Do Your Own Repairing.

We think that almost every farmer will agree with us that every farmer should have his own workshop and every cultivator of the land should understand how to use it.

All ordinary repairing ought to be done by the farmer and his hands during rainy days in winter, when there is plenty of time on hand for that purpose.

The Science of Breeding Live Stock.

The signs in every direction of the country indicate that the spirit of our people is aroused as to the necessity of availing of every means to confirm and increase the resources we have developed of the means of that national and individual prosperity which we now enjoy.

A few of the most eminent English breeders have come to the conclusion that the following cardinal points in the art of breeding have been fairly established.

Sanitary defects are among the chief causes of disease among farmers.

The house is too often located in the valley where dampness prevails. A dry snuffing of the house should be a much more healthy one than the cleanliness around the dwelling.

The Sun NEW YORK, 1882

The Sun for 1882 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, shining, as always, for all, big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic, depraved and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for mankind and workman of every sort; but its general warmth is for the good, while it pours hot discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1868 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrases of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unassuming and unpretentious manner, and commenting upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of The Sun. It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the Sun. Every important journal already existing has been modeled, and bettered by the force of The Sun's example.

The Sun of 1882 will be the same outspoken, truth-telling, and interesting newspaper. By a liberal use of the means which an abundant property affords, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall print all the news, putting it into readable shape and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by its real interest to the people. Distance from Printing House Square will be no consideration with The Sun. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or in Hokkaido.

In politics we have decided opinions, and are accustomed to express them in language that can be understood. We say what we think about men and events. The habit is the only secret of The Sun's political course.

The WEEKLY Sun gathers into eight pages the best matter of the seven daily issues. An Agricultural Department of some quality, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence complete The WEEKLY Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that has ever printed.

Who does not know and read and like The SUNDAY Sun each number of which is a Goldenrod of interesting literature, with the best poetry of the day, the best fiction, the best news, humor—matter enough to fill a good-size book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book, big or little?

If our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for The Sun.

Our terms are as follows: For the daily issue, one year, $5.00; six months, $3.00; three months, $1.50; one month, $0.50; one week, $0.15. Single copies for sale at 3 cents. As an advertising medium, "THE SUN" is the most valuable for all classes of advertisement.
