

THE FAYETTE FALCON

ESTABLISHED 1866.

SOMERVILLE, TENNESSEE, FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1921.

NEW SERIES: VOL. XXV.—NO. 2

Moscow

Quite a bit of interest seems manifest in the coming election of members of the County Board of Education. It is to be hoped that the justices will divide the candidates fairly over the county and regardless of personal feeling elect men who will prove capable representatives of the people and bend their best efforts toward the welfare of the public schools for our county. In Harvy Morton, this district has a splendid candidate who will act fairly toward all sections of the county and merit the support of the membership of the County Court.

A number of local Masons attended the banquet at LaGrange Thursday night where several degrees were conferred by LaGrange Lodge. A large attendance greatly enjoyed the occasion.

The Methodist revival began Sunday. Rev. A. W. Lassiter of Oakland will assist the pastor Rev. Jno. L. Horton with the meeting.

Leo Wright is home from treatment in Memphis and doing nicely. His many friends here and elsewhere will be pleased to hear this favorable report.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gaither and child of Tunica are visiting local relatives this week.

Miss Reeves of Middleton was a week end guest of his brother R. L. Reeves.

Dr. M. B. Freeman, wife and family have returned from a few days visit among relatives in Mississippi.

Miss Bert Morton of Mr. Pleasant is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burdison.

Miss Josephine Elliott and Mrs. J. G. Low of Jackson have been the guests of Mrs. Leo Wright.

Mrs. J. A. Smith of Memphis is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Roach.

People hire a preacher to fight sin, but at times they wish he would touch lightly on such and not become too personal about the members.

Mrs. Walter Carr is home from a visit among friends in Jonesboro, Arkansas.

Mrs. W. H. Morton spent the week with relatives in Market Tree.

W. T. Driver of Luxora was a Sabbath guest of his daughter Mrs. S. Franklin.

Mrs. H. F. Bryant had as her guest Sunday her brother, G. N. Pankey of Corinth.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Forbes of Little Rock are guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. A. E. Epperson.

Johnie Owen and O. P. Bobbitt, were in from Memphis Sunday.

Prof. J. A. Bobbitt wife and children were Sunday for Lexington where they spent sometime visiting relatives.

Board of Education Contest

What is one of the most active campaigns waged before the County Court in many years is being actively pressed now by many from the different parts of the county who are active candidates for membership on the new County Board of Education to be elected when the Court meets next week.

Last week The Falcon gave a number of names as prospective candidates. Many of these have become active fighting candidates who have visited the members of the court and are pressing every possible line that would help to bring about their election. Others who had agreed to serve if elected are sitting still on that principle, and in this class are some of the very best men in the county, men who are successful in business, educated and experienced and suitable for the place, but who are in no wise candidates for places on the Board, but willing to serve if the court sees fit to name them.

But, as stated above, seldom has any race before the County Court been preceded by such earnestness in campaigning and seldom has the court been called on to perform a more important duty. We publish in another column a communication from the State Superintendent which gives some valuable suggestions to the Court for choosing the seven members of the Board. Eschew politics in every particular and elect the very best men who will serve in the best policy.

A statement has come to The Falcon that certain parties and candidates are saying that effort is being made to elect a majority of the Board from Somerville. We can assure the public one thing; there is not a single candidate for the place in Somerville and but one in the first district. Let every man in the county get this fact. Not over two other men in the first district have even agreed to serve if elected and neither of those is any sense a candidate for the place. The one candidate is Wyatt Wilkinson, who has had years of active service on the School board and has made a good one, and he is positively the only candidate in the first district.

Stings or bites of insects that are followed by swellings, pain or itching should be treated promptly, as they are poisonous. BALLARD'S SNOW-LINIMENT counteracts the poison; it is both antiseptic and healing. Sold by Cartmell-Gillmann. adv.

The First Cotton Bloom

The Falcon received the first cotton bloom of the present season last Saturday June 26, just after noon. It was sent by W. C. Crawford of Williston and was grown by Till Bounds, a colored farmer in the Williston vicinity. Following age-old custom of this office, as we are giving this farmer credit for a year's subscription to The Falcon, his name already appearing on our list.

The first bloom came to us last year on June 30; in 1919 the first was on July 2; 1918 on June 18; 1917 on June 23; 1916 on June 15.

Many blooms have come to us since the receipt of the first one, the second coming from J. M. Tomlin & son, Oakland, on the afternoon the same day as the first, one from W. H. Dillard, Rossville in Sunday's mail, and numerous ones on Monday and since then. All are reported to have come from fields containing from three to twelve acres.

Farmers are of almost unanimous opinion that the crop has improved marvelously the past two weeks, that it is in good condition and growing beautifully. Several sections of the still need rain at this writing Monday, while other sections are having rather too much, one farmer a few miles east of town telling us Saturday he had land on his farm that had not been dry enough to plow in three weeks. But it is safe to state that the cotton crop is in average condition for the time of year in most of the county.

