lot of plants. Other shipments have kept us in plants thru the week and we shall try to keep them regularly until the local grown plants are ready and then we have large numbers of these growing in the open garden, so that we expect to be able to furnish cabbage plants until the middle of April 1.

We planted our first corn this week, several rows in the garden, two rows of Extra Early Adams, two rows of Early Surprise, and two rows of field corn. This makes virtually three plantings for the Adams comes in first of all corns, and about the time it is gone the Early Surprise comes into roasting ears, and about the time it is gone the field corn comes in, giving us roasting ears from these six rows for about six weeks, beginning soon after the first of June when we expect the Adams to be ready for the table. Those who prefer a sweet corn plant any of the main crop sweet corns instead of the field corn, and have the same rotation as above with it and the other two early corns. After these corns are gone, or to follow them, we plant two or three rows two weeks apart until August, and as a rule we are not out of roasting ears from early June till frost. And after April 1 we plant running beans with every hill of the corn, keeping a regular supply of them.

Answering a subscriber about getting lettuce to head we advise that first a heading variety must be selected. Read the description on the seed package and if it says it is a loose leaf variety do not expect heads. If it be a heading variety the seed paper will always say so. Then plant the seed on a bed and when plants are a few inches high transplant into rows eight or ten inches apart in the drill and cultivate clean, and fertilize highly. This plan will surely give nice firm heads every time in early spring. No lettuce will head after very hot weather.

J. E. Boswell, Former Sheriff, Dead

News reached Somerville last Friday of the death of J. E. Boswell which occurred on February 23 at San Diego, California, where he and his wife had gone some months before in search of health.

"Ned Boswell, as he was familiarly known in this county, was born at Macon in the eleventh district and lived there until he was elected Sheriff in the Nineties when he came to Somerville to live. He continued to make his home here until last year when he moved to the Pacific coast country. This move was made in the hope that he and his wife might find the climate there beneficial to their health, both having been unwell for several years past. But they found no improvement there, and Mrs. Boswell died just a month before her husband, her death being on January 25, his February 23.

Deceased served six years as sheriff of Fayette county, after which he never engaged actively in business. He held the esteem of a wide circle of friends in the county and had the reputation of being a splendid officer.

Some years ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never did entirely recover, and he has been in failing health for many months. He was a conscientious member of the Presbyterian church for a long term of years here.

With him at the time of his death were J. H. Manor, his father-in-law, and Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Phelps, the latter a sister of Mrs. Boswell. He leaves in this county two brothers, E. C. and W. P. Boswell, and two sisters, Mrs. W. H. McKinstry, and Mrs. H. B. Sharp, and another brother, R. P. Boswell, of Hardeman county.

Deceased was past the age of three score and ten, being in the seventy first year of his life. Burial was at San Diego.

"If"

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs, and blaming it on you
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
And make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or, being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;
If you can dream and not make dreams your master;
If you can think and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with triumphs and disasters,
And treat both these impostors 'just the same';
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools;
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken;
And stoop, and build them up [with wornout tools];
If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you—but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And, which is more, you'll be a man,
My son. RUDYARD KIPLING.

Macon

The Modern Priscilla Club of Macon, met at Mrs. J. A. Smith's on December 28th, 1920 for the purpose of electing new officers for the year 1921.

The next date for the meeting was January 7th to be at Mrs. J. H. Lowery's, which was attended by most all members of the club. Plans for the year were discussed at this meeting. After refreshments were served by the hostess (which were enjoyed by all) we adjourned to meet for our next regular meeting with Mrs. B. L. Williams on the 20th of January. And according to previous arrangements we met on the appointed date. Roll call was answered with a new crochet pattern which was very much appreciated by both the members, and not being much business to attend to we had a nice social time, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, refreshments of the most delicious kind were served, and we adjourned to meet with Mrs. B. J. Chambers on February 3rd. This meeting had a good representation of the members and several visitors, and we had an abundance of fancy work patterns, which was appreciated by all. Last but not least was the nice refreshments served by our hostess.

