

STATE DIVISION, U. D. C. :

Hereafter a department in the Enterprise will be devoted to the work of the Louisiana State Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy and we hope to have reports from each chapter in the state recording the work accomplished. The educational and charitable work done by this patriotic association is little known to those outside of the Division. We open our columns to them hoping that many interesting facts will be recorded.

We have just been officially notified that Mrs. E. L. Rugg, Registrar of Louisiana Division, has resigned her position owing to the fact of her departure for Colorado, where she will spend a year. Mrs. D. E. Strain, 1518 Melpomene St., New Orleans, has been appointed to fill this vacancy. Mrs. Strain is Registrar of Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, New Orleans, and is well qualified to hold this important position.

NEW U. D. C. CHAPTER STARTED IN PARIS

Namesakes' Daughter Is New Orleans U. D. C.

The Major General de Polignac Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy has just been chartered in Paris.

This news is of especial interest in New Orleans, as the Countess Agnes de Polignac, a daughter of Prince Camille de Polignac, the Confederate officer whose name the new chapter bears, is a member of New Orleans chapter.

Prince Polignac was commissioned a lieutenant colonel in the Confederate army, and served first on the staff of General Beauregard and later on that of General Braxton Bragg. He was mentioned for gallantry in the battle of Richmond, Ky., August 30, 1862.

On January 10 of that year he was commissioned a brigadier general and served under General Richard Taylor in the Red River campaign. At the battle of Mansfield, April 8, 1864, he took command of the division as major general. He went to France to forward the Southern cause in February 1865, at the close of the operations on the Wachuset river following the Red River campaign.

Soon after the world war, the Countess de Polignac came South, bringing with her the sword of her father, which now hangs in the Confederate Museum at Richmond, Va.

It is the wife and descendants of the noted French soldier, and descendants of John Sildell, the commissioner to France from the Confederate states who are the Paris chapter's charter members. Chartering was by the recording secretary general, Mrs. Wright of Newberry, S. C., and Mrs. F. M. Williams of Newton.—Times-Picayune.

CELEBRATION AUGUST 5th.

August 5 being the anniversary of the Battle of Baton Rouge, Joanna Waddill Chapter celebrated same by entertaining the veterans on the Boulevard with a watermelon feast. The afternoon was one of pleasure to all in attendance. A feature of the event was the appointment of Miss Irene Miller as second Maid of Honor for the Reunion of the State Division. In accepting the honor Miss Miller responded in a few charming remarks, expressing her appreciation.

A paper read by Miss Tal Cheatham about Social Life during the Civil War was very much enjoyed.

A sword owned by Mrs. Payne, was exhibited on this occasion which created quite an interest among the veterans. This sword was captured from General Neal Dow, commanding a Federal regiment at Port Hudson and quartered in the home of a Mrs. Heath. This lady communicated with Capt. John McKowen and told him that if he would bring two or three of his scouts she would have several pickets of her fence at the back taken off and they could slip in during the night and capture him. This was done and at the point of a pistol the general was marched out of the house which was surrounded by his men, and was taken a prisoner. His sword which was left in the house fell into the hands of Capt. McKowen.

Mr. J. Y. Milton exhibited a book containing every name of Kentucky soldiers, and a history of the Battle of Baton Rouge by General Breckenridge which proved of much interest.

Tables were placed about the grounds, beautifully decorated with Wisteria, the chapter flower, and besides watermelon delicious punch and cake was served by Misses Margaret Middleton, Tal Cheatham, Tula and Clara Arbour, Marion Wadsworth, of New Orleans, and Anna Hewes.

The ladies in charge of the entertainment were: Mesdames Will Hurst, M. P. Robertson and Frank G. Clarke. The next celebration will be on Sept. 29th, at the Woman's Club House.

MEETING HENRY WATKINS ALLEN CHAPTER U. D. C.

Mrs. S. J. Powell of St. Ferdinand street was the hostess of Henry Watkins Allen Chapter recently and notwithstanding the fact that so many members were out of town for the summer a very pleasant meeting was held. Several matters of importance were transacted and the picnic given for the veterans recently came in for a good deal of pleasant discussion. All were delighted with the great success of this affair. The year books just gotten out by the State Division with a record of the work of the chapters in the state, which no doubt will prove of interest to the members as the reports are very interesting indeed, were distributed to those present.

It was decided to continue having meetings of the chapter at the homes of its members unless a called meeting is necessary, and in that case the Club House will be used.

A vote of thanks was given Mr. Charles Roseman for his generous gift of long tables which will be very useful to the chapter on any occasion.

