

The Progress of Education.

The "educational campaign" of last fall, of which the Republicans were accustomed to speak with levity after the election, did not die with the election. The seed then sown have taken a deep root in the popular understanding and every day gives further evidence that they will ultimately bear good and abundant fruit.

The broad and glittering platitudes about protecting and dignifying "American labor" will never do again. The striking and starving laborers throughout the country, who increase in numbers as the protected barons become more thoroughly entrenched in their position, will give the lie to this false and deceitful pretense.

The kinship between the tariff and the trusts has been conclusively established, to the satisfaction of the popular mind. It is in vain that the Republicans, while boasting of the paternity of the one, make a clumsy attempt to deny that the other is their legitimate progeny.

The stringency of the times, resulting from overtaxation of the poor for the benefit of the rich, are becoming daily more and more painfully apparent. The large sums of money thus withdrawn from circulation and locked up in the public treasury embarrasses business at every turn and threatens a financial panic.

There is no doubt that the Republicans in the next Congress will realize the necessity of taking some decisive steps to avert the financial disaster of which Mr. Cleveland forewarned Congress in his great tariff message.

Equipped in this way, he was required to go abroad and solicit immigration. The whole theory of the measure is based upon the fact, well known to observing people that have been abroad, that there are a large class of thrifty farmers in England, Germany and other European countries, who would emigrate to this country, if they had satisfactory assurance beforehand of the surroundings and character of their new home and what it would cost them to re-establish themselves on this side.

Governor Jackson has appointed Associate Judge David Fowler chief judge of the third judicial circuit, to succeed Hon. George Yellott, who had become disqualified by age. The commission was issued yesterday from the executive department at Annapolis, and was forwarded to the clerk of the Circuit Court for Baltimore county by Secretary of State Le Compte. No successor to Judge Fowler as associate judge has been yet appointed, and it is not likely that the vacancy will be filled by the Governor, that duty being left to the voters of the judicial district, comprising Baltimore and Harford counties, at the approaching general election.

Regarding Immigration.

The defeat of the immigration bill at Annapolis last winter seems to have been considerably discussed at the farmers meeting at Fair Haven on the 4th of July; and the necessity of taking steps to secure the passage of a similar measure at the next session discussed. This has since been a subject of an interested discussion among the substantial farmers of Calvert county, which led to the recent publication by the Gazette of that county of the full text of the bill with its editorial endorsement.

But there is a Mr. Gantt over in Calvert, who devotes a laborious column in the last issue of the Journal in an effort to invest this purely economic measure with a partisan character. He insists that the effect of the bill would be to "break up, cheapen up and supplant our worthy colored citizens by the introduction of a foreign element."

"In the seventh section the commissioner is directed to have a due regard to the character, circumstances and desirability of the immigrant solicited or contracted with, mark the expression connected with. Now to get the class of labor 'G,' and others wanted in order to break up cheap-up and drive out what we now have, is it not reasonable to suppose he would consider the half starved, unpaid pauper of Europe just the right kind of immigrant to fill the bill? Just the class or character of immigrant required?"

Of Mr. Gantt's "analysis" it must be admitted that it is very remarkable. Assuming gratuitously that the object of the bill is to "cheapen up and supplant our worthy colored citizens," he insists that this injunction of the bill was intended to direct the commissioner to select paupers alone. Truly it may be said of this diaphanous in the language of Butler:

"He is in logic a great critic, Profoundly skilled in an evile trick; He can distinguish and divide A hair 'twixt east and southwest side; On either which he will dispute, Contate, change ends, and still confute."

But in justice to the Southern Maryland Republicans in the last Legislature, it must be said that none of them saw any such objection to the operation of the bill and all of them, with a single exception, recorded their votes in its favor. The question of the importation of pauper labor was raised in the discussion of the bill at the instance of the "Knights of Labor" by Western Maryland representatives; but all agreed that it was effectively negated by the language of the 8th section which has been quoted. Mr. Griffith, who ably represented the Calvert Republicans, was among the active supporters of the bill and made an effective speech in its favor.