Mrs. Forbis Honoree

Mrs. Forbis who has so endeared herself to everyone in Somerville, was the honoree at a lovely farwell shower on Friday afternoon June 17th, given by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church and her special friends. Mrs. Loggins, extended her gracious hospitality, when she served as hostess and entertained in her attractive home.

The reception rooms where the hostess was assisted-entertaining by Mrs. Perrin, were unusually attractive with a decoration of ferns and flowers, and here as the guests arrived were served Frappe after which Mrs. James McNutt gave a most enjoyable reading.

A feature of the entertaining was a spelling match in which the prize winner was Mrs. James McNutt Jr. At the conclusion of the contest the honoree was invited to be seated near a table when in walked master Jack Crawford in an energetic manner, a postman placing many lovely gifts each package containing an original wish and the one having the best, won the prize, Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Ivy and Mrs. J. W. Mathews cutting, Mrs. Burton winning a delicious cake.

During the social hour that followed a most tempting ice course was served. Before the guests departed all voting Mrs. Loggins, an ideal hostess. "C"

Children's Party

Miss Higgs entertained with one of the most attractive parties of the season last Friday afternoon, when she gave a lawn party at her home in honor of her class, and friends.

A color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the decorations and the ice course.

Midway the afternoon cream and cake was served to the 24 little boys and girls who enjoyed Miss Higgs' hospitality. "C"

Dr. James S. Washington

At the ripe age of 83 years Dr. James S. Washington died at his home in this city at noon Wednesday, June 23, after practicing medicine here 54 years, tho in recent years he had not been active in that work.

Dr. Washington was born at New Castle in this county on Feb. 24, 1838, was educated in schools of this section and in Bethel College, and graduated in medicine from Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, in 1861. In the next year he entered the Confederate army as a Surgeon and spent four years in that service, with the rank of Major at the close of the war. Following the close of the war he was married December 24, 1865, to Miss Ella V. Jackson of Monroe county, Arkansas, who survives him with their five children: Dr. C. J., H. A., and J. G., and Mrs. W. T. Cartwright, all of Memphis, and Mrs. R. W. Sessums of Somerville.

He came to Somerville two years later and has since been one of the city and county's most active, successful and useful citizens. He devoted his time to the practice of his profession, invested his savings carefully and judiciously and became one of the county's wealthiest men. He was a Mason and a member of the Presbyterian church.

Having lived his neighbor for nearly a score of years the writer of these lines knew well the intimacy of life and appreciated acquaintance with deceased and enjoyed and esteemed his friendship. He was a fine neighbor, neighborly in every act and every thought. And to his family he was devoted thoughtful and considerate, always gentle in thought and act.

Burial will be in the Somerville Cemetery this afternoon Thursday, following funeral services at the residence, at 4:30.

Garden Notes

We are planting this week another lot of water melons and canteloupes and if the seasons are good these should give us plenty right up to frost. Our first plantings are now fine and full of young fruit. We have sprayed the canteloupes with arsenate of lead and will spray again the coming week and again a week later, in an effort to kill the borers that have ruined several crops for us.

We made our eighth planting of corn for roasting ears this week and will make at least two more, two weeks apart, the last planting toward the end of July. And with the running beans in nearly every row.

We do not plant sweet potatoes after July 1, but several successful growers tell us they do and get good results. But the time is just about out now.

It is time to get the turnip patch ready for August planting. Rutabagas should have been planted in June, but can be planted now in narrow rows so they can be weeded. The early planting of the globe and flat turnips can best be planted the same way in August or early September, and the seven top for salad broadcast in September. It is useless to plant turnips on any but well fertilized land.

Carrots, beets and other crops for fall use should be planted within the next two or three weeks and will produce as good crop as in the spring if moisture is sufficient to keep them growing. Lettuce can be planted the last of July and transplanted six weeks later to head in the early fall, another later sowing to be made August 15, for late September transplanting.

Club Boys Doing Things in Roane County

The club boys of Roane County are destined to be good farmers if conclusions are drawn from their present activities says G. L. Herrington, state club leader. Under the leadership of County Agricultural Agent Robert Johnston the boys are fattening 11 head of baby beef animals, raising pigs; growing 45 acres of corn. Each of these projects is a demonstration to the community as to how such farm activities on a large scale should be attached for greater returns and the work is attracting considerable attention.

The 21 head of Angus calves weighed an average of 450 pounds at the beginning of the feeding contest in April. Some had passed the 700 pound mark by the middle of June. Hugh Ross, a lad south of Kingston, has a calf that gained 220 pounds in 82 days which is nearly three pounds a day.

The calves are now receiving 10 pounds of feed daily, plenty of fresh water and pasture. Their young masters are also liberally applying the comb and the brush. All calves but one are purebred. They will be shown at the County Fair where $100.00 in prizes are available and will then go to the Nashville Fat Stock Show.

While County Agent Johnston is convinced that Roane County is primarily a livestock producing county, he has held out that the farmers should also produce feed for their livestock. Thru his club of 45 corn club members he is demonstrating good methods of growing feed. It will be remembered that the Roane County corn club won second prize for this district at the State Corn Show in Nashville last year. They will be exhibit again next December and are going after the first prize.
