FIGHT FOR OFFICE IN REGIONAL BANK

CONTROVERSY RESULTS IN CALLING OF MEETING AT MONTGOMERY, ALA.

NASHVILLE WILL NOT ENTER

Candidacy of T. R. Preston of Chattanooga Distasteful to Representatives From Capital City. Outline Plans.

Chattanooga.—As a result of a bitter controversy in the convention of bankers of the sixth regional reserve district here, there were no nominations made for directors of the regional bank. The meeting was adjourned to Montgomery, Ala., at such date as the Montgomery clearing house may determine.

The convention had hardly gotten organized when A. Y. Malone of Dothan, Ala., offered a resolution which, if adopted, would have had the effect of immediately dissolving the meeting. It called for another convention at a point nearer the center of the sixth district, for the purpose of selecting directors for the Atlanta bank. This immediately brought the warring factions into action, and for a time the convention was in confusion. After a heated debate the portion of the delegates who favored immediate nominations surrendered their position, and the Montgomery meeting was arranged.

Nashville bankers refused to enter the convention, and their action called forth severe criticism at the hands of G. A. Lyerly and other delegates. T. R. Preston, president of the Hamilton National bank of this city, announced that he was not a candidate for a directorship. The urging of Mr. Preston as a candidate was mainly the cause of the refusal of the Nashville people to participate in the convention. A steering committee was named to arrange details of the meeting in Montgomery.

BIG GARAGE BURNS

Eighteen Cars Consumed in Fire at Henry, Tenn.

Paris.—The garage of the Henry County Auto company was consumed by fire, entailing a loss approximately of $20,000. The fire started about 4 o'clock when the fuel tank of a seven-passenger car which was undergoing some slight repairs exploded. In a moment the house was wrapped in flames and the local fire company had trouble in confining the flames to the garage building. Eighteen cars, nearly all new, were consumed by the fire. The garage was built this spring and was only ready for occupancy about a month ago. It was said to be one of the most complete garages in Tennessee. The extent of the damage to the building is about $3,000, while the loss entailed by the automobile company and private citizens will amount to about $15,000. According to the best information obtainable the greater part of the loss, both on the house and contents, is covered by insurance, but the exact amount could not be learned. GIVES WORTHLESS CHECKS.

Woman Buys Jewelry With Bogus Checks at Nashville.

Nashville.—According to information given, Mrs. Charlotte B. Linder, the young woman arrested on a charge of passing worthless checks on jewelers to secure diamonds, on which she later attempted to secure a loan of money from a realty dealer, is the daughter of a wealthy Memphis lumberman.

Mrs. Linder visited the jewelry stores of Weinstein Bros., D. Lowenheim & Co., N. B. Shyer and J. H. Ring & Sons, where she purchased three diamond rings, a diamond brooch and a watch. She presented checks which a few hours later were found to be worthless, so it is alleged. Later, after securing the jewelry, in company with J. R. Allen, justice of the peace, who said he had known her from childhood, she visited J. T. Lindsley and arrangements were made for a loan, when the arrest was made. It was through the justice's efforts that the loan was to be made. Mrs. Linder claimed that she wanted the money to enter business and it was supposed at the time that the jewelry was her property.

While in Nashville she had been employed at the city laboratory, and said that she was going to take up teaching. She was given a preliminary hearing in the police court. To all with whom she came in contact while here she had named Memphis as her home city, but nothing had been heard from her people, although communications were sent.

Miss Della Williams of Covington Dies Horrible Death.

Covington.—Consumed by fire when her clothing was ignited by lightning was the fate of Miss Della Williams, 15-year-old daughter of W. S. Williams, a farmer, residing in Tipton county, near the Haywood county line.

Miss Williams was in a field with her father, when a thunderstorm suddenly swept upon her. A bolt dipping from the skies enveloped her in a blue flame, and the girl was converted into a human torch.