This bill, as its whole context throughout clearly evinces, was aimed at the purpose of procuring the immigration to Maryland of practical farmers from the old world and from other American States, who possessed capital enough to buy a small farm and the skill and energy to improve and cultivate it.

The commissioner, who must have been a man of character and a bond officer, was to be aided and counseled, and controlled if necessary, by two public spirited associations serving without salary. He was first to equip himself with full information as to the agricultural advantages and resources of every county of the State, that saw fit to avail itself of his bureau, and the quantities and character of land for sale in each with the price of same. All these data were to be properly tabulated and illustrated for the information of people wishing to purchase homes in Maryland.

Equipped in this way, he was required to go abroad and solicit immigration. The whole theory of the measure is based upon the fact, well known to observing people that have been abroad, that there are a large class of thrifty farmers in England, Germany and other European countries, who would emigrate to this country, if they had satisfactory assurance beforehand of the surroundings and character of their new home and what it would cost them to re-establish themselves on this side.

State Prohibition Convention.

The State Prohibition convention met at Glyndon Park camp-meeting on Thursday last week, one hundred and eighty four delegates being present. Dr. E. Stone, of Frederick county, was nominated for Comptroller, and a State Central Committee was appointed. Rufus Robey being the member for Charles county. The following platform was unanimously adopted:

1. That the platform of our party adopted by the national convention held at Indianapolis, expresses the views of the Prohibitionists of Maryland.

2. That we are unalterably opposed to every form of license or compromise, and that we believe prohibition to be the only remedy for the liquor traffic.

3. That the success of prohibition depends on separate party organization and action as the result of recent contests in several States for constitutional prohibition have proven the subserviency of the old parties to the liquor power, and that union with either of the old parties would be to abandon our principles and betray our trust.

4. That we do not discriminate between the old parties as temperance legislators, as neither has promised to support the grand issue of our party, which is the total prohibition of the liquor traffic.

5. That men who sell their votes, or men who directly or indirectly buy votes, should be disfranchised, and forever be prevented from exercising the right of suffrage.

6. That the modern combinations of capitalists, called "trusts," we believe to be unfriendly to the interests of the people, and should be prevented by a stringent law.

7. That we hold the saloon largely responsible for the alarming increase of the desertion of the Sabbath. We will, by precept and example, use our best endeavors to preserve the sanctity of the day.

8. We protest against the present laws of the United States which permit the exportation of rum and other liquors to Africa and other heathen countries, and demand national prohibition as the only means of preventing this gigantic evil.

9. On motion of Rev. J. B. Quigg, of Cecil county, the following resolutions were added to the eighth section: "We deprecate the provision of the Interstate Commerce laws which opens every production state to the importation of intoxicating liquors, and protest against this feature of said law."

10. The ninth section complimented the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and the tenth deprecated moderate drinking, and the use of liquors at home and in social circles by men of high position in church and society, who are looked upon as good citizens, and profess to be in favor of temperance and morality.

11. The eleventh section sympathized with efforts of the wage-earner, and declared that total abstinence in the individual and state prohibition lie at the threshold of labor reform.

12. That the responsibility of the continuation of the liquor traffic rests on the good men who still remain in the old parties, and by their votes and influence encourage the traffickers alike in the old parties; believing that the temperate voters of Maryland are in the majority, and that too high, or too low, of $5,000,000 bushels death-knell of the liquor traffic, and whereas such a union is impossible in either of the old parties, therefore we cordially invite all such voters to unite with us in the only party that has declared as its ultimatum, the complete and utter destruction of the traffic.

A Negro Messiah. The negroes do not appear to have changed much since the war, at least in the Southern States, although in this section education has done something for them. Here, however, as elsewhere there is still considerable ignorance and fanaticism which the more intelligent and enlightened of the race have trouble in combating.

