

IN THE LIMELIGHT

NEW AMERICAN COUNTESS

The new countess of Sandwich, formerly Miss Alberta Sturges, the daughter of a Chicago banker and a stepdaughter of the late Francis H. Leggett of New York, is scarcely known in her native country. Her mother, Mrs. Leggett, went to Europe to live many years ago, and Miss Sturges was educated in Paris and made her debut in London 15 years ago, when her mother became one of the lavish hostesses in the American colony who inaugurated the brilliant regime of King Edward as soon as he ascended the throne.

The late earl of Sandwich and his nephew, the new earl, had a serious disagreement about the inclusion of the American girl into the family. The bridegroom's father, Rear Admiral Victor Montagu, who died last January, and his wife, a daughter of the earl of Hardwicke, fully approved of the marriage. Yet even they could not win over the old earl. Sixty-six years old and a widower of two marriages when George Charles Montagu made Miss Sturges his bride, Lord Sandwich vowed that, although he had never had any children, he would take into himself a new wife at once and defeat Miss Sturges' plans of becoming countess of Sandwich by bringing up a family. He plunged at once into the gayeties of society, accepted invitations right and left, but soon found this to be a bore, while his new niece-in-law succeeded in impressing him with the fact that she had married her husband for love and was, after all, a charming lady.

RUSSIA'S LATEST HERO

Gen. A. A. Brusiloff, commander of the Russian offensive against the Austrians and latest hero of the czar's team, is sixty-four years old and looks forty-five. Brusiloff lives by nerves, strenuous work and a sense of duty. He eats very little. He regards dinner as a necessary evil and it is finished in not more than 20 minutes. Immediately after, he goes to the work-room of his head of the staff and they are occupied together till late at night. The soldiers worship him. He never courts popularity among them. He talks to them seldom and then with a matter-of-fact abruptness, but in his few words lies a knowledge of the soldiers' soul; a skill in finding the direct road to the soldiers' heart, which could never be taught, but which must be deeply rooted in the man himself.

Brusiloff's physical endurance at sixty-four is said to be amazing. Even now one of the best cavalrymen in Europe, he can outdistance expert and youthful horsemen. Weather does not exist for him. He is noted for his laconic orders. "Hold out, whatever happens!" And they hold out. No frenzied attacks, no tempestuous cannoneading will drive them back when such an order has been given. There is in currency the following soldier's remark:

"What, retreat? Impossible! We are Brusiloff's!"

HUGHES' CAMPAIGN LEADER

William Russell Willcox, the new chairman of the Republican national committee, who was chosen by Mr. Hughes personally to manage his campaign, is an entirely self-made man. He was born on an upstate New York farm, never saw a city till he was seventeen, went to New York 20 years ago and immediately took an active interest in politics. He has held three important offices, in each of which he distinguished himself as an energetic and capable public servant.

He was park commissioner under Mayor Seth Low in 1902. Two years later President Roosevelt appointed him postmaster of New York, and on the creation of the public service commission in 1907 he was selected by Governor Hughes as its first chairman. He retired at the expiration of his five-year term on February 1, 1913, after having virtually completed the contracts for the new subways which are now being built. It was during his administration of the department of parks that Mr. Willcox, who is always a most forbearing man, proved that it was not impossible to prod him out of a state of courtesy. One of the subway contractors had squatted in Bryant park and despite Mr. Willcox's most engaging smiles and politest requests refused to move. One day the commissioner of parks appeared on the scene with 30 husky laborers, a strong police escort and a number of wagons, and without further parley proceeded to tear up and cart away all the obstructions.

CENSOR OF ARMY NEWS

Maj. Douglas MacArthur, who has been appointed military aid to the secretary of war and military "censor" of the war department, is a born executive and one of the recognized military experts of the general staff. Major MacArthur comes from a military family. His father, Lieutenant General MacArthur, made a name that will go down in military history. In 1890 a competitive examination was held at West Point to fill a vacancy in the general staff. MacArthur was one of the candidates. He outdistanced his competitors and won the appointment. When he was graduated from the military academy, in 1893, he was number one in a class of 100. He was sent to the Philippines as second lieutenant of engineers and participated in a number of campaigns in the islands. In 1904 he was sent as military observer during the Russo-Japanese war, later traveling through China, Indo-China, Java and India. As captain of engineers he participated in the first mobilization of troops on the Mexican border in 1911. He went with General Funston's troops and participated in the occupation of Vera Cruz. In 1913 he was assigned to duty as a member of the general staff corps on duty at the war department and was reassigned to that duty in April of this year.

DAIRY FACTS

INFECTION CAUSE OF GARGET

Germs Gain Entrance Through Teat Duct—Bacteria Do Little Harm—Observations to Note.

