

The Farm.

The Market Fruit Gardens. We head this article the market fruit garden, because we wish to distinguish it on the one hand from the market vegetable garden, and on the other from the market fruit orchard, where large fruits are grown for market. We wish to discourse somewhat freely upon the business of raising small fruits for market, and as we believe that success more generally attends upon the culture of a few acres in small fruits, than of a large number, we call it fruit garden instead of fruit farm.

The steady increase of our population, and especially of our city-dwelling population, the growth of fruit eating habits in community, and the multiplication of fruit-canning, and fruit-drying establishments warrant the prediction that the demand for fruit will increase rather than diminish. Such being the case a gradual, and judicious extension of the area devoted to fruit growing is called for. The great mistake made in the extension of any branch of production is that it is too general. The soil culturist becoming aware that the demand for certain products exceeds the supply, make a general extension of the area devoted to their production, and the result is, the supply greatly exceeds the demand, prices decline, and the business becomes unremunerative.

To become a successful small fruit grower, a man must be specially qualified for the business, must be suitably located, and must make it his sole pursuit. The qualifications necessary are, briefly:

1. An analytical mind, capable of examining minute details, and carrying them into operation. Some men will make comprehensive plans, but lack that patient attention to details necessary to carry them out. Such would hardly succeed in the business of fruit gardening. One with the natural qualifications indicated, after a brief service with a practical man, might engage in the business with a reasonable hope of success.

2. But then, his location should be favorable. He should be located near a large city, or near a depot where he can ship to a large city. There are too many disadvantages attending gardening remote from town, to make it advisable. The labor of hauling manure, of marketing the fruit, and of procuring the necessary amount of the right kind of labor is enough to discourage gardening far in the country.

3. Too many have tried making the small fruit business an adjunct of farming. They do not go well together. Both require the exclusive attention of the cultivator at one, and the same time. Just when the plowing and sowing for spring crops require the utmost efforts of the farmer, the transplanting and cultivation of small fruits must be attended to; and just when haying and harvesting call for all the help that the farmer can procure, picking and marketing fruits can not be delayed. So we say—make small fruits, (not one kind of small fruits) a specialty.

Again we believe that fruit gardening pays better than fruit farming. For an experienced man, five acres are enough to commence with. By the time he has fully mastered that amount, and brought its production up to its utmost capacity, he will be so instructed in the knowledge of the business, in the knowledge of varieties, and the best manner of marketing as to be qualified for extending his area. We have known of many failures in the small fruit business from launching out too extensively upon the start. Men who would study books and papers, become possessed of the theory of fruit gardening, learn what large returns had been realized from one acre of strawberries, or raspberries, or grapes, and conclude that if they should plant ten, twenty, or fifty acres, with proportional results, they would be able to net a large income. They would borrow money, roll up a large bill for plants, make large expenditures for uneducated labor, and find, after two or three years, that they were running behind, and abandon the business in disgust. This is a better way, and we shall try to find it.—American Rural Home.

We have repeatedly asked whether it will pay to buy grain to feed to cattle, cows or hogs. In true Yankee fashion, we must answer with another question, viz: Does it pay to feed grain to cattle, cows or hogs? If it pays to feed it out of our own crib or garner, then it pays to buy to feed, for our own grain is worth no more or less than the market price at which we buy from a neighbor. It is high time that farmers were getting rid of the idea that their own grain can be fed more economically than it can be replaced by that grown somewhere else. The fact is that it costs too near the value of a bushel of corn to make its production in our Eastern States profitable. If our farmers would only devote their attention to some other crop, they would soon find that the product of an acre of some more perishable crop would pay the produce of two or three acres of corn raised on the much lower priced land of the west. The economical feeding of grain, in addition to that produced on the farm, is one of the true secrets of increasing the production and value of the land. If a farmer can make the feeding pay for the cost of the grain, he makes a very safe investment, for he can look for his interest and pay for work in the increased value of his land.

VINEGAR BITTERS PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM DRUGS AND GALLIC ACID. J. WALKER, Proprietor, R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 24 Commerce Street, N. Y.

They are not a fine Fancy Drink, Made of Pear Juice, Tonics, Proof Spirits and Refine Sugar, containing also the peculiar mode of acting, as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old married or single, at the commencement or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Visceral Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs. DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Distress, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system. FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Itch, Scabies, Pimples, Pasties, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Erysipelas, Itch-Scourf, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, if liberally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters, they not only cure, but will convince the most incredulous of their curative powers. Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and stagnating in the various channels where it is found, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow. Pin-Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, "It is scarcely necessary to open upon the face of earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms that worm-eaten upon the healthy elements of the soil, and many ailments that are the result of impurities which free the system from worms like these Bitters." J. WALKER, Proprietor, R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 24 and 26 Commerce Street, New York. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
