First Wheat of the Season. The first of the new crop of wheat was received in this city this morning. It was raised by S. Grimes, of North End, Middlesex county, Va., shipped to L. M. Park & Sons and sold by them to James R. Clark & Co., millers, at $1.55 per bushel. The wheat was of the Fall variety, and though somewhat damp, was round and plump.—Baltimore, Day of 21st inst.

At the meeting of the school board held last Tuesday, Messrs John W. Hally, Thos. J. Grant and S. B. Dunnington were appointed as a delegation to represent the teachers of Charles county at the State Teachers' Association to be held at Ocean City on the 9th, 10th, and 11th of July. Mr. A. W. Neale, the treasurer and examiner, will go as a representative for the board. The expense of these gentlemen for the three days of the meeting will be borne by the county school board. We can not but congratulate the teachers on their good fortune and hope they will make good use of the time they will have to bear "the wild waves roar."

Brooks Agains. A correspondent writes from Marlboro' to the Baltimore Star as follows: "Brooks, the colored man who was arrested in Charles county on the charge of a felonious assault upon a white woman, and who escaped from jail there, is becoming quite a terror to the colored people in this neighborhood. A few nights since he assaulted a colored woman near Marlboro' but her husband appeared in time to render her assistance. The husband was, however, well punished by Brooks before the latter left the house. Brooks is represented as well armed. He has been seen in this neighborhood quite frequently within the past month." This is the case what we have always contended, that is, that Brooks has never been very far from us since his escape, and it seems to us that anything like proper exertion on the part of the proper authorities, he could long ago have been brought to justice here.

To Improve Our Town. Our town authorities went before the board of county commissioners on last Friday and asked for an appropriation of $200 and also of the 5th road corps for the purpose of repairing and draining the road which crosses the village and to make some other necessary improvements looking to the sanitary condition and helping to beautify the town. The county authorities gave a patient and courteous hearing to the delegation and seem disposed to help us all they could in the matter. After discussing the matter for awhile, it was finally agreed to allow our town authorities $125 and the 5th road corps as long as it was needed to perform the necessary work. We are glad to see this sort of progress on the part of our town fathers and we are sure the help given them by the county will be put to a good use. The work of improvement will be commenced at once.

Fill up the Vacancies. Hills are sometimes missing in the cornfield, from poor seeds, crows, cut worms, and other causes. It does not pay to leave these places vacant. If replanted, they may produce good fodder, even when too late for ears to form. Idle land will produce a crop of weeds, which by going to seed bring trouble for many succeeding years. It is well to replant with a smaller and quicker growing variety, that will yet have time to mature. The two sorts will not mix badly, because the periods for crossing come at different times. The appearance of a cornfield is much improved by filling up the vacant hills. We have known of replanting being done as late as July, and the labor rewarded with a fair crop of soft corn for the pigs, besides a heavy growth of excellent fodder. A considerable area where corn of some other crop has failed may sometimes be profitably sown to buckwheat.—E.

Exit Cradle. One of the evidences of progressiveness that is forcibly noticed in our county during the last few years is the "general use of harvesting machines by our farmers. Formerly at this season of the year our roads would be filled with farm laborers each with a cradle on his shoulder going to and from his work. Now, to see one of these cradles is the exception and not the rule, and our merchants in the village say that they have not had a single call for a cradle during this harvest. Many of the harvesting machines were sold by the agents this year and farmers are beginning to awaken to the fact that rapidly and promptly in gathering the crops is one of the essentia to successful farming. Farm laborers having become scarce with us, as in every other section of the State, these machines fill a want that is daily felt and appreciated by our people. The day is not far distant when farm labor saving machinery will be as generally used among us as with the more thickly settled and prosperous sections of the country.

The Medical Value of Lemons. Most people know the benefit of lemonade before breakfast, but few know that it is more than doubled by taking another at night also. The way to get the better of the bilious system without using pills or quinine is to take the juice of one, two or three lemons, as you like it, in as much ice water as makes it pleasant to drink without sugar, before going to bed. In the morning, on rising, at least half an hour before breakfast, take the juice of one lemon in a goblet of water. This will clear the system of humor and bile with efficiency, without any of the weak nig-ging effect of colic or Congress water. People should not irritate the stomach by eating lemons clear, the powerful acid of the juice which is always most corrosive, invariably produces inflammation after awhile; but properly diluted so that it does not burn or draw the throat it does its medical work with out harm, and, when the stomach is clear of food, has abundant opportunity to work over the system thoroughly.

Letter from the Commissioners.