(By L. E. NEWSOM, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.) At one time it was thought that garget was due to mechanical injury to the udder, and while this cause cannot be entirely eliminated, it seems evident from all recent work that practically all cases are due to infection, the germs gaining entrance through the teat duct.

It is well known that sterile milk is not to be had even when removed under the most rigid precautions. This indicates that germs are to be found in the udder most of the time. Under ordinary circumstances these bacteria do little harm, but occasionally a harmful one gets in and sets up severe inflammation. This is especially likely to be the case at about the time of freshening or during the time the cow is drying up. At both periods there is an accumulation of milk that is not drawn out regularly and consequently it forms a good medium in which bacteria can live. When there is such accumulation of milk, milking should be done in order to get out these foreign organisms before they become harmful. While it is not necessary at the time of drying up to encourage milk production by milking dry, yet it is much better to milk out a small quantity so as to get all of the organisms out of the sinus, than it is to allow it to accumulate for several days.

DOUCHE IS OFTEN NECESSARY

Plan Outlined for Treating Cows for Sterility and Abortion—Good Solution in Use.

Frequently the dairyman finds it necessary to use a vaginal douche as a treatment for abortion and sterility troubles. The following method is recommended for such cases: Secure a large galvanized pail, four to six gallons in capacity according to the size of the herd, and fit it with a stopcock. Buy a pure gum horse stomach tube and fit it to the stopcock. Elevate the pail until it is about three feet above the cow so that the liquid will flow freely. This can be readily done by making use of the feeding and litter track if there is one in the barn. When ready to use the apparatus, insert the stomach tube into the vagina, open the stopcock and allow the douching solution to flow into it by gravity until it is completely filled. A very good solution to use is a 1 to 2,500 or 3,000 parts of permanganate of potash and water.

SEPARATING A THICK CREAM

Skimming High-Test Product Leaves More Skim Milk on Farm for Hogs, Calves and Fowls.

Farmers will make more money by separating a reasonably thick cream than a thin cream. Skimming high-test cream leaves more skim milk on the farm to feed to the hogs, calves and chickens. Skim milk utilized in this way has a feeding value of about 35 cents per hundred, while if the milk is left in the cream, nothing is realized. The butter maker usually wants a cream testing around 35 or 44 per cent butterfat. In the winter, if the cream is above 40 per cent it is rather difficult to get the cream all out of one can into another or into a vat. Cream testing about 35 per cent in the winter and 40 per cent in the summer is right for buttermaking.

CCWS ARE DAIRY MACHINES

If They Fail to Produce Profits Something Is Wrong—Usually It Is Raw Material.

The cows on the dairy farm represent the equipment that produces a profit. If they fail something must be wrong. They are the machines. The feed is the raw material, the milk or butterfat is the finished product. If the machines are efficient and the finished product is not all that can be desired, the trouble must be with the raw material.

Truthful Traveler Explains How Sailors Were Enabled to Alleviate the Pangs of Hunger.

He was describing the privations of a voyage from which he had just returned.

"Then," he said, "I went down to the cabin to lunch."

"Lunch" exclaimed one of his hearers. "But you told us there was nothing to eat left on board. What did you have for lunch?"

"Oh!" was the reply, "it was a very modest affair—beef, wine and an egg."

"Beef? Where did you get the beef from?"

"Oh!" was the reply, "that came from the bulwarks."

"And the wine—how about that?"

"Oh, that came from the port-hole!"

"Oh, oh!" laughed the listener. "Good, very good! But tell me where did you get the egg?"

"Oh, that was the simplest of all!" came the reply. "The captain gave orders for the ship to 'lay to,' and he gave me one."—Pearson's Weekly.

Woe Bit Sans. While a certain Scotch minister was conducting religious services in an asylum for the insane one of the inmates cried out wildly:

"I say, have we got to listen to this?"

The minister, surprised and confused, turned to the keeper and asked: "Shall I stop speaking?"

The keeper replied: "No; no; gang along, gang along; that will not happen again. That man only has one lucid moment every seven years."—The Christian Herald.

Needlessly Alarmed.

A man who was stung by hornets last summer, was awakened by a buzzing sound almost directly above him.

He ducked his head under the covers.

When he ventured an ear out to listen he heard the sound again, even louder than before.

Again he ducked under the covers. Then, realizing that he couldn't stay in bed all day, he put his head out from under the covers and yelled. This was with the idea of scaring whatever was buzzing.

He succeeded in that, but it wasn't a hornet or bee.

It was a hired girl running a vacuum carpet sweeper on the floor of the bedroom.

Ouch!

They were seated in a secluded corner of the veranda. For a long time neither of them had spoken.

Suddenly he took her little hand in his. His voice was choked with emotion as he said:

"Do you think you could ever learn to love a man?"

"Yes," she interrupted in a soft whisper. "Bring on your man."
