CIRCULAR.

THE subscribers continue to transact a GROCERY AND COMMISSION BUSINESS, and respectfully ask the patronage of their friends and the public generally. All orders for the purchase of Merchandise or Produce will be carefully attended to by one of our firm, who has been for several years a resident here, and has the advantage of a very extensive acquaintance in this city.

In the sales of Produce, and also of Manufactured Goods, we are in a situation to do justice to those who may consign to us.

Our charges will be but the actual expenses incurred, and our commission will be at the lowest rates.

Any business that may be put in our hands shall be faithfully attended to; and we confidently hope by care and prudence to merit and receive the favor of our friends and the public generally.

Respectfully, H. DUVAL & CO. No. 4, Light-street Wharf, Baltimore. je 5—1y.

BEWARE OF IMPOSITION.

IMPOSITION having been practised upon the public, by a spurious article bearing the name of "Judkins' Ointment," the proprietor, C. HERSTONS, recommends the following communication:

Some years back, Nathan Shepherd informed the public in the newspapers, that he was the original discoverer of Judkins' Ointment, and had taken out a new patent thereon in his own name; having in the first instance assigned as a reason for so doing, "that many persons would try to make it, and would not be able, and the ointment be propagated in this adulterated state, in some degree resembling the genuine ointment."—As complaints have been made repeatedly of this being the case, to the subscriber, who is still legally concerned, it is due to the public that they should be cautioned on this head.

C. HERSTONS. Here follows a few of the many instances disclosing the fact of a spurious article:—

Baltimore, October 23, 1844. Mr. C. HERSTONS—Last winter I received a small wound in one of my feet—it became necessary to apply something to heal it—I sent to a Druggist for a pot of Judkins' ointment, but unfortunately the article obtained was spurious. In using it my foot kept getting worse and worse, until I became incapable of attending to business—was confined to bed, and had to send for a Physician. I was seriously alarmed, such was the state I was in from the use of this ointment, and had I not got relief I might have been ruined. Fortunately, however, a friend called to see me and brought with him a pot of ointment which I find is prepared by you, now called Shepherd's Patent Specific ointment. On applying the first plaster an alteration in a few hours took place—the wound soon became in a state of amendment, and it effected a perfect cure. From delicacy, I forbear to mention the name of the Druggist from whom I bought the spurious ointment, but think the public ought to be made acquainted with the fact. The one I deem very valuable, the other ought to be discontinued.

E. C. THOMAS, Market street, west of Pine.

St. Mary's county, Md., June 21st, 1844.—Mr. C. HERSTONS—Sir, as proprietor of a very valuable article once called Judkins' Ointment, your name appears on the label of each pot of the ointment, guaranteeing its genuineness. Having often used the same in my family with the success so generally accredited to it, as a spurious article has been got in Baltimore and sold in our county, having the name and being somewhat like it in appearance, yet quite destitute of its healing qualities. I myself as well as others having been deceived thereby, an instance of its bad effects deserves some passing notice. I commenced using it on a sore; to my surprise it kept getting worse and worse, until I had to cease using it altogether. This article in its genuine state is so valuable that it ought not to be lost to the public.

Justice demands the above communication. HARRISON POSEY.

Gentlemen—I was afflicted with a sore leg—the name of Judkins' Ointment induced me to get a jug of it. I used it according to the directions; but it kept getting worse. Mr. Herstons travelling to the west stopped at my house; looking at the ointment he immediately pronounced it not of his make. On opening it I was sensible of the difference, although it looked like it. I then applied the ointment he gave me to my leg; it became in a state of amendment on using the first plaster, and so continued until it got quite well. This ointment is certainly valuable; it would be a pity that it should be lost by a COUNTERFEIT article.

W. K. NEWMAN. Cumberland, Allegany county, Md., May 31.

The following are a few recommendations of the genuine article:—

Westminster, Carroll county, Md., February 19, 1844.—Mr. HERSTONS—My son William, now in my store, received a bad cut in his forehead, laying it open near two inches, so that it fell down over his eyes. We were distressed at its appearance—we closed it with a few stitches, and I then applied the Patent Specific Ointment you make, and in a few days it was perfectly healed. A brother of mine received a severe wound by a sickle drawn through his hand in harvest—he said he should not be able to work any more during harvest, not believing in its efficacy; however, by permission he suffered me to apply it; to his astonishment, in three days it was quite healed, and he was enabled to resume his exercises in the harvest field. Having received the ointment from yourself, and knowing its value in various instances for which it is recommended, I believe it to be worthy the attention of the public.

JESSE MANNING.

I have had frequent complaints, as well as written information on the subject which Mr. Harrison Posey here brings to view in St. Mary's county.—This gentleman's word cannot be doubted. My own name has been so long before the public, both in the former patent right as well as the present, that merchants will do themselves and their customers some credit by getting the real article in Baltimore from my agents. Remember the name is changed, and is now "Shepherd's Patent Specific Ointment," prepared as usual by
