The subscription price of THE TIMES is $1. per annum if paid in advance or at any time within the current year; if not paid within the year $1.50 will be invariably charged, as always heretofore, and from this rule no exception will be made.

TO ADVERTISERS.—THE TIMES having a larger circulation than any other paper among the intelligent farmers and business men of Charles County, offers superior inducements to advertisers to insert their announcements in its columns. Send for card rates, which are as low as any other paper in Southern Maryland, to any number of circulation.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said this is my own native land!" Go to the polls on Tuesday, men of Charles county, and redeem your native land from the degrading thralldom of the local ring domination.

Memorial Services.

The convocation of Washington will be held at the Ascension Church in this city on next Tuesday and Wednesday, the 7th and 8th inst. On the 7th inst. the memorial services of the late Bishop Pinkney will be held, and the venerable Bishop Whipple, of Minnesota, will deliver the sermon on that occasion. Rev. Gilbert F. Williams, pastor of this parish has been selected by the convocation to deliver the sermon before that body on the morning of the 8th inst.

A Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. G. Harris celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their residence, Elmhurst, near Leonardtown, on Monday, the 22nd of October instant. We have no particulars of the celebration, but feel ourselves highly complimented to have been remembered by our friends on the occasion, and sincerely wish that many happy returns of their marriage day may still be in store for them.—St. Mary's Beacon.

George Nelson was arrested on Saturday charged with robbing Mr. Benjamin Warren, of Charles county, Md., of a large sum of money. He was giving a hearing before Mayor Beckham, when he confessed the robbery and returned part of the money. Warren was under the influence of liquor, and fell in with Nelson, who took the money and checks from his person while in that condition. Nelson was committed to jail for court.—Alexandria Gazette.

All good men in Charles county, "without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude," will vote the independent ticket on Tuesday.

Franking Day.

The President has designated Thursday, November 29, as the next day of national "franking," and recommends its general observance as such by the people. The plentiful harvests of the year, the peace, prosperity and advancement we have made as a people, are all so marked as to make franking, rest and prayer on one day a spontaneous impulse, apart from the general disposition, which no doubt exists in this State, to acquiesce in the official recommendation of the chief magistrate of the country.

It will be remembered that in our issue of week before last we made mention, in an item clipped from the Baltimore Sun, of the number of grains of corn gotten from cobs grown in Louisiana, and Baltimore and Harford counties, Md. In that report the number gotten from the Harford county cob was 1,232, and was some hundreds more than was obtained from either of the others. Now we have a report from Mr. John H. Norris Jr., living in Pocomoke, of an ear grown on his farm, which produced 1,446 grains. This beats all previous records by a large majority and Charles county is undoubtedly ahead so far as heard from on this line. We hope the St. Mary's Beacon will survive this.

The Democrats of Charles county will vote the Democratic State ticket on Tuesday, and all real Republicans will vote the Republican State ticket, but all honest men and friends of good government without regard to political opinion will vote the Independent local ticket and save the county from ruin.

Venue for November.

The following are Mr. Venner's weekly predictions for the present month. In this report he has boiled down his usual monthly report into a very small space, but promises us, altogether, a very wet and disagreeable month. If it should be much more wet than the past month has been then we would suggest to Mr. Venner to resign his position and give his place to a dog, perhaps for a short time.

First Week.—Month open cloudy and dull, with rains, sleet or snow, with more fair, cool days towards close of first week, with occasional slight rains.

Second Week.—Brings variable weather, cold to mild, and showery.

Third Week.—Cool, cloudy and showery, with snow flurries in Northern sections.—Growing colder.

Fourth Week.—Cloudy and cold, with rains, sleet and snow—a good deal of rain generally. Month closes with rains, snow flurries and colder weather.

To All Whom It May Concern.

The following section of the law governing elections in this State, which has been habitually violated in this county of late years, is published for the benefit of those whom it may concern. It is provided that all offenders against this law shall be prosecuted at the approaching term of Court.

Another Explanation Wanted.

In the year 1881, when we had a Democratic minority to watch the county commissioners the following items appeared in the annual statement:

Mount Hope Hospital.....$300.00
Mount View.....300.00
Spring Grove.....350.00

In the year 1882, after the Democratic members had been gotten rid of the following item appeared in their report:

Insurance Payments.....$2,000.00
In the statement of 1883 the same item is repeated.

Will some one kindly explain how the expenditure in this behalf was increased between June 1881 and June 1882 from $950 to $2,000? We await to be informed.

A long pull, a strong pull and a pull altogether next Tuesday and the county is redeemed.

That "Contingent Fund."

Within the last few years of the Republic a misrule in this county, among the other mischievous irregularities and malfeasance that have grown up around the office of the county commissioners, is a practice of levying each year upon the people a tax for what is called a "contingent fund." This fund has varied from $500 to $1,000 per annum, and its disbursement, or the purposes to which it has been appropriated no account at all has ever been given. During the years 1882 and 1883 this fund has amounted to $1,000 each year; during the year 1876, when Mr. Addison Barry was in the board, it amounted to only $500, while in the year 1881, when we had a Democratic minority to watch the proceedings of the board, no "contingent fund" at all was levied.

These factuations, seem to prove that there is no necessity for levying such a sum of money in advance of disbursement. But if it were necessary, then the plan of the laws and the plainest rules of business honesty demand that, in the statement made the following year, the commissioners should show how this "contingent fund" has been expended. This has never been done, and the inference inevitably follows from such failure to account that the money has been misappropriated. No wonder that the plainest rules of business honesty demand that, in the statement made the following year, the commissioners should show how this "contingent fund" has been expended. This has never been done, and the inference inevitably follows from such failure to account that the money has been misappropriated.

