PORT TOBACCO: Friday Morning, October 12 1883.

Democratic-Conservative State Ticket.

FOR GOVERNOR: ROBERT M. McLANE, of Baltimore City.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL: CHARLES B. ROBERTS, of Carroll County.

FOR COMPTROLLER: J. FRANK TURNER, of Talbot County.

Mr. Holton received last year, in the Congressional race, 11,961 votes, which was about 1,000 votes in excess of the colored voting population of his district.

The old Republican party, the g. o. p., has gone out of business in Maryland. Its successor is billed as the "Reform Republican party." It is simply a revised edition with all improvements carefully omitted.

Whatever may be said of the popularity of Arthur's Administration, it is considered a load by the Maryland Republicans, and they decline to make it an issue in the pending campaign. The Baltimore American, therefore, insists that "National politics have nothing to do with the elections of this fall." It will be found, we apprehend, that they have very much to do with these elections.

The process of cheapening postage began in 1845. Before that year the postal rates varied with the distance—from six cents for thirty miles to twenty-five cents for more than 400 miles. By the reduction of that year letters were carried for any distance under 300 miles for five cents and for any greater distance for ten cents. The law of 1851 made the cost of postage three cents for 3,000 miles, and six cents for any greater distance. The last change from three to two cents, is trivial as compared with previous changes.

Dr. Smith, that dainty Arletty in politics, scenting sure defeat ahead has wisely like a rat from the sinking ship, followed the example of Mr. Matthews and stepped down from the Republican State ticket and out. A Mr. Mulliken, from Talbot, and a Mr. Frank Stockett, from Annapolis have been put on in place of Dr. Smith and Mr. Matthews, and, if they have resigned, the Republicans are keeping it a secret. It must be a sad thought to the giddy Mr. Holton, when he is thus admonished, by the unwillingness of everybody else to stand the race with him, how certain he is of defeat and how fruitless his duets are being squandered.

Among implements of destruction lately invented may be noted that of Mr. Shields of Coopwood, called the Mississippi Sweepstakes, after the State of which its author is a resident. This gun, it is said, is 4,000 balls at the explosion of one cap, and thereby will kill or wound 800 men out of a regiment of 1,000, at that distance "will cover a space of 100 yards, filling a long way felt." This is a gun, that mankind has long needed superior devices for killing, is rather queer. It had seemed that humanity was getting on very fast of late years with its improved instruments of slaughter before the advent of the sweepstakes.

Nine months of the present year show a falling off of not quite sixty thousand immigrants, compared with those landed during the corresponding period of 1882. But it is remarkable that the largest rate of decrease was at an earlier part of the main season. September brought the great number of 92,000 immigrants, or only 831 fewer than the same month of last year so that one might almost suspect that the steady decline had once more about touched its lowest point, and been checked. The records of the present month will throw more light on this point, but meanwhile it is certain that the total immigration for the year will reach a third of a million.

On both sides of the old Mason and Dixon line, and in many States, reunions of Northern and Southern veterans have occurred during the past few months. All these meetings have been characterized by the most kindly feeling. If there is a single spark of the old hatred left in the heart of any of the old soldiers it is not apparent. If there are any of them who are unwilling to do full justice to the motives of those who fought against them they are certainly manifesting no such feeling. So far as can be judged from appearances the most cordial good will obtains on both sides, and we count these reunions as events that should be rejoiced over by patriotic citizens, and which all Christians must regard as subjects of sincere gratitude to the source of all good.

Another independent movement has been started in Baltimore city by the political malcontents, and Fire Marshal J. Monroe Heiskell has been brought out as an independent candidate for Mayor against General Latrobe, the Democratic nominee. Efforts are being made to arrange another bargain with the Republicans, similar to the judiciary arrangement of last fall, though thus far it has not been fully arranged. This movement, which tends so necessarily and directly to embarrass the Democratic State ticket in Baltimore, is very much to be regretted, and at this juncture, there does not seem to be any justification for it. The conduct of the Baltimore Day, which we have heretofore regarded as being what it professed to be, a Democratic paper, in using its influence whatever it may be, to promote this dissension, is certainly difficult to understand. It is now endeavoring to do just what it so lately condemned in the Sun last year, under circumstances perhaps more justifiable than those upon which the Day attempts to justify its present cause. We fear that the Day will prove to be an unstable journal, not deserving of the encouragement it has thus far received at the hands of Maryland Democrats.

The Local Political Situation.

The Democratic county convention which met here on Saturday adjourned without making any nominations. There was a disposition in the convention favorable to the nomination of a legislative ticket, but after mature deliberation, the convention decided not to make any nominations at all. In view of the fact that the opposition is compactly organized on all the local officers, a ticket for the Legislature alone would probably have labored under considerable disadvantages, and, upon the whole, we think all fair judging citizens will agree that the action of the convention was wise and proper.