To Messrs L. A. Wilmer, Chairman, R. H. Eldon, J. H. Mitchell, H. A. Turner, and T. T. Roby, Committee. GENTLEMEN:—We have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your hands, on the 2nd ultimo, of the petition on behalf and in obedience to the request of a convention of taxpayers recently held in Port Tobacco, to consider the question of a change in our public road system. We beg leave respectfully to submit herewith our answer thereto, begging at the same time the favor of your indulgence for the brevity of its consideration.

Your petition after alluding to the bad condition of our roads during the past winter, and the inefficiency of our present road system, asks at our hands, the appointment of a civil engineer as superintendent in chief, or of an adjutant to the existing system; the salary of said officer being set at $1000 per annum. We readily admit that the condition of our public roads during the period named, as highly unfavorable; but respectfully submit whether this state of affairs was not largely and inevitably due to the almost unprecedented wet and uninclement season. It may also perhaps be admitted that our system is, in some particulars, imperfect, and that it needs revision and improvement. But it should be borne in mind that the most rapid spread and extension of the petition urged against it, hastened the burden of expenses attending its operation. This being so, we can but regard the proposition and request contained in the petition as somewhat inconsistent. That proposition fully stated, is thus: To retain in the present system, or to amend the same, with all its alleged obnoxious features and unnecessary cost, and to append thereto, yet another feature requiring an additional outlay of $1000 without an assured, or even commensurate advantage being anxious to do so, as well as to subvert the interests of the people, we have been some pains to ascertain the will in regard to this proposed measure and have no hesitation in saying that a majority of the tax payers do not approve it. But a small proportion of them may be contented, as was present in the convention which gave your commission to our board. And even of those who signed the petition, some have since stated members of our body that they repented their inconsiderate action, and upon mature reflection, hoped the request would not be granted. We have had interviews with many and various tax payers not present, nor represented in the convention, most of whom uniformly and earnestly opposed the action recommended in your petition. Many are of opinion that we do not need the services of a civil engineer at all on our county roads, which are generally well attended to, and that the increased expenditure which the salary of such an officer would require, would necessitate an outlay which the county would not be able nor the people willing to bear.

Such we confidently believe being the deliverances of a majority of the tax payers of Charles county, (to which we beg leave to add our own concurrence,) we feel constrained to withhold our compliance from the request contained in your petition, and in lieu thereof, to assure you, we do not in a spirit of factious or party opposition, but with an eye single to the welfare and interest of the whole people. All of us will be respectively submitted. C. E. HANSON, President.

Closing Exercises. A large and appreciative audience gathered in the commodious pavilion at Chapel Point on Monday night to witness the closing exercises of the Misses Neale's Academy. From an early hour in the evening the crowd began to assemble, and by the appointed time for the exercises to begin fully 200 people had gathered to witness the treat which, from previous experience of a similar kind, all felt confident was in store for them. A neat and tasteful stage had been erected, which was beautifully decorated by deft and tasteful female hands, and the faces of the eager crowd and the surroundings all bore a holiday look. The chief attraction presented was the dramatized play of "The Last Day of Pompeii." The characters, although requiring a strong and determined effort in their personification, were ably sustained by the young ladies, and won the warmest praise and encomiums from the assembled audience, and indeed, not expecting so much we were most agreeably disappointed in the manner in which many of the ladies personified the vigorous characteristics of the ancient. The character of Arbaces the morose and taciturn Egyptian, which all who have read the work will appreciate it as a most difficult role assume by even a gifted and self controlled artist, was most ably taken by Miss Emily Hamilton, and was decidedly the hit of the evening. The manner in which this young lady sustained this character in all the subtle schemes of this wily and selfish sophist, would have done credit to one more experienced and more fitted by special study for the stage. Miss Mary Digges, who assumed the role of the effeminate but determined Glauce, the Athenian, also deserves much credit for the mastery manner in which she sustained the character. Her love making to the fair lord was perfect, and half the male audience were green with jealousy to think that they could be so outdone in that line of business by a female. The character of Ione was assumed by Miss Lullie Murphy in a most happy and graceful manner; and Nydia, the unselfish and devoted blind flower girl, had a fit representative in Miss Noma Thompson. Her misfortune was so apparent that much commiseration was awakened in which this young lady presented the part. The other characters were taken by the scholars of the Academy in such a skillful way as to present to the interest of the audience from flagging throughout the entire play. At the conclusion of this the younger scholars of the school beautifully read a rhymical charade entitled "Fairly Land," which was much enjoyed by the audience. After some vocal selections by the scholars, the distribution of premiums gained by the young ladies for proficiency in studies and deportment during the year, was made by the Rev. James P. Neale, who prefaced the distribution by a few happy and graceful remarks, in which he greatly commended the young ladies for the mastery manner in which they acquitted themselves, and told them how tireless must have been the efforts of the instructors under whose care they had been trained. The Misses Neale, indeed, deserve much credit for the excellent showing their scholars made, and it proves how capable and earnest they are as teachers.