After all business had been transacted, a delightful program was presented by Mrs. H. C. Falcon, violin, and Miss Catherine McComb, piano, which was very much enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. Powell, the charming hostess, served a delicious plate luncheon, assisted by Mrs. S. J. Powell, Jr.

The application of Mrs. S. J. Powell, Jr., was received for membership. The meeting then adjourned until September.

So many of the members being absent on summer vacations the chapter is quite inactive just at present.

The next big event will be the boat ride on the steamer Capitol which will take place on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Sympathy of the members is extended to Mrs. Charles Roseman, one of our most devoted members, on the death of her father, Mr. Gottschalp Feitel, at Gulfport, Miss., last week, the interment taking place in New Orleans. The deceased was a Confederate soldier, of which his family are proud.

The many friends in this city will be distressed to learn that Mrs. D. A. S. Vaught was run down and seriously injured by an automobile in New Orleans on Tuesday and is at the Touro Infirmary in a very serious condition. Mrs. Vaught is well known all over the state as a prominent worker in U. D. C. circles and is very popular with members of the State Division.

Three Wraps From France

PHOTOGRAPHED right on the spot were these three summer wraps from France, the spot being Auteuil and the time the opening day of the races. At the annual event, where fashionables foregather, the costumes worn are at least as interesting as the races. Everyone goes to see and nearly everyone to be seen, for here are presented the modes that Paris has determined to launch upon their journey around the world.

A long and a short cape, and an ample, loosely adjusted, straight-hanging wrap, that is quite as simple as a cape, reveal the ideas in summer wraps that have found a welcome everywhere. It is the cape this season that has impressed itself on the imagination of the public and made a demand that causes all wraps to be more or less capelike. Once an idea gets across in this way it remains only to develop it in innumerable ingenious ways, to make it a universal fashion. Each of the great French designers has played with the cape—Jenny made one of black "crepe morocain" and lined it with pretty colors. It reached to the bottom of the skirt and hung in two long points at each side that almost brushed the instep. It fastened at the left side with a cut-steel button and was worn over a frock made of the same material.

Silk and fiber silk in the heavy crepe weaves make beautiful wraps. One of these is shown at the right of the three pictured in a garment which may be worn almost anywhere. The short cape-dolman at the left, in white, with black figures, is a smart affair for smart occasions. The delightful summer wrap at the center of the group might also be made of crepe and the popular canton crepe will make a fitting background for the rich embroidery in heavy silk done in two colors that embellishes this splendid wrap.

WE HAVE had knitted caps, scarfs, sweaters, coats and capes and now we are wondering why it did not occur to some one long ago to furnish knitted suits for the outdoor woman. Her needs have grown more important with each succeeding season, and now enters the knitted suit in the blouse and skirt, or coat and skirt, to furnish her with an ideal outfit for all sorts of outdoor pastimes.

The cape, the scarf and the separate skirts are usually knitted in stripes, employing a color with white, or two or more colors, as brown and white, black and white, orange and white, rose and gray, green and orchid and so on. These separate knitted skirts, finished at the bottom with fringe, are worn with plain tailored blouses and plain coats in one of the colors of the skirt, a wide, knitted scarf to match the skirt, finished at the ends with fringe and a plain, soft sport hat finish a sport costume of fine distinction.

The suit pictured looks well in any of the usual colors, light brown, gray-blue, dark green and other practical shades. The skirt is accordion-plated at the front and back and the blouse is a slipover model with long girdle and sash to match. There is a collar in a darker shade than the blouse which may be made of duvetyne or of satin, and the same material provides a piping for the round neck. Such a dress sets neatly to the figure, gives perfect freedom to the muscles for any kind of sport or pastime and will not get mussed. It is worn with a sport hat of quilted satin which matches it in adaptability and durability.

Avery Hopwood tells Atlantic City's board walk a corking good baseball story.

One day early last spring the manager of a baseball team lined up his men and said, "All you fellows who have been in vaudeville during the winter step forward."

Almost half the team advanced from the line.

"Now boys," he said to them, "I want you to bear in mind one thing. You are on the diamond, not on the stage now, so when you make a hit and the audience applauds it, don't stop to bow on your way to first base."

"I think you have very impolite conductors," protested Galina Kopermak, the Russian actress. "Do you know when I got on the car and told the man to let me off at Thirty-eighth street, I had to remind him several times, and when the car stopped at Thirty-eighth street and I asked him which end I should use to get off, what do you suppose he said to me?"

"What?" inquired her friend. "He told me to get off at either end because both ends stopped."

"Time was when a woman married a man for better or worse," ruminates Langdon McCormick, "but now, if we judge by the news columns in the daily press they marry him for more or less."