It is of the utmost importance that the local county officers, which are essentially and entirely non-political in their character should be divorced from all political influences. This proposition is true as an abstract principle in every community; but here, where we are dominated in political matters by an ignorant and servile voting population, ready to do the bidding of the managers that control them to any conceivable extreme, the importance of the principle is forcibly demonstrated. In communities where the opposing political parties occupy an approximately equal position in point of respectability and intelligence, and all leaders recognize their accountability to the tax-payers, though it cannot be justified on principle, the practice is not so absolutely and manifestly vicious and wrong; but here where the so-called republican leaders do not recognize any responsibility to, but occupy an attitude of defiance toward the tax-payers, and where they depend entirely for their power to acquire and hold office upon the superstition and perversity of an ignorant voting population, into whose credulous ears they instill at midnight meetings the poison of misrepresentation and untruth, the great and imperative necessity of using every justifiable means of rescuing the local trusts upon which depend the welfare of the community, from their malign influence cannot fail to impress itself upon every judicious citizen.

When the colored population of this State was first enfranchised and it became apparent that it predominated in number, the idea of seizing upon and holding all the local places of trust and profit through the instrumentality of the ignorance and prejudice of the newly enfranchised voters suggested itself to the minds of some bold and bad men in this county. So monstrously mischievous and wrong was this contemplated step, however, that the conspirators hesitated in their bad purpose. They feared the vengeance of an outraged community. It was not until some men claiming respectability and social position had been brought into the conspiracy that they dared to proceed to a practical consummation of their design. Even then they proceeded to their bad work with a cautious step and a wavering purpose. The conspirators disavowed being Republicans and disclaimed and denied any design of organizing the ignorant masses of the blacks in antagonism to the white people of the county. Gradually, however, and insidiously they effected their designs, and soon they found that they need not fear, in this time and submissive community, the summary vengeance which had been dealt out to similar wrong done by the more spirited communities in the South, and now they boast of their alleged republicanism and do not attempt to mask their design of continuing to array the blacks in uncompromising and defiant antagonism to their white employers and landlords.

It would be supererogatory here to dwell upon the fact that the originators of this bad conspiracy knew that they were perpetrating a great and enduring wrong, not only to the community, but also to these ignorant colored people whom they propose to deceive into an audacious organized antagonism to the white landholders and taxpayers of the county upon whom they depend for employment and support. It would be useless to comment upon their selfish wickedness by stating that they knew in advance that the course they proposed to pursue would necessarily and inevitably tend to displace the kind feelings which formerly existed on the part of the white employers toward black employed men, by feelings of resentment and anger. It would be superfluous to say that no true friend of the black man would ever have allowed a selfish greed for the emoluments of office to prompt them to any step so manifestly detrimental to the negro's freedom.

The proper questions which now address themselves to the minds of thoughtful and practical citizens are: Is it too late now to repair the damaging effects of this great wrong? If not, what is the best means of reparation? It is certainly not too late to repair the trouble. There are some good and conscientious men who have found their way into the local republican ranks, partly from true friendship to the black man and a mistaken belief that the Democratic party is inimical to the true interests of the blacks, and that opposition to the white people of the county means opposition to the Democratic party, and partly from a recognition of what has heretofore been a fact that the only way to get any local preferment is by a pretended identification with the republican corporation. The consciences of such men, and their experience with the republican corporation, tell them that this whole local republican organization is a systematized deception of the black man's ignorance to satisfy the selfish greed of a few white men. They recognize that the white tax-payers and land holders of the county ought not to be entirely disregarded in the selection of those who are charged with the levying of taxes upon them and the disbursement of the taxes they pay. Such men are tired of the bad associations into which they have been led, and are willing and anxious, when an opportunity is offered, to aid in restoring the old and time-honored practice of letting every man who desires to, announce himself for county offices, and let all voters, white and black, unite in electing the best men to these positions, regardless of their views on national politics, and unrestrained by the action of conventions.

The action of the Democratic convention in failing to nominate gives such men an excellent opportunity to aid in accomplishing that result, and for that reason must be commended as wise and proper. Heretofore these men have let bound to hold with the local ring in the hope of some future preferment, because the Democrats have kept the party lines drawn upon the local places, but now they are afforded an excellent opportunity of doing the people of the county, both black and white, a great service by putting an end to party manipulations in local offices, and we have no doubt that many of them will not lose the opportunity to pass. We believe that all conscientious citizens, irrespective of party affiliations, will regard it as their duty to cast their vote for county officers, for men who are not upon the ticket put in the field by the county republicans. They could not vote for any less competent men than those who are found upon that ticket, and we entertain a strong hope that not one of the men who have been set up by that vicious combination will be elected.

The Colored Voters.