In some sections of the South the reckless folly of some of the colored people is deplorable, as witness the craze which has broken out in Georgia over the "new Messiah." This personage who is, like others of his class, partly a monomaniac and partly a rascal, has announced himself as Christ and by his wild preaching has demoralized a large portion of the State. Extraordinary follies and excesses are related, and it would not be surprising if lives should be lost. He is followed by the wicked as well as the foolish, and many outrages have been perpetrated. To reason with the deluded people who go about with him would be a waste of time, and the only way to put a stop to these extravagances is to arrest him and confine him in jail.

Distribution of Seed Wheat.

The Department of Agriculture at Washington has practically completed its selection of the varieties of winter wheats for general distribution. The list comprises seven varieties, of which three are new, that is, have generally only a local cultivation, and three have had considerable reputation in some States, but comparatively none in others, but the latter of which only will be distributed.

The spring wheats will be considered later, as they can be distributed in the winter and early spring. The department has also ordered from France five varieties of winter wheat, three of which are of Southern origin, and are recommended as rust-proof; and the other two are new wheat crosses made by Vilmorin, of Paris.

The Southern wheats are the "Richelieu de Naples," a white, bald wheat, "Zelande," also a white, bald, and "Bellet," a red, bearded variety. These wheats are to be distributed in bushel lots to the experiment stations in the Southern States.

The other two are for distribution in bushel lots to the experiment stations of the Middle and Northern States. One is called the "Dattel," a cross of the "Prince Albert" and the winter red-headed "Child" — both English wheats, acclimated in France. The other is the "Lamed," a cross of "Prince Albert" and the "Noe," an Odessa wheat which blue stem.

A letter from Chester Heights, Pa., to the Philadelphia Inquirer says: "A lively scene, not arranged for in the camp-meeting services, was witnessed in a field adjoining the camp Friday. John Henry, a boy about 14, came into contact with a wasp nest, and before he could comprehend what was the matter the wasps came at him in a drove. They crawled up his trousers, stung him in the face and hands, and for a few minutes his yells awoke the camp. He rolled on the ground over and over and tried to crush his tormentors, but the wasps kept up a lively attack and returned persistently to the assault, stinging the boy, who only got rid of them by dashing his face in a field near by. When John Henry was finally abandoned by the insects his hands and face were dreadfully swollen, and he was in great pain all over the body. He was taken in hand by an old farmer, who practiced as an herb doctor, and in a short time the farmer found an antidote for the poison in the woods, and applying some leaves vigorously the swelling subsided, the stings ceased to inflict pain, and in half an hour John Henry was himself again, and the people at the camp assembled and renewed their devotions with vigor."

The Crop Estimate. The following crop estimate is compiled by Colonel Rogers, of the Market Record, one of the most reliable crop statisticians in the Northwest:

The maturing grain in the spring wheat sections has progressed enough toward maturity, so that it is possible to form something like a fair estimate of yield. That it will amount to more than was commonly figured a few weeks ago is not the least doubt. The greatest trouble is in arriving at approximations of acreage that are below the average and above average. It will be about fair to offset the increase in acreage with the amount plowed up that will not be cut, leaving an acreage about 150,000,000 bushels. It Minnesota gets fifteen bushels, which many think not too high, the total would be some 47,000,000 bushels, and for both Dakotas eight bushels may not be too high, or too low, of $5,000,000 bushels, making 50,000,000 bushels for both. The last crop while called 60,000,000 bushels, the total crop was more than 70,000,000, perhaps not below 75,000,000 bushels of all sorts. It is quite generally conceded that the present is for some 10,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, which, if correct, would indicate 80,000,000 to 85,000,000 bushels this year. Cutting is getting quite general in the North, and will be so in the North next week, although a great deal in the South is not ripe enough now, and much will not be in the North next week. So far very little shrunken wheat has been discovered, but some in a stage that might be affected yet.