Mr. Williams, three feet away, was not injured by the flash. He dashed the contents of a jug of water upon his daughter. However, the young lady was so severely burned that she died in her father's arms before aid could be summoned.

The lightning did not leave a scratch or a scar on the girl's body.

Nashville.—The new state Democratic executive committee, which failed to have a quorum at its meeting just after the state convention, met for purposes of organization and to lay plans for the judicial and gubernatorial campaign. The general opinion seems to be that Judge L. D. Hill of Sparta, state manager for Judge A. H. Roberts before the recent convention, will be elected chairman.

Members of the committee, it is said, feel that a strong and resourceful chairman should be elected this year, and Judge Hill is known to be a man of this character. Who will be secretary will hardly be known until the committee meets.

In addition to the state committee, Gen. Rye will have the naming of a campaign committee of one from each congressional district. This committee will work in conjunction with the state committee.

Lawyers Meet

The features of the opening session of the Tennessee Bar association were the address of the president, John Bell Keeble, who spoke of the encroachments of the federal government upon the governments of the states, and the address of John B. Knox, of Alabama, in defense of Andrew Jackson's course in the Florida war. Mr. Knox took exception to the criticisms of Jackson made by Thomas E. Watson of Georgia in the latter's history of Old Hickory.

The welcome of the visiting lawyers was by M. T. Bryan. The committee on constitutional amendments was to have reported, but could not get their report ready for submission. This report is admitted by members to be the most important that will be submitted at this meeting.

"What is the Status of the Ethics of the Bar?" a paper by John T. Lelylett, of Nashville, also provoked considerable discussion.

Bishop Knight Honored

Bishop Albion Williamson Knight, who will be installed as vice-chancellor of the University of the South, has established a record which any Southern man could well be proud. Bishop Knight was born in White Springs, Fla., in 1859. He received his education at the University of the South at Sewanee and was afterward ordained in 1881 and placed in charge of churches in Palatka and Jacksonville, where he married Miss Elise Halowes. In 1892-4 he was dean of the cathedral in Atlanta and a year later was elected bishop of Cuba. He was further made provisional bishop of Porto Rico and Haiti and bishop in charge of the Panama Canal Zone, where he became a warm friend to Col. Goethals and Col. Gorgas, whose efforts made the digging of the canal possible.

Bishop Knight is planning to offer Col. Gorgas a chair in the University of the South after the completion of the canal, and the latter has already planned to make Sewanee his home after that time.

While bishop of Cuba the great cathedral was built of which the Rt. Rev. Colmore, late of Sewanee, is now in charge. The work on this cathedral was largely propagated by the efforts of Bishop Knight during his stay in Cuba.

The vice-chancellor-elect will benefit the university in more ways than one, and especially is he interested in the athletic department of the college. He was himself a member of the baseball team and president of the student athletic association during his attendance at the university.

On the day of Bishop Knight's inauguration, representatives from schools and colleges from all over the country will attend and special trains have been arranged to accommodate them.

The vice-chancellor-elect will leave soon after his inauguration to visit Cuba and Panama and will then return to Sewanee, where he will be permanently located.

County Superintendents Meet

This is a very busy summer for educators in Tennessee. The text-book adoption and the state examinations have served to keep everybody busy, but, in spite of that, several new things are being planned. The thing most urgent now and most important is the conference of county superintendents which will be held in each grand division of the state at the seat of the state normal schools. The first one is to be held at Johnson City. The program for this meeting is being prepared and sent out by President S. G. Gilbreath of the East Tennessee State Normal school. The program covers the particular phase of rural school development in East Tennessee and is attractive from every standpoint. President Gilbreath states that so far as he is able to learn, every one of the thirty-four superintendents for East Tennessee will be present.

The meeting at Murfreesboro will be held in the hall of the State Normal school in that city. This program covers state-wide issues, such as sanitation, ventilation and light of school buildings, the sort of rural school buildings to be erected, the farmer's place in the community school and every other phase of school life that can be taken up at this time in Tennessee. President R. L. Jones is making extensive plans for this work. He thinks that all of the forty-one superintendents in Middle Tennessee will be present and that they will be representative of large educational ideals.