Our colored fellow citizens, who recently held a convention at Louisville, have been censured because some of their proceedings were a little disorderly. Those who overlook the real cause of the confusion which at times prevailed, have done injustice in their sharp criticisms. The avowed object of the meeting was the advancement of the best interests of the negro race in this country. It was the purpose of those who were acting in good faith that party politics should be kept out of the Convention. But even before it assembled, it became apparent that the Republicans meant to capture its machinery and wheel it into their camp for use in the next Presidential election. It was resistance to this scheme that caused all the uproar.

The more liberal minded of the colored voters during the past four or five years—the proceedings at Louisville will increase their stock of valuable knowledge. They are finding out that, in relying on Republican politics to improve their condition, they are leaning on a broken reed. There is no reason why colored men, more than white men, should all belong to one political party. Let colored voters adopt sound principles and advocate honesty and economy in public affairs, and then bestow their suffrages on worthy candidates for office, and they will not go wrong.

The Signal Service Bureau has a chief 10 second lieutenants 150 sergeants, 50 corporals, and 339 privates. In addition to these there are ten captains and first lieutenants who are regular army officers, and are detailed for some special duty from which they are liable to be recalled at any moment. These men are scattered all over the country at the different stations, of which there are about 530, one-half of them being managed voluntarily by amateur savants. Included in the force are 150 clerks in the bureau in Washington, who receive and arrange the reports sent in three times a day from all the stations, and who keep a record of all that concerns the bureau. The bureau is also publishing a series of papers, such as Prof. William Ferrel's "Movements of the Atmosphere," "Ons Taft Sherman's "Meteorological and Physical Observations on the East Coast of British America," "Lieut. Dunwoody's "Geographical Distribution of Rainfall in the United States," and other works that might not be published except through the medium of such an institution.

In the case of Cecilia E. Stambaugh vs. Annie M. Hynson, executrix of George W. Hynson, for rent of a house on the York road, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hynson, Judge Duffy, of the City Court, Friday, in considering a proposition advanced by counsel that a married woman could not lease property without her husband's consent, said: "The tendency of the age and of the law is to bring women up on a level with men, not only in the matter of business and property contracts, but in all other respects. Shall we then attempt to say that, instead of this, women must take a step back, under the application of a law now held as unreasonable? I cannot entertain such a proposition." As it was the property was held in the wife's name, of which counsel who made the proposition was not aware at the time. The suit was to recover rent for the property after it had been given to her by her husband, and she was to be under the law for the rent, and his widow as executrix will be obliged to pay it.

The fact that President Arthur has just passed his fifty-third birthday recalls the coincidence that he and Mr. Blaine are the same age, both having been born in 1830. In the same connection the following points, taken from the Sun's Capital, will no doubt be interesting: "Roscoe Conkling was born in 1829; so was Wm. B. Allison, George F. Edmunds, Thomas F. Bayard, and Samuel J. Randall were born in 1828. William Mahone was born in 1827. John A. Logan was born in 1826, although you won't find the date in his Congressional Directory biography; so was Joseph R. Hawley. William R. Morrison and L. Q. C. Lamar were born in 1825. Sumner Cox so long ago as 1824. John Sherman and Randolph Tucker in 1823; James B. Beck, William S. Holman, John A. Keason and Abram S. Hewitt in 1822; Joseph E. McDonald, Thomas A. Hendricks and W. S. Rosecrans in 1819; Benjamin F. Butler in 1818; Henry L. Dawes in 1816; Kelly B. Anthony in 1815; William D. Kelley in 1814; Justin S. Morrill in 1810. Among the young men in the upper circle of politics are Benjamin Harrison and John J. Ingalls, who were born in 1863, and John G. Carlisle, who was born in 1839."

That Mr. McLane's enviable reputation is not confined to the borders of his own State is shown by the complimentary comments made on his nomination, by the press from various parts of the country. The Galveston (Texas) News speaks of him as follows: "Robert M. McLane has been nominated for Governor of Maryland by the Democrats. Mr. McLane is one of the really able men whom the country can boast of at the present time. He has made several trips to Congress, and has always distinguished himself both in the intellectual arena and in the spacious fields of the committee. There is hardly a doubt of Mr. McLane's election, and the Commonwealth is to be congratulated for securing such an eminent executive."

TUESDAY'S ELECTING

OHIO IN LINE.

Hoadley's Majority 12,000.

BEGINNING OF THE TIDAL WAVE.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 10.—As the returns from all over the State approach completion they promise a large majority for Hoadley. Eighty of the eighty-eight counties were heard from by nine o'clock tonight. Most of the returns are from actual counts. Cincinnati is included with a democratic majority of twenty-five hundred, and Cleveland with a democratic majority of five hundred, both estimates being considered within bounds. The eighty counties give net republican gains of 6,411, or over 12,000 short of overcoming last year's democratic majority. It is a reasonable supposition the republican net gain will not be increased by reports from the eight remaining counties, four of which are heavily republican, and six of which, having polled last year's net democratic majority of 1,450. This indicates Hoadley's election by perhaps over 12,000, and certainly 10,000.

