

A Card.

To the People of Dickson County:
Inasmuch as a just regard for the wishes of the people I hope to serve in the next Legislature, and consider that they should know my attitude on such questions as are now issues, I take this method of briefly outlining the course I expect to pursue.

I favor the enforcement of the laws as now written on our statute books. Where laws are not good for the welfare of our people I favor their amendment, so they will not work a hardship on the masses.

Our present School Law is such that it forbids our teachers instructing the children higher than the eighth grade, and has brought a storm of indignation from the ranks of our people. Such laws as this work a hardship and should be amended so that the higher grades can be taught. I believe that Dickson County owes every boy and girl a good education, and that the school law should be such that attendance of every child should be made possible until they become the age of 21 years.

Dickson county has no schools of the High School class that are within the reach and convenience of the people; therefore, a hardship is being wrought on our people through the present law, which should have immediate attention. High Schools should be made as available to the people as the present common schools, or the higher grades taught in the general school; the latter seems to be the solution of the question.

Our present text book system seems to work a hardship on our citizens, and is costing too much money. There should be a standard text book selected and its adoption established for a long period of time so they could be secured cheaper, as there would not be the enormous cost of the present exchange system and the enormous "graft" which has been so plainly visible during the past few years, where politicians have used the text book law to the detriment of the people and for the furthering of their political fortunes.

In reviewing the present system of county officials' employment it seems that there has been very little attention paid to what is being paid for the services of such officials, and for years this system of fees has been gaining ground and doubling up until it seems that the time has arrived to have a "house cleaning" along this line, and such officials that are being over-paid put on a salary, and the savings from such action placed to the credit of the school fund, which would materially contribute to the betterment of our schools, causing us to select better teachers and pay them better salaries and enable us to have longer school terms.

In the matter of the County Superintendent of Schools, I believe that this official should be elected by the people rather than by the County Court, as at present. This would take out of the hands of the County Court this responsible selection, and place the right to select this official in the hands of the people, where it belongs, and be a step toward reformation.

In the matter of good roads, I will favor any measure that will lead to the betterment of the same, that guarantees to every district a just return for their expenditure of tax assessment. I will use every effort to secure federal aid for our roads.

Owing to the unsettled financial condition of our county, I will look to prohibiting any increase in our officials' salaries.

In the matter of agriculture, I pledge myself to support all measures having for their object the betterment of the farming interest of our county, trusting that my experience as a farmer will aid me to more advantageously represent the farmer of the State.

The live stock industry of our county needs encouragement for more and better stock in order that our county may be more prosperous and our farmers breed more and better stock. I will favor any measure that will lead to this condition.

The fish and game laws are in some ways drafted to favor the sportsman, which should be eliminated by amendment, and the land owner given preference, in so much as to absolutely control his premises.

I have always voted a democratic ticket, and whatever activity I have heretofore shown in support of the principles of that party have been a labor of love, and I expect to continue as loyal in the future as I have in the past. If these pronouncements meet with your approval and you consider me worthy of the honor of transmitting your wishes to the next Legislature of Tennessee, I trust that I may have your vote in the regular election in November, 1916.

DEATHS.

One by one the dear ones of God's family on earth are crossing over to the other shore, where their faith to sight is changed, their prayers are turned to praise, and their tears are by God's own hand forever wiped away. It grieves our hearts today to inscribe the death of our dear sister, friend and relative, Mrs. Geneva Nicks.

The best medical aid was called as soon as the deceased began to show signs of illness, but all that the three physicians, nurse and loving hands could do was of no avail. The spirit took its flight from earth to God, who gave it, on September 30, 1916. Mrs. Nicks was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gill. She was 42 years of age. She was first married to Mr. Dave Edney, who preceded her to the grave some 17 years ago. She was afterward married to Mr. Daily Nicks, to whom were born seven children. One of these preceded her to the grave seven years ago; another followed her in three days.

She was a devoted Christian and loving wife and friend and a true mother, and will be greatly missed. She leaves an aged father, a brother, husband, five children and a host of friends and other relatives to mourn her death. The youngest child is only a few days old, but is doing nicely.

Bereaved ones, sorrow not as those who have no hope, for she fell asleep in Jesus, and God promises to raise all such from the dead, and they will be caught up in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, so shall they be with the Lord; "Wherefore comfort one another with these words."

On October 2nd, 1916, the Death

Angel again visited the home of Mr. Daily Nicks, and claimed little Christine for its own. She was sick but a short while, her trouble being membranous croup. She was one year and six months old.

The family will be lonely without her, but let us all try to live so that we may be permitted to meet sister and mother in that beautiful home of the soul, where sickness, pain and death will be felt and feared no more.

OBITUARY.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, October 4, 1916, the Death Angel visited the bedside of Mrs. Arizona Hall Jackson, and brushed her suffering brow with its icy finger and whispered softly the sweet message that God had sent it to deliver. At that moment, dear Arizona sweetly and silently ascended with the Holy Angel to the blessed home beyond—where no more suffering, troubles or sorrows will she have to endure.

All was done by loving hands of kind friends and skillful physicians that could be, but "the Lord's will be done," and he saw fit to take her from this sinful world, and as he sounded his trumpet for her, she obediently harkened unto his call.

The high esteem that she held among her many friends was proven by the many beautiful flowers that were placed on her casket. She was so jolly and kind that she was loved by all who knew her.

Although she was not a member of any church, she had faith in Christ. She said she had put her trust in Him and was ready to go.

She died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hall, of Burns. She was 34 years of age, and had been in very poor health for 4 years. She was married to Walter Jackson, of Jones Creek, and to this union one son was born, who died on the day of its birth. She leaves a husband, father, mother, four sisters, one brother, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her passing away. Her remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground near Burns, where funeral services were conducted by Rev. John Durrett of Dickson.

We will say to the bereaved ones to weep not—

For dear Zona is at rest,
With her darling babe clasped to her breast;
And you will clasp their sweet and welcome hand
As you join their angelic band.
'Twill be a glorious meeting,
As they sing sweet songs of greeting.
Cheer your hearts and live according to God's direction,
And you will sure meet them on the morning of resurrection.

Simply by requiring every Maxwell dealer to carry a full supply of Maxwell parts—so that he can replace any damaged or worn part at once, without waiting for parts to be shipped from the factory.

If you are a Maxwell owner your car will always be in running order because our dealer—any Maxwell dealer—can give you real and immediate service. If he couldn't, he wouldn't be a Maxwell dealer.

YOU May Die Tomorrow

If death should overtake you tomorrow, is your family provided for?

Or would your faithful wife have to seek employment?

Would your daughter have to leave school and possibly be "forgotten" by her more fortunate friends?

And would your young son have to forego an education and a promising career because immediate bread would be needed at home?

These are not pleasant thoughts for any husband or father to dwell upon, yet duty to one's family demands that they be courageously faced.

The remedy lies in safe and economical life insurance. It costs little today and makes ample provision for the morrow.

Will you let me explain it to you—how much it will do for your family and how little it'll cost?