Why was it Thus? The base ball association of Southern Maryland was booming along nicely and three of the counties had wheeled into and were to bat for the mastery, but the usual tardiness and lack of energy in St. Mary's had thrown a damper on the Prince George's club. Last Friday was the day and Mechanicsville the place appointed for the first meeting of these two clubs. On that day the Prince George's managers chartered a special train on the Southern Maryland road to take them and their friends to the place of meeting, to contend with the St. Mary's nine. We made one of the party to go down and all left Brandywine in high spirits expecting, of course, to be hospitably received and socially entertained when we reached the precincts of the St. Mary's. But, alas for human hopes! We arrived there about 11 o'clock A. M., stronger in a strange land, and not one christian soul of the club or otherwise, to take us by the hand and say you are welcome, no place to go and no one to ask us to go there. This treatment discouraged the Prince George's boys, as well it might, and many were for returning home at once. Finally, after a dint of inquiry it was learned of Mr. Ballanger that the St. Mary's nine was coming up from Leonardtown in Mr. Herbert Mose's wagon and would be there after awhile. The club waited until 3 o'clock, still no one came. Then they went to the ball-field, piloted by a little bare-foot creelin, with a lack of buttons on his pants and one shoe string for a suspender, a fit representative for the St. Mary's base ball nine no doubt, and game being called by Mr. Linden Briscoe, the umpire, nine balls were pitched over the plate and the game awarded to the Prince George's team by a score of 9 to 0. In order not to disappoint the people who had assembled to witness the game, however, a game was made up with the boys from Charlotte Hall school and the Prince George's nine, which in eight innings resulted in a victory for Charlotte Hall by the score of 6 to 5. The crowd left for home at 5:30 with anything but kindly feelings for the St. Mary's base ball association and with a circumstantial opinion of St. Mary's hospitality.

A Grand Place. The new and fashionable Clothing Hall recently opened in Baltimore should be visited by every lady, gentleman and child going to that city. The greatest variety of elegant clothing can be seen, at moderate prices. Acme Hall, 206 W. Baltimore Street, is the location.

Local Beverities. In great demand—short sermons. The nights are now enlivening. "It's warm-d-y." Wives! Don't mention it. The mosquito is a great dandy; he is always presenting his bill. The public schools of the county close next Monday, June 30th. An excursion to Mount Vernon is being talked of as one of the prospects for pleasure in the near future. The wheat harvest is about over and the general opinion is that the crop in this county will average about the same as last year.

The slaughter of the spring chicken has commenced, and, as usual, the sight of a white necktie and high cut vest causes them to run for the book. The cornfields throughout the county are by long way, and should everything continue favorable we will have a large crop of this grain this year. The year 1884 is nearly half over but the most memorable event of the year is yet to occur; that is, the election of a Democratic president next November. Our city folks will soon be looking up their genealogical tree to find out where the most elegantly located county cousin lives. Charles expects its quota. Rev. James P. Neale, S. J., will know in 15 this county, after an absence of twenty-five years is again visiting here. He is a guest at St. Thomas' Manor. Mr. C. E. Wade, our enterprising wheelwright, has purchased of Mr. J. Hubert Roberts his dwelling house in this village. Mr. Roberts will soon remove to La Plata. The grand opening of Chapel Point will take place on July 4th. The arrangements are all completed and a large excursion will be down from Washington on that day. We have received a communication from Nanjemoy which from the subject matter we deem too good for this issue. We trust our friend will remember us in the future, however. It is reported that the work of remodeling Christ Church, in this village, will be begun next week. We hope the report may prove true as the matter has been now long enough mooted to assume some definite shape. Mr. Geo. A. Hunt, the estimable landlord of the Centennial Hotel, has been confined to his bed for more than a week past by serious illness. He is attended by Dr. Robert Digges, and we hope soon to have the pleasure of seeing him about again.

IN MEMORIAM. DIED on 21st May 1884, JOHN E. HANSON in the 31st year of his age, leaving a wife and three children to mourn their loss. It is truly sad that death should summon him so early in life and from his young family whose support and care depended upon him. He was an affectionate husband and father, and his loving wife and dear little ones will sadly miss him. Devoted to his family, he earnestly sought their welfare and happiness. He was a worthy and exemplary man, honest and industrious, and strictly attended to his affairs and interested not with those of others. He was a good neighbor, and his friends and neighbors were not wanting in their kind attention to him in his illness. After a well spent life, he died, and an edifying death, fortified by the consolations of his religion, those dear to him and all fond relatives and friends have a well founded hope, that the Lord is gone, snatched away from the embraces of his earthly home, he is gone to dwell forever in His home made by human hands, but eternal the Heavens.