Last night's indications of a democratic Legislature are also borne out. Of the eighty counties reported the republicans have carried thirty-five and the democrats forty-five. The remaining eight, as said above, belong to the two parties. The counties will probably have a relative representation in the Legislature of 41 republicans and 47 democrats. This insures a good democratic majority for Cincinnati. Cleveland and Erie are also probably other cities having more than a single representative in the Legislature, have each elected a majority of the democratic Legislative ticket.

This will give the Democrats a United States Senator. In place of Mr. Pendleton, Ohio's term expires, and in all probability Mr. Pendleton will be re-elected successor. Ohio has thus started the wave which will sweep the country with a Democratic triumph by this year and next.

NOTES.

Mrs. Shaw, of Gettysville, Tex., being deprived of a grandchild by her son's illness, naturally she was very anxious to see her grandchild, and she went to the bedside of the child, and held her hand, and she died.

At Port Jervis, he who has a fancy for it, may, at low water, stand on a rock in the river with one foot in New York, the other in Pennsylvania, and touch with his hand in New Jersey.

While withdrawing water from the hands of Glad, Texas drew a bucket of water around the bucket and round his head, and he had to get out of the hands had to put it off.

At Liberty, Miss. Sunday, a young man working on the farm, had a horse killed by a cow, and he then shot and killed himself. Jealousy was the cause.

An unsuccessful attempt was made on Saturday night to hold a meeting in Washington, D. C., to organize a committee for the purpose of suffrage in the District. Only four persons responded to the call.

Eighty-one missionaries have been appointed by the Mormon Church for mission work in this country and Europe. Eighteen are sent for work in the South, where the Mormons claim to be meeting with considerable success.

Wm. Street, one of the oldest policemen of New York, was killed on Saturday by a colored man, who was held by one of them while the other split his head open with an axe, killing him instantly.

George M. Klein, of Wickburg, Miss., while on his way home on Saturday night, was fired at. The ball struck and imbedded itself in a check-book, which a moment before he had placed in his left pocket.

New York Customhouse officers Monday seized a package containing 132 diamonds, 200 sapphires and 25 rubies sent through the mail from France to a jeweler firm in New York. The firm denied there was any intention to evade payment of duty.

Louis Peffer of Lancaster, Pa., who is 63 years of age, missed a train in Philadelphia, and would not wait for the next one, so he walked home, several miles, between Thursday afternoon and Friday evening. She kept going night and day, resting at the wayside at an inn.

The infant born to the Chinese Minister in Washington during the summer, being a girl, has not been allowed to leave the house but once since its birth. It is carried in the yard adjoining the house, but is never seen in any way. Her little feet are already being bandaged to keep them small.

At the sale of seats in New York Wednesday for Mr. Irving's season of 24 performances, $200,000 worth of seats were sold. The seats were sold at the rate of $20,000 each. It is stated that this is the largest first day's advance in the history of the theatre.

Col. Murrell, of the Baltimore Volunteer, and W. A. Pledger, of Georgia, had a joint discussion of the merits of their respective colored citizens in Cincinnati Friday night. Murrell, for the independent and Pledger for the Republican, carried off all the honors, and Pledger without gloves, and in a masterly manner.

Miss Abbie Marie Winchester, daughter of Ezra H. Winchester, of New York, was married at Portsmouth, N. H., Wednesday, to Wallace Hackett, a young lawyer of that town. The bride is the heiress to a million, and is beautiful and accomplished. Her dowry is valued at $100,000. The wedding gifts are valued at over $200,000.

remarkable phenomenon has been observed at several places in the Andes and has much interest, mingled with not a little amount of the superstitious. For some time a sun presented a distinct green color, the most plausible appears to be that of the government astronomer, that it is the pressure of the southern winds of sulphurous vapor from the Java volcano.

Jay-Eye-See is another fast trotter that has sprung into notoriety, and that bids fair to be the best record. He has already trotted in 2:10 minutes, which is faster than any time ever made except by Maud S., and is a half second slower than the best of Maud S. In a race at West Wood Park on last Saturday, Jay-Eye-See beat St. Julien in three straight heats for a purse of $5,000. St. Julien, before the appearance of Jay-Eye-See, had a record second only to Maud S., having trotted down to 2:11. Jay-Eye-See is a small black gelding, only five years old.

A low condition of health is common with many who allow themselves to worry. Mental anguish causes bodily suffering. Anxiety and care has broken down many constitutions. Disorders usually follow mental distress. Heart affections, nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney troubles, etc., are among the list. A sure remedy for relieving all mental and physical distress is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It restores every part of the body making work a pleasure and care unknown.