Our next meeting was with Mrs. J. C. Crews on the 16th of February with a good attendance, this time we discussed and made arrangements to get some nice young trees set for shade in the square at Macon, which we with the help of the community fenced and to some extent beautified last year. After nice refreshments were served and enjoyed by all, we received an invitation to meet with Mrs. Joel Curd on Thursday March 3, which is our next regular meeting. REPORTER

Craddock Book Club Entertained

Mrs. Wirwa was the charming hostess on Tuesday afternoon. All gladly responded to invitations and lively games of Flinch and Book were highly enjoyed during the afternoon by the players. The appropriate little tally indicated the near approach of Easter.

After most exciting games the prizes were awarded, a lovely hand embroidered center piece to Mrs. Sessums and a beautiful hand painted plate to Mrs. Armstrong. In her refreshments the Easter chickens guarded the chicken salad, and bunnies hid behind parsley and fruit salad, flowers added much to the beauty of the tables.

She was assisted in serving by Miss Ethel Thurman, it was pronounced one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season.

A Dutch treat of the club members was decided on for the 15th of March, C

Masquerade Dance at Lipsky Opera House

Last Friday night at Lipsky opera house the Com. Club gave a masquerade dance which was largely attended and was pronounced one of the most pleasant and enjoyable social affairs in Somerville for a long time. A number of guests from nearby towns were present and all enjoyed a most happy occasion.

Under the rules of the evening no one was allowed on the dance floor at any time except those in costume. The dancers were led in a grand march in the early evening by Dr. J. H. Gillman and Miss Bernice Lipsky and the judges awarded prizes for the most unique costume present. Miss Pattie Mosby was awarded first prize and Miss Virginia Humphreys second prize. The costumes were particularly commented on as being most unique and most beautiful.

The music was fine and the dancing continued till 4 a. m.

The club is to be congratulated upon the dance as being one of the nicest and most enjoyable the young people of the city have ever had the pleasure of attending.

W. E. Narremore Dead

After an illness of many months W. E. Narremore, one of Somerville's oldest and most prominent citizens, passed to his reward on last Friday, at his home in this city.

Mr. Narremore was for years one of the city's leading business men, and while in business he was finely successful and accumulated a competency, and retiring from active business several years ago he has lived to enjoy the fruits of his labor, caring for his investments and looking after his business interests. He has served many years on the Town Council and was a member of that body at the time of his death. He was an active member of the Presbyterian church in this city and gave of his time and his means toward its upbuilding.

Somerville has had few more substantial and trustworthy citizens in its entire history than was the subject of this sketch. Wherever one took him he was ruggedly honest and he was careful to deal fairly with every man he had business with. He was a clean straight man in business, conservative and even tempered in all times and all places, willing and anxious to do his duty as a citizen, in the home, every where, and he had many friends as any citizen of the town.

He lived past the three score and ten years usually allotted to man.

Burial was in the family lot in the Somerville Cemetery with services conducted by Rev. J. W. McNutt, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Narremore leaves his widow, the only member of his immediate family.

Thanks

I take this method of extending to my many friends my most sincere thanks for the beautiful collection of birthday gifts showered upon me on the occasion of my birthday last week. To each and every one I give sincere thanks. MARY MAYO

The Care of Bred Sows

The most successful hog raisers are careful to see that their bred sows have a balanced ration and plenty of exercise and good water, say livestock specialists of the Division of Extension, University of Tennessee. Corn necessarily constitutes the principal part of the ration, but it should be supplemented with bone and muscle building feeds, such as skim milk, buttermilk or tankage. When plenty of good quality, leafy alfalfa is available only a limited amount of milk or tankage is necessary. Alfalfa supplies considerable mineral matter and its bulkiness prevents the sow from becoming too fat. In order to provide the exercise which is essential for husky litters of pigs, it is suggested that the sows be given plenty of range. Exercise can be forced by feeding at a distance from the hog barn. If stalk and alfalfa fields are available the sows usually do a good deal of foraging, especially in good weather. An abundance of clean water is important and in very cold weather the chill should be taken off.