A Train Held up by Grasshoppers. A dispatch from Savannah, Ga., says: "The grasshopper does not attack small matters like crops in Chatham county, but he has exhibited capacity enough to step a train. Friday night the slight and agile insect tackled the mogul and won the fight. The Tybee train was pushing its way through the marsh, when it suddenly stopped. The passengers imagined that brigands from the marsh had sprung upon the engineer and throttled him, but it was not so. A grasshopper had held up the iron monster. On the island there is to be seen a cane brake thick enough to furnish out with arrows all the archers of the world. These unused weapons in nature's arsenal are bent down with the burdensome grasshopper. He is large and numerous to an extent beyond imagination. Friday night he conceived a wild fancy. Lying low and thick upon the rail, he chirped gleefully as the train bowed along. Greasing the track with his blood, the wile's went round, but the engine, tender and coaches stood still. The grasshopper conquered and died, and at last the train sped on."

Returns from the election Monday in Kentucky for State treasurer show a democratic victory. Stephen H. Sharp, of Lexington, the present treasurer, was nominated for reelection. The democratic counties, so far as heard from, show an increase for him over the majority given Buckner in 1887. There have been some surprising victories for republican candidates for the Legislature, but this has been due in all cases to local causes. In republican counties, where ex-Senator Colson, the republican nominee for treasurer, was expected to make heavy gains, there has been rather a decrease. Louisville gives Sharp 2,500 majority, and the State probably 25,000. The prohibition to revise the constitution probably will show a sufficient majority to call the convention.

Prof De Voe's Forecasts for August. For two days past the Washington weather bureau has predicted a cold wave. That cold wave will be very feeble in this section and very short in its duration. We will have two weeks of close, sultry, showery weather. About the 5th of August there will be a violent tornado in Southern Ohio and very heavy thunder showers in Pennsylvania. From the 5th to the 10th there will be great floods in the Southwestern States, and every precaution should be taken to protect life and property. On the 10th a great storm of wind and rain will sweep along the Atlantic coast, and there will be a sudden fall in the temperature, overcasts will be needed, and those who go to the seashore will wish they had stayed at home. Then our hot weather for this month will be over.

Prof De Voe's Forecasts for August.

It has been estimated that the probable mortgage indebtedness of Frederick county, at the present time, will reach an aggregate of over $5,000,000. The damage to the Baltimore county bridges by the storm of July 12th, has been estimated by the bridge superintendent to amount to nearly ten thousand dollars.

One pair of street car trucks were dug out of the sand at Johnston's, Pa., Friday which had been there for several days. The equipment consisting of about 80 horses and 15 cars.

Attorney-General Wm. Pinkney Whyte whom President Harrison appointed a delegate to the Congress of American Republics, has declined to serve, as he is so busy aiding the State in the prosecution of the numerous murder trials in Baltimore, and also other professional business.

The palace steamer St. Lawrence, the best of the Thousand Island Steamboat Company's line, ran on a rock in the St. Lawrence river, off Hog Island, in the Canadian channel, Friday, and is going to pieces. She had on board nearly 900 people, who were safely conveyed to some extent to a convenient wharf, and camped upon the shore until the superintendent of the line can send another steamer to take them off.

Sergeant Dann, the local chief of the weather bureau, is so pestered with seekers after signs and tokens that in order to get some time to attend to the duties of his office, he has been forced to secure a photograph. He will load it up every morning with lore and general information about the bureau for the past 18 years and put it on a convenient table, where visitors can grind out for themselves and let him go with his work.

An appeal to the Kansas City Times last night from Verleger's, Indian Territory, says: John Gibbs, formerly of Missouri, with David E. Foster, when he was a resident a farm near Verdler's a year ago. Yesterday they quarreled over the division of crops. Edwin found Gibbs later in the day working in the field, and fired a charge from a shotgun into his body, killing him instantly. Charles Gibbs, a son of the murdered man, ran to a wagon near by, where he had a gun concealed. He then averaged his father's murder by shooting and killing Foster.

The Anti-Tariff Picnic at Bloomfield, Indiana, was attended by 10,000 people, though not advertised nor promoted by any political organization. It success shows that the tariff is a great evil, and that the people are ready to rise up against it at election time. Senator Voorhees made a law-tariff speech, in itself a significant fact, as the Senate is a few years making a tariff in a high key. The party to which he belongs is evidently soliciting everywhere for low federal taxes and cheaper necessities of life.
