LETTER FROM SHERIFF VOLZ

To the Voters of Tipton County: On July 7, 1919, I was elected to fill out the unexpired term of J. M. Beaver, deceased, and have served two years and two months as sheriff of Tipton county, and upon my official record ask the endorsement of another term. Messrs. Smith, Lauderdale and Johnson served three terms each and Messrs. Portis and White two terms each. In fact, it has been an almost unbroken custom to elect a sheriff for not less than two full terms of two years each, and I am conscious of no good reason why an exception should be made in my case. The purpose of this time-honored custom is to encourage fidelity to duty on the part of public officials and its observance is a matter in which the people are as vitally interested as the official who seeks an endorsement. If I have made a good sheriff I ought to receive the customary endorsement. If I have failed to discharge my full duty, I should be defeated, and a defeat can only be construed as a repudiation of my official record and will be so construed by certain elements that are opposing me for no other reason than my diligence and fidelity in the enforcement of the law, and particularly the statutes against the illegal manufacture and sale of liquor. I did not make these laws, but it was my sworn duty to enforce them to the extent of my ability, and for doing so I have no apology to make to any man, but pledge myself to do in the future as I have done in the past, and that is to use every legitimate power of my office to break up the illegal traffic in liquor in Tipton county and also to discharge all other duties of the office without fear or favor.

In making this statement I want it clearly understood that am not directly or indirectly challenging the integrity of purpose of my opponent nor the good faith and good character of a majority of his supporters. Any man has the right to aspire to public office and to be supported in that aspiration, and certainly the people owe no man an office merely because he has done his duty, and I recognize that I am indebted to the public and not the public to me. But the fact remains that the defeat of a sheriff, in large part through the aid of an element that represents his activities in the enforcement of the law, will discourage law-enforcing officials in the future and increase the power of those who neither respect nor obey the law. That I am being strenuously opposed by this element is a statement of fact that can be easily verified by any man or woman who will fairly investigate it.

The task of a sheriff is at no time an easy job and it is one of extreme difficulty now on account of the abnormal crime conditions that prevail throughout the country. In fact, so much of my time has been taken in the performance of official duties that were immediate and imperative that it has been impossible for me to make a house-to-house canvass and present my claims to each voter in person and that is the reason for this open letter to all the voters of the county.

Asking the active support of all who approve my record as sheriff and with the utmost confidence of victory at the polls next Saturday, I am yours for further service. (Adv) C. N. VOLZ.