For the West Tennessee meeting the State Normal school at Memphis has been selected. President John W. Brister is actively engaged in working out that program and says his responses from the county superintendents and other educators in that section indicate a very large attendance. A special feature of the Memphis and Murfreesboro meeting will be an address by President John Howe Peyton of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway. President Peyton is noted as a speaker on educational and religious subjects. It is a great treat to the teachers of the state to be able to hear him. Extensive preparations are being made for his reception at these two places.

Among the people from the state department who will be present at all of these meetings will be State Superintendent Thompson and High School Inspector Bourne. Prof. M. W. Robinson and Chief Clerk Sam Y. Adcock will also be present at some or all of the meetings.

Women Change By-Laws

The work of bringing the by-laws of the council into conformity with constitutional changes recently made by the general conference at Oklahoma City was begun when the executive committee of the Woman's Missionary Council of the Southern Methodist church met in Nashville.

PRaise FOR YANKEES' BOSS

Stallings Declares Frank Chance Has Finally Developed Real Contender —Lauds Caldwell.

Big Chief Stallings, the leader of the Braves, figures Frank Chance's New York as the real dark horse of the American league.

"Chance is one of the greatest leaders in the game," said Stallings, in commenting on the club. "It has taken a whole lot of nerve, and a whole lot of executive ability to do what he has done. He simply cleaned house with all the dead wood Wolverton left and within a year he has built up what strikes me as one of the best balanced clubs in the Johnson circuit.

"There is no one in the American league that has any better pitchers than Chance. To my mind he has the greatest pitcher in the game in Caldwell. That fellow has the greatest curve ball I ever saw, and he has almost as much speed as Johnson. Fisher is a rattling pitcher. I am told that the young fellows who came after I left are equally promising. Their work to date has shown it true.

"Ed Sweeney is not traveling beyond his speed. For me in 1910 he was the best catcher in the American league. But the greatest player of all that Chance dug up is Jimmy Walsh. There is an outfielder for you, one of the very best in the game. How Frank ever got him away from the calculating Connie Mack I cannot figure. A manager has only to have a few players of the Walsh stamp to make a team.

"Where Chance really made his team was in the acquisition of Truesdale. I may be prejudiced but I think he is a better ball player than Maisel. He is as good a fielder as Maisel and will outfit him, too, in a season's stretch. Though no faster than Truesdale, Maisel is the better base runner. Fritz is one of the best base runners in the country. But

Pitcher Caldwell of Yankees.

Fritz will not get any more bases on balls.

New York fans tell me Truesdale has looked like a bloomer with the stick. I cannot understand that. He should hit .250 in the American league. And hitting .250 there will be few better second basemen. I think Truesdale must be a little nervous in his new surroundings. He will hit better the further he goes, I am sure. I used to bat him second in the order, because of his speed and his fine bunting skill. He legged out many a safety trying to sacrifice for my Buf falo club."

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Outfielder Tennant of Sacramento made four hits in four times up off Pitcher Malarkey of Oakland.

Veau Gregg's brother, Dave, has been turned back by Manager Birmingham of the Naps. He goes to Spokane.

Catcher Arthur Wilson has been hitting hard for the Chifeds, but not sufficiently so to keep them out of the division.

One argument in favor of the Pirates' copying the National league hunting is that none of the experts picked them to do so.

Pat Ragon believes that to be in good shape he will have to pitch every other day, and he is pestering Manager Robinson to let him do it.

Heine Wagner, the Red Sox shortstop, denies the report he is through as a player and says he will be back on the job within a few weeks now.

Lou Criger, the once great catcher of the Boston Red Sox, who has lost his health, will be given a benefit by the players of the whole country.

Scout Chick Fraser is proving a valuable aid to Clarke. The former star pitcher is looking after the hurling corps, and his advice is being followed.