The tax rate of this county should be reduced from 94 cents, the present oppressive figure, to 49 cents the rate in the Democratic counties of the State.

How is it in the late statement of the county commissioners the attorney to the board received $245, for his compensation? Under the old Democratic regime, the stereotyped price of that functionary, we are informed, was $100 per annum. How then do our present commissioners get the salary up to two and one-half times that amount? Are the services performed now more arduous than formerly, or how?

We do not, in these inquiries, intend the slightest reflection upon the present attorney to the board, for we are ready to do him the justice of saying that we believe him to be entirely incorruptible in his official actions. Having only recently taken up his residence in the county he is no doubt not familiar with the order of things, and in accepting the compensation awarded him, we are sure that he was not aware that he was infringing upon an old rule in county affairs. We merely point out this apparently inconsiderable item by way of example, among those who direct the affairs of the county to unduly increase the compensation of all county officials, while the people are oppressed with the heavy burden of excessive taxation. Say, citizens of Charles county, shall we not have a change next Tuesday?

The latest advices from all parts of the county leave no doubt of the triumphant election of the entire independent ticket on Tuesday, if it is supported by the Democrats.

Placard Malfeasance.

Among the charges found in the last statement of the county commissioners, by which they attempt to account for the expenditure of the $425 paid by the people in the following: "Registration $345.50." What registration, pray? Did not the Comptroller of the State treasury, under the provisions of the act of 1882, pay the full salary of the registration officers, thereby exempting the county from all expenses in that behalf for that year? How then could the county have paid the usual salaries for registration officers? What a clever rick it was to charge the usual salaries of the registration officers with the expectation that this fact would be overlooked by the people! Why not have charged that $345.50 to "soap"? Is there any longer any room to doubt that the public funds have been tampered with? Oh what a mess the people will find when they come to examine the county books!

Fair women of old Charles, ever ready to encourage what is just and right and true, and to discountenance what is bad and wrong, send your husbands and brothers and sweethearts to the polls on Tuesday to vote the independent ticket.

The Effect of Republican Misrule.

The following table showing the rate of taxation in the different counties of the State dominated by the Republicans, with the rate of Democratic Carroll as a basis, will serve to show the damaging results of such domination:

In Democratic Carroll 49 cents.
In Republican Frederick 65 cents.
In Republican Allegany 67 cents.
In Republican Somerset 80 cents.
In Republican Washington 88 cents.
In Republican Garrett 89 cents.
In Republican Charles 94 cents.
In Republican St. Mary's 101 cents.

In Carroll county they have their public highways kept like turnpikes, and all the branches of the public service kept at the highest standard, with a tax rate of 49 cents on the $100; and we have our roads in an impassable condition most of the time, and every other branch of the public service neglected and inefficiently administered. Does not self-preservation—the first law of nature—demand that such bad domination should be broken down.

Young men of Charles county, your old native county, groaning under the oppressive burden of the present bad domination which threatens her irretrievable ruin, looks to you in her weakness and misfortune for deliverance.—Go to the polls on Tuesday and assert your manhood.

Strike till the last hour expires!
Strike for your altars and your fires!
Strike for the green grass of your vines!
Strike and your native land!

A Fair Sample.

A Republican meeting was held at Cox's Station on Thursday night of last week which was announced by the leaders to be a joint discussion. Thinking that we might gather some facts of interest from the speeches of the candidates, we attended the meeting, but left with the impression that the local republican campaign speech is not one of arguments and facts intended to convince the wavering, but rather a rambling, disconnected harangue calculated to stir up the race prejudices of the colored benchman who usually gather at such times. Mr. B. G. Stonestret was president of the meeting, and on taking the chair he delivered a false and flattering eulogy on the republican party, and some of his remarks were so calculated to lead to the fact that they even brought a smile to the faces of his dusky auditors gathered around, and more than one candidate present chuckled audibly with self-satisfaction as he heard what a good and great man he had become in the eyes of Mr. Stonestret. At the conclusion of these disgusting flattering remarks the chairman announced that the joint discussion would consist in the Republicans giving to any Democrat or Independent present thirty minutes in which to address the meeting after the Republican candidates had had their say. Mr. L. A. Wilmer, who had been introduced, and of his speech we have not a word to say in derogation. He made a broad and conversation speech of some length in which there was an entire absence of those disgusting epithets which are usually the stock in trade of a republican campaigner, and with which he inflames the prejudices and misleads the minds of the poor colored man. After Mr. Wilmer, came the other candidates in succession. First Mr. R. S. Mitchell, and then your reporter, Richard W. Mott, who was intended for a stump orator, for we think it would have taken the most astute of Philadelphia lawyers to have gotten any connection or gathered any common sense from your remarks. Had you worked in a factory when you were young you might have thought you were imitating the example of your noble chief, H. B. H., and not learned to be a speaker; but that loophole was denied you and you were thrown entirely upon your own resources which were certainly, if they exist, were trying to get up at that night. Then followed Mr. L. M. Southland who held forth for about five minutes, in a dull and insipid manner, so which if it did no good certainly did no harm. Then the candidate for sheriff and two candidates for the commissioners came upon the platform and showed their beautiful plumes to the assembled crowd. Then it was that the chairman arose and said that now was the time they would give to the Democrat or Independent to address the meeting, and Dr. Wilmer, who had been invited to reply to the Democratic, arose quickly and said he wanted Mr. Cox to come forward. Mr. Samuel Cox then did come forward and made some remarks in the course of which he showed by facts and figures the loose and feeble manner in which our county affairs had been managed under the republican regime. His speech was able and argumentative throughout, and it was one that we think gained him many friends and not a few votes from the assembled crowd.
