Importance of Accessories

EVERY once or twice in a while the student of styles and fashions is constrained to think of the importance of accessories of dress. The success of the aspirant in the gentle art of dressing faultlessly seems to depend upon her judgment in the choice and use of finishing touches, at least as much as upon her choice of gowns. It is by means of these niceties of the toilette that women vary their daily dress and make it interesting.

There is a long list of these aids to beauty, to be worn from head to foot and with admirable effect, as every woman knows, when some one touch "makes" her dress. They include cof-fure ornaments, jewels, trinkets, fans, gloves, scarfs and other neckwear, sashes and other garnishings for the gown, as corsage ornaments, buckles and other decorations for footwear. They cannot all be dealt with at one time, and only those for the street or other outdoor wear appear in the picture above.

Appraising the carefully and attractively dressed lady at the right of the group, we find she wears an embroidered vestee, a small one-skin scarf of laum marten, a short necklace of pearl beads, and white mousquetaire gloves made of kid. These are all of good quality and she has seen to it that none of them is too conspicuous for the afternoon promenade.

At the top of the picture one of the new fiber silk scarfs is shown, knitted in two colors. These are among the new "outdooring" things of which sport clothes were the forerunners. Many scarfs are made to match short knitted jackets or coats of fiber silk, and sometimes hats and parasols to match in the vivid tones worn with white for midsummer. The scarf at the left is knitted of silk and shows large colored disks on a plain ground.

TEMPLE SISTERHOOD.

By Miss Carolyn Farrbacher.

In Oct. 1914, through the efforts of Dr. Stenhei, the minister of our local congregation, the three branches of work, in which our Jewish womanhood were interested namely: The Ladies Aid Society, The Sewing Club, The Carrie Bloomensteil Mothers Club, were merged into one and the Temple Sisterhood was formed affiliating itself with the national Federation of Temple Sisterhoods with headquarters in Cincinnati.

The object of our organization is to reflect the highest ideals of Judaism in our home life and our relations to the community at large and best of all to keep alive the spirit of our ancient faith.

To illustrate, will make brief mention of the various activities in which we are engaged.

Complete supervision is given of the care of the Temple. Each week flowers are placed on the altar, these being given to commemorate a joyous occasion or as a memorial to some loved one.

The sick committee brings cheer and comfort wherever needed.

The Mother's Club which entertains and helps to instruct the children emphasizing the value of the various holidays and festivals.

The library committee which has accumulated over 300 books pertaining to Jewish history and literature particularly worthy of mention are the Jewish encyclopedia, which is a veritable mine of information. As soon as the badly needed space is provided, a large number of books will be bought as the fund for their purchasing is already on hand.

The sewing circle which works incessantly, contributing garments to the Touro Infirmary, local charity ward and any worthy individual cases, either here or elsewhere, which comes to their notice, already this year forty children's gowns and two dozen hospital gowns have been completed and sent to the Touro and one dozen hospital gowns sent to the Charity ward at Baton Rouge.

During the period of the war all other work was given up and the entire membership worked for the Red Cross. A contribution to the Far East Fund was made, thereby saving the life of a child. A sociological branch to study and apply charity scientifically is expected to be formed in the near future.

The two tuberculosis hospitals in Denver receive a stated annual contribution also a generous contribution is made to the scholarship of the Hebrew Union College.

The hospitality committee is ever zealous in welcoming the stranger in our midst, particularly the students of L. S. U. and like institutions hoping to make the receiver feel that a welcoming hand is extended them ready to cheer and guide them if necessary.

Our entertainment committee besides providing an entertaining, instructive programme for each meeting, gives plays, musical entertainments, and etc. Into our midst noted speakers both from far away and from our own community. Besides contributing a stipulated sum to the cemetery annually the central walk running the entire length was given by our association.

Last year our Bible Circle ably led by Dr. Rheinart studied the Prophets deriving both pleasure and profit therefrom.

All the energies of our entire organization are now directed towards helping with the construction of our Annex, which we fondly hope will prove a social and religious center worthy of our faith, helping towards the uplift of our entire community.

AN EERIE SCENE IN "THE TESTING BLOCK"

Wandering Band of Minstrels In the Sierras in '49 Lend Interest to Great Picture.

Imagine a wandering band of minstrels in the herat of the California Sierras in the golden days!

Imagine the little troupe assembled perforce to perform for a band of the most abandoned bandits that ever roamed the wilds.

There you have the opening of William S. Hart's new picture, "The Testing Block," a Paramount picture and by all odds one of the most powerful the western star has ever made, which will be shown at the Columbia theatre Saturday and Sunday.

It is his own story, pictured and directed by Lambert Hillyer and photographed by Joe August, A. S. C.

From this strange beginning opens up a romance of the high Sierras and the Placer claims of the days of gold that has every element of human love and hate, thrill and pathos. A girl violinist with the trope excites the fancy of the bandits and Mr. Hart, as "Sierra" Bill, their chief, wins her for his own by force.

Eva Novak is the girl and heads a fine cast. Gordon Russell has the heavy role.

The Woman's Enterprise is the most readable paper ever published in Baton Rouge.