CALCIUM ARSENATE TREATMENT

An idea of the benefit gained by application of the calcium arsenate treatment developed and recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture against the cotton-boll weevil is found in the experience of a large planter at Tallulah, La. With the exception of certain test plots, this man's entire acreage was dusted with calcium arsenate, the cost being $9.20 an acre. He obtained an average yield of 1,215 pounds of seed cotton to the acre on the land surrounding the test plots, while these unpoisoned test plots averaged only 300 pounds, or about 25 per cent of the yield on the poisoned cotton. Thus his net profit from poisoning on these areas on sales made before declining prices of cotton was about $120 an acre.

Home Proof, Here, There and Everywhere

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender a Somerville resident. It's the same everywhere—in 3,800 towns in the U. S. Fifty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honesty and truth or it could not be published here. Read this Somerville recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting:

W. S. Newby, R. Main St., says: "I was in pretty bad shape sometime ago, owing to disordered kidneys. My back pained day and night, and I blamed riding over rough roads for the starting of the trouble. I had to pass the kidney secretions quite frequently, and they caused a burning sensation. I felt tired and didn't have much ambition to do any kind of work. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills so highly advertised, I decided to get a box at the Rhea Drug Co., and after using it, I felt a great deal better. I continued taking Doan's until entirely cured. I gladly recommend this medicine."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Newby had. Foster Milburn Co., Mfrs. Adv.

Things to Do on The Farm in March

The month of March marks the beginning of another active season in the field for Tennessee farmers. Specialists of the Division of Extension, University of Tennessee, make the following suggestions for things to do on the farm this month.

IN THE FIELD

Work out your rotation plans gradually and carefully. A good system must grow, and can not be installed ready made. It must fit your farm. Some general livestock and grain farms have this system in operation: First year, corn and beans; second year, wheat; third year, barley; fourth year, clover and grass are sown with the barley in September.

CARE OF LIVESTOCK

Before farrowing time, lighten the grain ration for hogs with plenty of pasture. One week before farrowing time place sows in farrowing pen and let them get accustomed to new surroundings before pigs are born. To avoid constipation add small amount of oil meal to ration. Keep sheep on winter pasture (not wheat). Feed 2 parts cracked corn and 1 part bran to lambs in creeps after two weeks old. Doek and castrate lambs at 10 to 14 days old. Use multiple hitch for four horse teams. Gradually harden work stock to heavy labor. Watch their shoulders. Keep dairy cattle protected from cold winds and rains, use care not to turn out to pasture too early.

CLUB WORK

Measure and break the acre for corn if this was not done in the fall or winter. An acre of land contains 43,560 square feet. Use only improved seed corn. Transfer tomato plants to cold frame. Continue setting eggs.

MARKETING

Watch the cattle market and sell when the market is favorable. It is usually beginning to advance at this time. Ship when prospect indicate a high market. Market your feeder pigs if you are not in a position to feed them for the summer and fall market. See your agricultural agent about arranging a cooperative feeder hog sale in the county about the last of March if there are many light pigs in the county to be marketed at this time. Sell surplus stock of Irish potatoes.

POULTRY

Dust bath is a essential to poultry as bath tub to persons. Note: oyster shell fed to hens produce eggs with good shell. Grit is necessary to aid poultry digestion.

RURAL ENGINEERING

Grind limestone. Plant deep gullies to Bermuda grass or Black Locust sprouts. Overhaul disc harrow. Dynamite your ditches, survey drainage system and stumps. Investigate household labor saving machines. Investigate spraying and sheep shearing machines. Get plans for sweet potato house. Investigate gang plows. Get plan for individual hog house and self feeder. Get fanning mill ready for operation.

IN THE HOME

Screen the house and make fly traps as the house fly will soon appear. Flies thrive in unclean places; make it unhealthy for flies around your home and have a healthy family.

When in doubt about any of your farm operations, ask your county agent. Write to the Division of Extension, University of Tennessee, for bulletins on subjects about which you desire information—They are free.
